[illegible][illegible]

- File electronically through a participating tax preparer. Electronically filed returns continue to generate refunds quickly even on April 15.
- Use the preprinted address label if the information on it is correct. It will avoid errors and speed up your refund. The label also helps to insure that your tax information is credited to your taxpayer record and that your local income tax is allocated to the proper local government.
- Last-minute reminders:
 - double-check your math
 - sign your tax return (have your spouse sign too, if it's a joint return)
 - attach all W-2 statements

SHS Principal Presents BOE Channel 1 Info

Information on the commercial venture, Channel 1 television, was presented to the Garrett County Board of Education at their meeting Tuesday night. Lynn Bell, principal of Southern High School, has used the Channel 1 system previously both as a teacher and as an administrator. She explained to those present the offer made by the national company.

Channel 1, owned by K-III Communications, agrees to provide schools with a news video program to be used in the classroom which includes about two minutes of commercial advertising. Other curriculum specific videos valued at about $60,000 are also provided to the schools, Bell said.

Another part of the package is installation of televisions in the schools. Bell explained that the company would provide to the school, free of charge, hardware worth approximately $110,000. This would include television sets and all associated wiring and electronics. According to the company's practice of installing one set per 23 students, Southern would get about 40 televisions, she added.

The hardware, Bell stated, can provide a valuable resource within the school. The system can be used for student-created broadcasts, class elections, school-wide informational forums, and classroom videos.

Bell stated that Channel 1 broadcasts formatted information to the school in the early morning hours and it is automatically recorded on a video tape. A teacher or school administrator can then review the video before using it in the classroom.

Each tape is 10 to 12 minutes long and contains about seven minutes of current news, three minutes of social issues, and two to three minutes of commercials. Channel 1 has provided a list of sponsors that would be featured along with a list of sponsors that they would not use. Among the approved group are manufacturers of such items as snack food, clothing, and make-up.

"POOR, POOR JOSEPH, WHATCHA GONNA DO?" - So ask the narrators in this segment of Andrew Lloyd Webber's hit musical Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, which will open this evening at St. Peter's Catholic Church Parish Hall and be performed by the Ecumenical Youth Ministry. The play centers on the life of Joseph from the Old Testament book of Genesis, from the time he is sold into slavery by his brothers to his rise to a position of great power in Egypt because of his uncanny ability to interpret dreams. Playing the role of Joseph is Karlo Geaner, a junior at Southern High School. The narrator role is being performed by, from left, Sara Sincell, Suzanne Gilbert, Janet Cook, and Rebecca Wolring. Performances are scheduled for tonight, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at 8 p.m. each evening, and for Friday and Saturday next weekend, April 18 and 19. Tickets, which are $4 each, are nearly sold out for the first weekend. Director and choreographer of the production is Lynn Broderick, executive director of the EYM, and musical director is Michael Broderick. The cast, crew, and band for the production involve nearly 100 youth from Garrett, Preston, and Tucker counties. The EYM is sponsored by St. Mark's Lutheran, St. Peter's Catholic, St. Paul's United Methodist, St. John's Episcopal, and St. Matthew's Episcopal churches, but is open to all youth.

Ed. Board Meets Band, Language To Stay Pending Jan. '98 Report

Band and foreign language programs will remain unchanged in Garrett County public middle schools, pending recommendation to be made in January 1998. At the meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education Tuesday night, a motion was passed to delay any proposed change to the curriculum until a board appointed committee of citizens, parents, students, and teachers can review the entire program for grades six through eight and make recommendations.

Dale Carpenter, board president, cast the tie-breaking vote to pass the motion made by Jim Raley, board member, to create a committee to study the complete program in depth and recommend any curriculum changes.

The middle school realignment issue has appeared on the school board agenda over the last three months. The proposal made by Dr. Brenda McCartney, director of curriculum K-12, asked for reduction of the band program in county middle schools and expansion of study skills programs along with expansion of computer technology courses. In addition, the recommendation included terminating the current cultural-based foreign language program.

At each of these three meetings, groups of 45-60 people gathered to comment on the proposed changes.

School Superintendent Dr. Jerome Ryscavage said that the issue of curriculum realignment and any vote for action would be very meaningful. He explained that it had been some time since there had been a review of this age group and that these current requests

General Assembly Passes Nearly Every Bill That Benefits County

Del. Edwards has positive report

Delegate George Edwards has returned to his home in the state of Maryland that has a personal property tax. It is seen by many as a deterrent to new businesses locating in the area, and the Garrett County Development Corporation (GCDC) submitted the suggestion of a phase-out to the elected officials last December.

Senate Bill 444, which was to allow the county to purchase materials locally even if the local bid might not be the lowest qualified, passed with modifications. Edwards explained that it has a reciprocity clause now which will not allow the local preference should an out-of-county firm offer a bid at a certain percentage below other bids.

House Bill 470 passed, which will allow the Garrett County Sanitary District to shut off water service to homes in the event the owners are delinquent in paying sewer bills. To this point, the Sanitary District has had little recourse in enforcing delinquent payment, as it would be unlawful to shut down a home's

With Maryland's '98 Budget Plan

Delegate George Edwards reported yesterday that he was pleased with the outcome of this year's General Assembly and gave his view of the budget plan, which passed at the very end of the session Monday. "We cut income tax by 10% - two percent a year for five years," the delegate said. "It's a lot better than nothing, but I think we could have done way better. It is a good step. This is the first time since we've had a state income tax that there has been a reduction."

"I'm very pleased that we avoided any added taxes. Nothing new was tacked on, as was proposed in the beginning," he said. Budget proposals had included suggestions of taxing telecommunications, cigarettes, and other services.

Edwards and Senator John Hafer worked this session toward amending a state community college funding formula instituted last year that is not beneficial to smaller colleges, as it is based on enrollment. The two officials attempted to get the change this year, but were not successful. However, Edwards noted that through the governor's supplemental budget, Garrett Community College will receive an increase of over $91,000 for fiscal year 1998, which is about what the college would have been given had the formula change been accepted.

Community Action Awarded Housing Complex Grant

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has awarded the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., a $169,300 grant toward the construction of Pleasant View East, a $1.8 million apartment complex for low income families. The development will be in the Loch Lynn area.

According to a press release from Congressman Roscoe Bartlett, who announced the funding last week, the ARC grant will supplement a grant of $1,500,000 from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Housing Services program, $8,000 from the Maryland Housing Affordable Trust, and $160,000 from the Garrett County Community Development Block Grant.

Pleasant View East will have 24 units to serve households that earn 50% or below the median income in Garrett County, according to Bartlett. Community Action will construct and manage the development and will also provide outreach services to tenants, including budget counseling, day care, and transportation to work.

Robert Fousek Given Suspended Sentence, Five Years Probation

Commissioner, judge testify on his behalf

Robert J. Fousek Jr., 49, former Garrett County clerk and roads administrator, was given a suspended prison sentence of five years by a Carroll County Circuit Court judge for his conviction of the crime of felony theft. For willfully filing a false tax return, Fousek was sentenced to another year, suspended and concurrent; and for failure to file a tax return, an additional 90 days, suspended, was tacked on. He must make restitution in the amount of $6,000 to the county, and he will be on five years of supervised probation.

The sentencing decision of Judge Francis M. Arnold was announced after about two hours of testimony from Fousek's attorney, Michael P. May. Testifying as character witnesses for the defendant were Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey and Garrett County District Court Judge Ralph Burnett, both of whom were subpoenaed to appear. Chiefly, the three men urged for mercy from the court because, in their concurrent opinions, Fousek "has suffered enough." The defendant also spoke for himself near the end of the proceedings.

Fousek was found guilty of the theft charge by a Carroll County jury in January, having pleaded guilty to the tax violation earlier that month. The alleged crimes took place while Fousek was serving as the county's chief clerk, personnel director, and interim roads administrator. In August of 1993, he apparently requested a four-month advance on the $2,000-per-month consulting fee he was being paid for his county roads position. Two commissioners, Braskey and Elwood Groves, signed off on the advance request and $8,000 was given to Fousek. He did not receive the $2,000 for September, as was the arrangement, but he did get $2,000 per month in October, November, and December. This constituted a $6,000 overpayment which was apparently not addressed until a 1996 investigation by State Prosecutor Stephen Montanarelli. In this investigation, the prosecutor also uncovered evidence that led to the tax violation allegations. In the January trial, May asserted that Fousek had forgotten about the advance and took the additional payments inadvertently. Montanarelli postulated that the defendant was in dire need of cash at the time and was well aware of the double payment. The jury deliberated for less than two hours before returning the guilty verdict.

At this week's sentencing hearing, May began the proceedings by requesting a new trial. He submitted that his request was underpinned by two points: first, that the testimony of one of the state's witnesses basically confirmed the assertion that Fousek had simply forgotten about the overpayment (John Braskey apparently testified that Fousek had told him he had forgotten); and second, that the mention of Fousek's failure to file a tax return for the consulting money was not relevant to the theft charge and may have caused the

Local Woman To Hold WOW Regional Post

At the recent Biennial Woodmen of the World Jurisdictional Convention in Hagerstown, Lillian Guthrie, Grantsville, was elected jurisdictional president over Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware and the District of Columbia. She is secretary of the local Woodmen of the World Lodge 41, Grantsville.

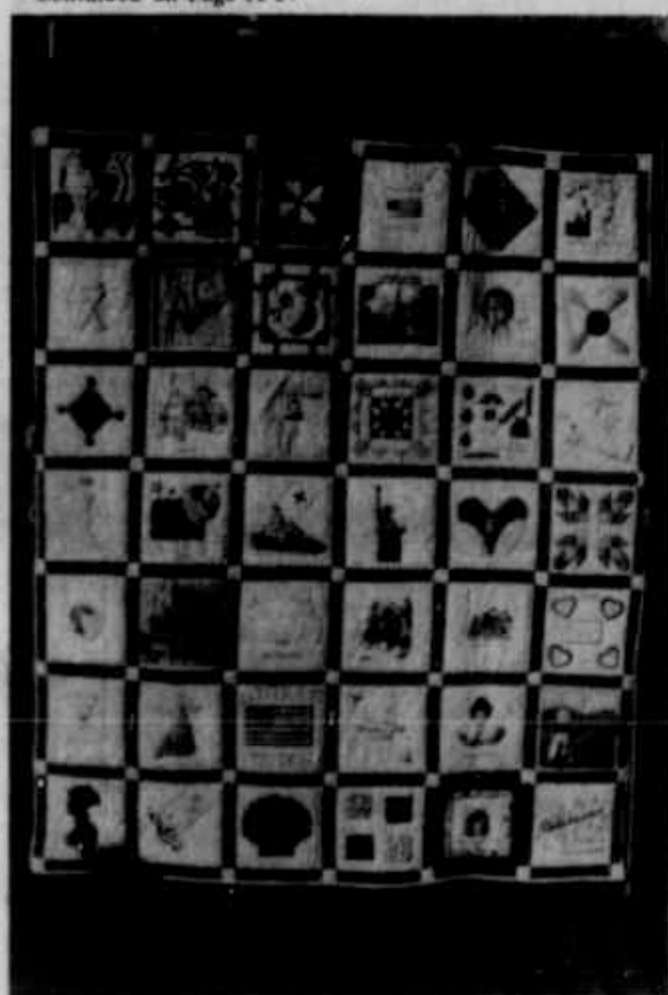

Wayne Graham of Omaha, Neb., and formerly from Oakland, installed the new officers at the convention.

Guthrie is employed by Flushing Shirt Factory in Grantsville and she participates in activities at her church. She and her husband James are the parents of three children, Dale Guthrie, Williamsport, Cheryl Emmart, Green Castle, Pa., and James Guthrie Jr., Grantsville.

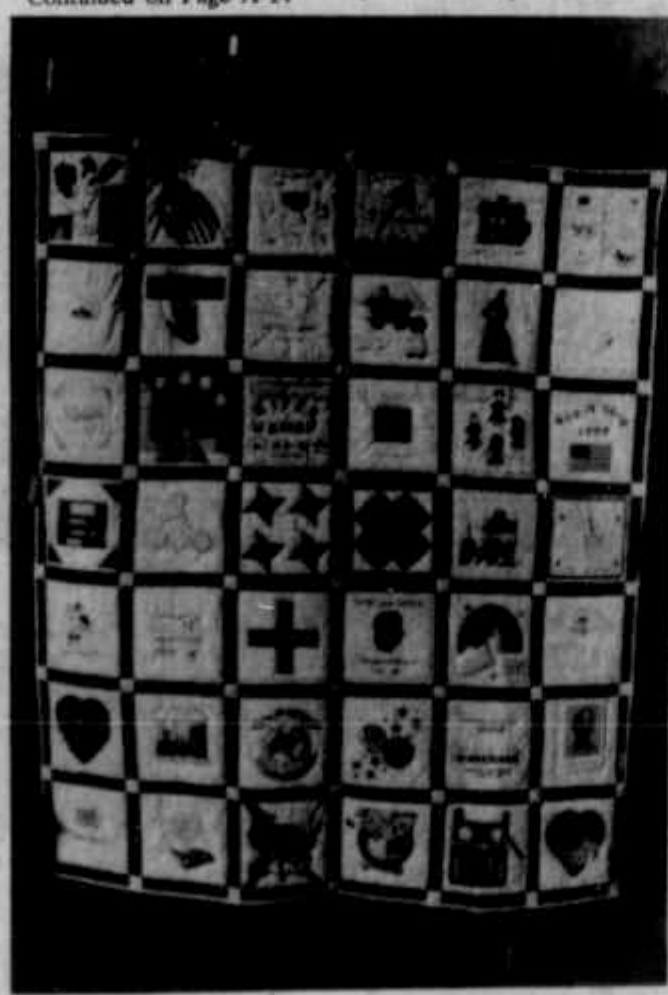

Other Grantsville residents attending the convention with Guthrie were her husband James, Scott and Janis Pope, Harry and Patsy Pope, and Forrest and Betty Blocher.

A LABOR OF LOVE AND DEDICATION - The Oakland Women's Civic Club has helped spearhead a unique project of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, the result of which is pictured here in the form of two unusual and exquisite quilts. Each club in the state was given a blank quilt square and the task of using that square to honor some aspect of women in America. Several individuals were honored in the squares, as were themes involving women and their contributions to their homes, whether the contributions were for the local area, the state, or the nation. The 83 squares were quilted together by a local Amish family and were recently finished, just in time for the MFWC's convention, which is to begin on April 19. It will then be taken to the national convention in Arizona, and then on a tour of Maryland. The local club hopes to have the quilts on display in Garrett County during the Autumn Glory Festival. See Story on Page A-14.

GET OUT THOSE DANCIN' SHOES because the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra is coming to town. The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) has announced that the 1997 season will include a concert/dance with the famous swing era band on Wednesday, May 7, at the McHenry House, Wisp Resort. The band will present a concert from 8 to 9 p.m., and all are invited to push back the chairs and dance to the familiar tunes from 9 until 11:30 p.m. The orchestra is conducted by the famed Buddy Morrow and the concert will feature the talents of Walt Andrus. Tickets, which are $20 for adults and $10 for youth (17 and younger), are available at Gregg's, Englander's, Beachy's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as at the GLAF office located at Garrett Community College. More information on the performance will be published as the date nears, according to Fred Stemple, GLAF executive director. Concessions will be available. For more information, persons may contact the GLAF office at 387-3082. The GLAF season will officially open on May 2 with the local performance of the musical comedy Nunsense (by permission of Samuel French, Inc., NYC), under the direction of Nancy Leary and Susan Harkins. The shows will be presented on May 2, 3, 9, 10, and 11. Further information will be published.

Oakland Man Sentenced To One Year In Jail For Vehicle Theft

An Oakland man was sentenced to a year in jail during last week's Garrett County District Court after pleading guilty to charges stemming from a February traffic stop in Mountain Lake Park. The traffic stop resulted in the recovery of a stolen vehicle and the recovery of additional stolen items found in the car.

Joshua A. DeWitt, 18, pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges of unlawful taking of a motor vehicle, theft, and malicious destruction of property. Judge Ralph M. Burnett gave DeWitt a total jail sentence of four years, three years of which were suspended, and ordered him to pay $100 in restitution to 219 Motors and $510 in restitution to C.P. Martin & Sons convenience store, and put him on two years of supervised probation. Two additional burglary charges were not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

According to the charging statement, on February 28 DeWitt was stopped by L. Paul Pratt of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office for erratic driving and failing to display tags. L. Pratt also observed that the vehicle had a sales sticker showing in the window. Upon questioning, DeWitt reportedly admitted to L. Pratt that he had taken the vehicle from the lot of 219 Motors in Oakland after breaking out an office window and taking the keys to the car.

While DeWitt was being questioned about that matter, Deputy Charles Nolan noticed a carton of cigarettes inside the car matching the description of an item stolen earlier that same day from C.P. Martin & Sons store in Mountain Lake Park. When questioned about the cigarettes, DeWitt reportedly admitted to breaking into the store and taking them.

Other Sentencings
In other district court news, a Swanton man was sentenced after pleading guilty to one count of theft of checks and one count of check forgery. David L. Rounds, 45, was initially charged with 22 counts of forgery and theft stemming from a series of stolen checks he allegedly used at the Pop Shoppe in Loch Lynn last August. Judge Burnett gave Rounds a 12-month suspended sentence, a $55 suspended fine, and two years of unsupervised probation. The other 20 forgery and theft charges against Rounds were not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

A trespassing conviction resulted in the sentencing of a McHenry man in Judge Burnett's court last week. Jerry D. Everett, 30, pleaded guilty to trespassing at an Oakland residence. On February 14 the homeowner called for police assistance after Everett reportedly appeared on his porch saying he wanted to see his baby and refusing to leave. He allegedly had been making a series of harassing phone calls to the home as well. Everett received a 30-day suspended sentence, a $105 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation.

A Grantsville man was sentenced on an assault charge after his earlier guilty plea. Donald Devore, 20, was charged with second degree assault in connection with a February incident at his Meadowview apartment. Judge Burnett imposed a 30-day suspended sentence and one year of unsupervised probation.

Presentencing Investigation
A presentencing investigation was ordered by Judge Burnett following the conviction of an Oakland man on an assault charge.

Brett R. Giotfelty, 24, pleaded guilty to second degree assault, stemming from an October domestic dispute in which he allegedly beat his girlfriend and threw their 32-day-old baby onto a couch. The charge of assault on his girlfriend drew the guilty plea and conviction, while the state's attorney's office declined to prosecute Giotfelty on additional charges of first and second degree assault on the infant. Giotfelty will be sentenced in district court at a later date.

Violation of Probation
A Grantsville man had a portion of a suspended sentence reimposed after violating the terms of his one year supervised probation agreement.

Timothy A. Kitzmiller, 19, had initially been convicted in August on theft and trespassing charges. Last week he was deemed to have violated probation by possessing and using drugs and for failing to pay restitution to Grantsville Station Exxon. Kitzmiller's initial conviction included a 30-day suspended sentence, two days of which Judge Burnett reimposed as jail time.

PBJs
A probation before judgment (PBJ) was handed to an Oakland man who had pleaded guilty to obstruction of justice and hindering arrest. The charges against Raymond L. Monk, 41, stemmed from a January incident when a sheriff's deputy attempted to serve a bench warrant against another subject at Monk's residence. Although the subject was at the house, Monk reportedly told the deputy looking for her that she wasn't there; then once the deputy located her, Monk allegedly interfered with her arrest by verbally forbidding it and grabbing the deputy's arm.

Judge Burnett gave Monk a 30-day suspended sentence, imposed a $105 fine and ordered one year of unsupervised probation. He then handed Monk the PBJ, which means that he will not have a criminal record to show for the case if he complies with all terms of his probation agreement.

Two PBJ revisions were ordered by Judge Burnett last week as well. Barbara L. Coleman, 28, Kitzmiller, and Elizabeth Magri 24, Baltimore, had their criminal records erased to reflect successful completion of their probation terms. Each had initially been convicted on controlled dangerous substance charges.

Stet Docket
Judge Burnett also ordered four cases transferred to the stet docket, which means that although placed into an inactive file at this time, any of these cases can be recalled and tried within 365 days if the court deems it necessary.

Indecent exposure and disorderly in public charges against Zane A. Stevenson, 42, Mount Storm, W.Va., were placed on the stet docket. According to court records, on the morning of February 7 Stevenson was arrested by sheriff's deputies for allegedly urinating in front of a Loch Lynn residence. Deputies reportedly detected a strong smell of liquor on his breath and found a bottle of Jim Beam whiskey in his coat as they searched him. Stevenson was arrested and later released on a $500 bond.

A case involving a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon against a Grantsville man was placed on the stet docket. James E. Regan Jr., 36, was arrested on February 18 by sheriff's deputies executing a search and seizure warrant. While searching Regan's person, the deputies discovered him to be carrying brass knuckles, which are considered a deadly weapon. Judge Burnett ordered Regan to forfeit the brass knuckles and perform 20 hours of community service with the sheriff's office.

A trespassing charge against a Westport man was placed on the stet docket. Jamie S. Chaney, 18, was reportedly observed standing outside the open back door of a Bloomington residence at 4 a.m. on February 1. He had allegedly been inside the residence just prior to that while an altercation was occurring within, and had been notified by the homeowner to leave the premises immediately. Judge Burnett also ordered that Chaney complete 20 hours of community service.

A trespassing charge against Jeremy M. Smith, 18, Bloomington, was also placed on the stet docket. The charge had been filed against Smith for allegedly skateboarding in the parking lot of the Bloomington branch of the Wepco Credit Union the evening of February 2. He reportedly had received four verbal warnings from Wepco employees and one written warning from Wepco management between last November and February to cease skateboarding on their property. Judge Burnett ordered Smith to stay off the Wepco property and perform 20 hours of community service.

Not Guilty Verdicts
Finally, several trials resulted in not guilty verdicts in last week's district court.

A case involving an ongoing dispute between Lonaconing neighbors on Green Lantern Road in Garrett County was argued in the court last week. Judge Burnett found both men not guilty on all the charges they had filed against one another.

Mark Clark, 47, faced one count of harassment stemming from a charge filed by John R. Hetz, 65. Hetz alleged that Clark had been repeatedly gunning his truck engine in front of the Hetz residence and otherwise harassing him and his wife with obscene gestures and comments over a period of years. Clark was found not guilty of the charge.

Hetz in turn faced two counts of assault and two counts of reckless endangerment resulting from charges filed against him by Clark. Hetz was accused of carrying a shotgun outdoors while doing yardwork and allegedly pointing it at Clark's vehicle on three separate occasions as he drove by Hetz's yard. Hetz was found not guilty of all charges.

A December 1995 dispute between two men from downstate Maryland resulted in not guilty verdicts from Judge Burnett for both.

Robert McClary, 41, Calverton, stood accused of three counts of battery and one count of malicious destruction of property. On December 29, 1995, McClary was deer hunting with permission in a Garrett County farm field when two snowmobiles entered the field. The lead snowmobile driver, Richard J. Kahn, 51, Bethesda, alleged that McClary approached him and purposefully hit him in the face, breaking his glasses, as well as hitting his two daughters who were riding with him. McClary was found not guilty of all charges.

McClary in turn filed a battery charge against Kahn. McClary alleged that as he was attempting to flag down the snowmobiles to inform them that they were trespassing, Kahn drove his snowmobile right past him and collided with his outstretched arm. McClary's complaint stated that he felt endangered by Kahn's driving, and felt this was deliberately done to intimidate him. Kahn was found not guilty on the battery charge.

While an additional trespassing charge filed against Kahn by the farm's owner was not prosecuted by the state's attorney, Judge Burnett did order that he not trespass in the future on the property, which is posted with "no trespassing" signs.

A Southern High student was found not guilty of a second degree assault charge stemming from a February 14 altercation with another student in a school hallway.

Cheryl A. Dillworth, 18, Oakland, had allegedly been making accusations that a 16-year old female student was a "narc" after a mutual friend and the juvenile were arrested for smoking marijuana in a vehicle parked at the Short Stop Deli in Oakland on February 7. Dillworth had reportedly told other students that the juvenile "got off easy because she set (the mutual friend) up."

The juvenile student reportedly went to Dillworth's classroom while school was in session and called her out into the hall and allegedly told Dillworth to stop making the accusations against her. A fight ensued, and the juvenile subsequently filed assault charges against Dillworth. Judge Burnett found Dillworth not guilty as charged.

A Friendsville man was found not guilty of two charges stemming from a January fight at Ken's Tavern in Friendsville.

Carl N. Friend, 18, faced charges of second degree assault and malicious destruction of property. John Pilkerton, Oakland, alleged that Friend had beaten him up outside the tavern and ripped up his jacket after verbally harassing him, all reportedly without provocation. Friend was found not guilty by Judge Burnett.

How New Medicines in the U.S. Are Approved
Approval of prescription medicines in the United States is expensive and time-consuming. Medicines approved in 1994 and 1995 took an average of 7 years to develop. The average time it now takes for the approval of such medicines by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) ranges from 18 to 19 months. Fast track approval of priority medicines, such as those needed for the treatment of AIDS, may take less than a year. Pharmaceutical companies spend an average of $359 million to get one new medicine from their laboratories to the shelves of pharmacies.

Preclinical and clinical studies: Preclinical studies involve test animals. Approval of an investigational new drug application allows the company to begin tests in humans. Phase I studies evaluate the absorption, excretion, and safety of the drug. Phase II and III studies examine the effectiveness of the drug and adverse drug effects.

New drug application (NDA): The company must submit all the data it has collected to the FDA.

Final approval: If a medicine is approved, the company can begin manufacturing, distributing and marketing the drug. Sometimes the FDA will require additional studies (Phase IV) to evaluate long-term effects of the drug.

"COULD YOU USE A SLAVE, you hairy bunch of Ishmaelites?" That is the question posed by Joseph's brothers, pictured above right, when their intense jealousy of their younger brother leads them to sell him into slavery and tell their father Jacob that Joseph was killed by wild animals. It is part of the plot of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, an Andrew Lloyd Webber musical that will be presented four times this week and two more times next weekend by the Ecumenical Youth Ministry. Joseph is played by Karlo Geaner and the roles of Joseph's brothers are played by Matthew Sincell, Alex Hill, Seth Folickman, Bridget Nolan, Meghan Durst, Eric Archer, Adam Chorpent-

Vehicles Found After Auto Theft In Grantsville

Daniel Durst, owner of Billy Bender Chevrolet, Grantsville, reported to Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, that sometime between 10:30 p.m. on April 4, and 7:30 a.m. on April 5, someone had stolen a 1991 GMC truck registered to him and two Chevrolet trucks, a 1988 and a 1992, registered to Bender Chevrolet.

According to the police report, there were no known suspects. The vehicles were recovered on April 5 near Uniontown, Pa.

Board Changes School Holidays For Next Year

The calendar for school year 1997-1998 was a topic of discussion and an action issue for the Garrett County School Board at its meeting Tuesday night.

On the calendar proposed for board approval, the Christmas holidays would have started at noon on Friday, Dec. 19. The board voted to shorten the suggested Christmas vacation by two school days. According to the board approved calendar, the students will be dismissed for the holidays on Tuesday, Dec. 23.

With the two additional days taken from the December holidays to allocate elsewhere, board members explored options and voted to extend the Easter vacation by two days. At a luncheon meeting held earlier in the day between members of the business community and the education community, the student workforce had been discussed. An issue raised by employers was the opening of school during the last days of the tourist season.

Noting tourism as a major county business, it was suggested that the board consider ending summer vacation after Labor Day rather than before the holiday, as is currently the practice.

The board looked at the possibility for this use of the two days taken from the break at Christmas. According to Board President Dale Carpenter, it would require cutting four days from the beginning of the school year to accomplish this.

Recent Thefts and Burglaries Investigated by Sheriff's Office

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is currently investigating the following theft and burglary reports from the past week, and a destruction of property involving a BB gun. Anyone having information concerning any of these incidents may contact the sheriff's office at 334-1911.

Deputies are investigating the theft of building tools from a home construction site in the Mountain-side Development just south of the Route 219 Bridge. The tools were last seen at the property the evening of March 28, and were missing when the building crew returned the next morning. Tools stolen were: two Pat Load impulse nail guns, valued at $600 each; one DeWalt 12-inch compound miter box, worth $425; one DeWalt reciprocating saw ("saw-all" saw), worth $159; and one quart-size liquid nail gun, worth $22.

A pair of chain saws were stolen from the back of a pickup truck parked on Squire Fike Road in Friendsville. The items were taken on the night of April 8. Stolen were: two orange Stihl 041 chain saws, valued at $500 each.

Three answering machines and a sum of paper currency were stolen in a burglary from Tressler's Garage in Rosedale on the night of April 8. Employees reporting to work discovered a padlock to a door on the southwest corner of the building had been cut and the door forced open, with accompanying damage to the door frame and closing mechanism. Stolen were: three telephone answering machines, models unknown, with a total value of $70, and $75 cash in bills.

A theft of concrete island guards commonly used in parking lots was discovered last week. They had been in storage at the old Spiker Stone Quarry on Sang Run Road, and were taken sometime between December 25, 1996, and April 8. Stolen were: four 4-inch concrete island guards, valued at $220 each.

A burglary from a storage shed at a Kitzmiller residence occurred sometime between the evening of April 1 and the evening of April 2. Entry was gained by prying two pieces of wood siding from the back of the shed. Assorted tools and other items were taken, but no detailed inventory or dollar figure is available at this time.

The sheriff's office is also currently investigating a destruction of property at the Underwood Church on Underwood Road. Church members arriving to prepare for services on the morning of April 6 discovered a storm window shot out, apparently by a BB gun, and BB pellet damage to the building's siding. No damage figures are available at this time.

Recent Arrests
In other Garrett County Sheriff's Office news over the past week, several arrests were made.

An Oakland woman was arrested by sheriff's deputies the night of April 2 and charged with assault. Jannie M. Chapman, 25, was arrested as a result of a fight in the parking lot of the Par-Matt Lanes Bowling Alley in Oakland earlier that evening. Chapman allegedly struck Connie Miller, 37, Mountain Lake Park, during a verbal altercation. Miller was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital for facial contusions and released that evening. Chapman was subsequently released on an unsecured bond.

A shoplifting incident at Treasure Island on April 6 resulted in the arrest of an Oakland woman, Madeline V. Gank, 40, was charged with one count of misdemeanor theft after store personnel witnessed her putting tape and pens into her purse and then leaving the store. Total value of the stolen merchandise came to less than $10.

The Garrett County Narcotics Task force arrested a Friendsville woman on April 9. Lesa J. Paugh, 37, was charged with harboring a fleeing felon after it was determined that she was harboring Craig Stanton, a fugitive indicted by the Garrett County Grand Jury on a felony drug warrant. Paugh was later released on her own recognizance.

Three bench warrant arrests for failure to appear in court were made by sheriff's deputies last week. Arrested were Annie A. Stemple, 39, Oakland; David L. Brame, 20, McHenry; and Robert L. Stark, 31, Mtn. Lake Park. Stark's arrest was for failing to appear for a DWI hearing in Charles County.

A Clarification
In the Garrett County Sheriff's Office news report of last week, the status of Amy Jean Bevans, 32, was taken from a news release supplied by the sheriff's office. This information was several days old and therefore outdated. To clarify, Bevans was arrested by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force on March 26, transported to the sheriff's office, and then released on her own recognizance. No bond was requested by the commissioner of the court, nor was any bond posted by Bevans.

Eliminating the Temptation...

Many county residents were most interested in what penalty would be meted out this week in Carroll County Circuit Court to Robert Fousek, former county administrator and interim roads director, who was convicted of felony theft and tax fraud last year. The reaction to his sentence of five years suspended has been varied, as some believed Mr. Fousek should spend time in prison for his crimes, while others considered it a harsh, but just, sentence. There are probably still others who believe that it was too severe.

Our intent in this column today is not to present our opinion on the level of harshness of Fousek's sentence. Rather, we want to focus on what we believe to be a much bigger problem in our county government's way of doing things. We in no way defend Mr. Fousek, condone his actions, or believe that he should not be held accountable. However, we are suggesting that, to some extent, Fousek became a victim as well as a perpetrator.

We believe that for far too long the operation of county government, particularly when it comes to finances, has been extremely lax. Payment vouchers have been signed and checks have been cut apparently without hesitation and with no questions asked by anyone in the process. It was a situation similar to one's placing $10 bills out in his front yard along with a sign that reads, "Please don't come by at night and take these $10 bills from my yard." In an ideal world, we would be able to totally trust each other, in all situations, and there would be no yielding to such temptation. We wouldn't even need the sign.

But humans are not perfect and we constantly yield to temptation. Eliminating the temptation, then, would certainly alleviate some of the problem by helping people behave themselves.

Fortunately, there are many signs and efforts by our current county commissioners and their administrator indicating that we have learned something from the Fousek affair. In the past several months a number of new procedures have been implemented to increase security, efficiency, and accountability in the handling of county monies. The rubber-stamping days, we hope, are behind us.

There may well be more fallout yet to come as a result of our negligent, business-as-usual methods of yesterday. We will simply have to persist with clean-up efforts and, we hope, continue to learn from our mistakes.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's note: The following letter was presented to Dr. Jerome J. Rysavage, superintendent of schools, at a luncheon on Tuesday. The writer requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Dr. Rysavage:

Thank you for devoting over seventeen years of your life to improving the quality of education for students, parents, and the community. If it were possible to calculate the number of hours a day, evenings a week, trips out of the county to Baltimore and Annapolis, pre-dawn hours trying to predict the weather and countless other ways you fulfilled your personal standard of excellence... it would be overwhelming.

Your professionalism and unwavering dedication have benefited our students for generations to come and made Garrett County a school system with a reputation for excellence. It is with deep regret that I write this letter on behalf of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce since it marks the end of your astute leadership of our school system. Life will go on, schools will open and students will learn, but we will miss you.

Congratulations on your accomplishments. We hope you enjoy the time that you will now have to explore new activities.

Sincerely,
David Moe,
President
Garrett County
Chamber of Commerce

To the Editor:

Hola!
Well, it's again that time of year to begin planning the 1997 Summer Homestay Program. The Council on International Educational Exchange (CIEE) was extremely pleased about the level of professionalism, kindness, and experiences in which students were able to participate last year. I was recently contacted by CIEE to again organize a program here for the coming summer months.

Travel dates have already been set for Spanish students to come to the United States from June 26 until July 25, during which time they will live with local families, attend classes, and enjoy some of the many educational and recreational activities that our area has to offer, including excursions to Washington, D.C., Kennebunk, and the Carnegie Science Center. I'm sure that if you hosted a student, had personal contact with a student, or know someone that did, you understand what a rewarding experience this program can be.

To make this program successful, I will again need to find approximately 20 families that would like to host these students for about three and one-half weeks. Students do not need to have their own rooms, only their own beds. Host families do not need to be millionaires, live in an eight-bedroom mansion, plan trips to the Lesser Antilles or Colorado, have children enrolled in any foreign language, or even have children! All that a family needs is a bed in a room, a clean house, and a desire to "get to know a student from another culture. This program cannot function without family participation!

Please consider hosting this summer. It is truly an unforgettable experience. Take a little bit of time and discuss the idea with your family. If you're not sure, just contact me and I'll be glad to give you a list of local people who participated in the program last summer, are currently hosting (we have two students from Brazil and one from the Dominican Republic), or have participated in other hosting programs.

I hope to have all of my families by May 1 so that I can concentrate on program development. I look forward to hearing from you soon! I can be reached at 334-1873 after 5 p.m.

Adios!

To the Editor:

As parents of two of the senior Lady Huskies players who recently went to the state tournament at UMBC, we would like to take this opportunity to thank the people who helped make it all possible.

First of all, we'd like to thank Coach Harv Speicher for his guidance, leadership, and patience in working with the girls, always encouraging them to do their best and not getting mad at them when they made mistakes. Also, Coach Joe McKenzie and Coach Sarah Pletcher deserve mention for their part in coaching the team. Thanks! We'd also like to thank bus drivers Wayne Collier and Nancy Savage for their support and kindness during the regular season as well as in Baltimore. Mr. Green, Mr. Reichenbecher, and Mr. Vent and the staff at Northern High were very supportive.

The fans and supporters who went to UMBC and cheered were appreciated, as were Gary Savage, who arranged the bus at the last minute, and Warren Giotfelty, who drove the bus to transport them to the tournament. The community also deserves a round of applause for its help in funding the trip and encouraging and supporting the team.

The whole experience is one that will be remembered for a long time by the team and their families. Thanks to everyone for their part in making the memories. And last, to the Lady Huskies, Congratulations! You made us proud and we love you all.

To the Editor:

What is a healthy business climate? We found out this past year as we started our company. We have had the support of the business community since we first began to implement our ideas and that support has continued to grow. The vision of the people who own and operate the many businesses in this area helped us reach our first sales milestone of selling 1,000 cases of Deep Creek Golden Ale. We could not have done this without these business men and women taking a chance by stocking our product and giving us the benefit of their knowledge, ideas, and encouragement. It is fitting that we reached our sales milestone at McClive's since Doug McClive was the first person we approached about the idea and the first to say he would carry it.

So to all the businesses that carry our product and to all the people who continue to buy it, we thank you very much. As we look to the future, we continue to get support from the business community and from other parts of the community such as Garrett Community College Small Business Development Center and from Garrett County Economic Development. We thank you all for helping to make our dream a reality.

To the Editor:

The announcement on March 20, 1997, by Bennett S. LeBow, chairman of the Liggett Group, Inc., parent of Brooke Group Ltd., the smallest of the country's five leading cigarette makers (Chesterfield, L&M, and Lark about 2% of the market), that smoking is addictive and causes cancer, and that tobacco companies had for decades marketed their products toward 14-year-olds, hit the front page of most newspapers in a storm. These concessions were central provisions in Liggett's agreement to settle lawsuits filed by 22 states for $6 billion in annual state health care costs tied to smoking. Liggett agreed to place a warning label on all its brands stating that smoking is addictive, and agreed to pay a quarter of its pretax profits plus up to $25 million to the states annually for the next 25 years.

Vice President Al Gore called the settlement "a historic victory for the American people." It publicly acknowledged what we have all known for years about the behavior of the tobacco industry and the effects of smoking.

The four larger companies (Phillip Morris, R.J. Reynolds, Lorillard and Brown & Williamson) accused LeBow of "shenanigans" motivated by self interest. In a joint statement those four companies stated, "We suspect he is simply brokering this deal in a desperate attempt to force one of the other cigarette manufacturers to take over his financially troubled and failing tobacco interests." These companies vowed to fight the attorneys general's effort to use the documents that Liggett has agreed to provide and contend that the papers are shielded by attorney-client privilege and other legal protections. These documents include notes of the Committee of Counsel, a group of in-house tobacco company lawyers that coordinates industry strategy under the auspices of the trade association, Tobacco Institute. Judge William Freeman of the Forsythe County Superior Court in Winston-Salem, N.C., issued a temporary restraining order at the companies' request.

While the Liggett Group resolved one set of lawsuits, it merely set the stage for new and thorny rounds of litigation that will keep tobacco companies and plaintiffs' lawyers battling for years? It's just possible that Liggett's decision to come clean will persuade the rest of the industry to drop the Big Lie, confess that smoking is dangerous and see if settlements for past liabilities can be reached, yet remain free to sell their products with appropriate warnings and the protection of children. The alternative is an expensive war to the finish between companies losing their popularity (but not their profitability) and an increasingly intolerant public.

Taxes and the Human Heart

Well, I'm finished for another year. At least, I hope I am. Four envelopes have been put into the mail, and that should be the end of 1996 taxes.

While I was finishing up the tax forms I heard on the radio that Maryland will be reducing income taxes over the next few years. The rate of taxation will decrease slightly, but the real benefit will come in the doubling of the personal exemption. The total package should put $400 back into our family coffers on an annual basis.

What I wondered when I heard the news was, "What aren't they going to do for us anymore?" State workers haven't been getting much of a raise since the 80s. Roads and bridges are deteriorating around the state. Mental health programs are being cut back (which means more people will go to jail, and jailing someone costs a lot more than helping someone).

The school population continues to increase, and our schools are being asked to do more and more of what families used to do. Then there are the parks, forests, and wildlands, all the recreation fields and libraries that our tax dollars support. I'll have my $400 a year, but what won't I have in public services?

That leads me to one of my big gripes and what is becoming one of my pet themes: so-called welfare reform. I am no lover of government welfare whether offered to the poor, the middle class, or the rich, but if we are going to take away welfare we ought to take it away from the rich first, the middle class second, and the poor last. Our elected representatives in Washington have decided to undertake welfare reform in reverse order, taking it away from those who have the fewest alternative resources.

I keep hearing about how it is the job of the churches to take care of the needy—which it certainly is. Almost all the churches I know are struggling to make budget. Studies show that charitable giving as a percentage of income has declined over the past 30 years. In my sermons I tell my congregation they should tithe. I also tell them to take a sledge hammer to their televisions. I don't know of anybody yet who has done either.

I have a specific proposal that could provide an incentive to charitable giving. Take away the standard deduction. The problem with the standard deduction is that it presumes that the taxpayer gave a certain amount of money away.

A person who tithed on a fairly healthy income and a person who gave nothing at all both receive the same benefit. That is welfare of the worst kind. The non-giver, the ungenerous person is being rewarded for not giving away the money which the IRS has presumed he gave away.

Let everybody itemize their deductions. Either people will give more money to charities or they will pay more taxes. Either way there will be more funds available for the people who need help most and for the services which benefit us all.

Like everybody else, I groan when I pay my taxes. I learned from a wise man, however, that in this life "You have to give, to get." The problem today, he commented further, is that "everybody wants to get, but nobody wants to give."

There is a meanness growing in our land whether at tax time or when the plate is passed on Sunday. Before people will open their pocketbooks, they have to open their hearts. That means an openness to another person's need without judgment or criticism. It means living in gratitude for all the good gifts granted to us, a gratitude that sees our cup as overflowing and sees giving as an opportunity to ensure that nothing is wasted.

By Peggy Santamaría

One thing is for certain. In Garrett County there is always something to talk about. Usually it is the weather. One never needs to worry about conversation starters in small groups or large. There is, more often than not, something bizarre going on just outside the window.

Another thing I have in my favor as a constant source of conversation initiatives is that I'm a transplant. There are always plenty of frivolous things that I can say or ask. Though I've lived here going on four years, I know I can get away with this new-come thing for another 15 or 20 years.

But something I do talk about with great relish, is how I love my adopted home. It is a pleasure to be part of Garrett County. The things I see around me on a daily basis are a source of wonder and delight. Driving home from work yesterday I saw a marvelous turkey with its feathers all spread out around him as he impressed the lady turkeys hanging about him. What a bird. He was big. I was sure impressed.

Then there was the pheasant a few days ago. As I turned onto Sam Friend Road, he was walking down it. Just kind of sauntering, really. I stopped my car and rolled down the window to get a better look at him as he stood next to my car, checking it out. Wow! The scarlet on his head, the pattern of browns and tans and blacks of his feathers...again, I was impressed. But he and I had miles to go before we slept, so we parted company.

A few yards further on, a grouse was standing around trying to look attractive, but I don't know whom it was he wished to entice. He seemed to be alone. Perhaps he was just practicing. Bless his confused heart. He did pale a bit after the pheasant, but he was trying. He was going to have to rely on his beauty because his thought process would not have won the girl. I had to drive around him. He didn't seem to understand.

Then there is always the early spring chipmunk run. They stand at the sides of road and challenge each other to make death-defying runs across as cars approach. "Okay, watch this..."

I guess I have made one thing pretty clear. If you see me at a crowded party, you probably want to go the other way. You've heard everything I have to say.

Numerous DWI And DUI Cases Heard In March's District Court

Several DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard in last month's district court proceedings.

Samuel Wade Knox, 34, Grantsville, was found in violation of his DWI probation. The judge reimposed a seven-day jail term.

Chester Sidney Lauck, 29, Grantsville, was found guilty of violating his DUI probation. The judge reimposed Lauck's original sentence, which will require he serve 60 days in jail.

Russell Lee Jones, 39, Va., was found guilty of violating his DUI probation. The judge terminated his probation and withheld sanctions.

Roger Rudolph Foglepole, 45, Ohio, failed to appear in court for his DWI hearing. A bench warrant was issued and a $1,000 cash bond ordered.

James Raymond Buckalew, 54, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. He was fined $355, sentenced to serve four days of a 60-day jail term, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Mary Louise Clatterbuck, 30, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. She was fined $155, received a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Linda Lee Welch, 25, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. She was fined $155, received a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Charles Joseph Wassil, 29, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. He was sentenced to six months in jail for the conviction.

John Francis Kettering Sr., 58, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. He was fined $155, given a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

William Edward Ravenscroft, 28, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. He was fined $255, received a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Samuel David Loughman, 35, Pa., pleaded guilty to a DUI charge. He was fined $500, received a 60-day suspended sentence, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation.

James Webster Tasker, 44, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. He was fined $500, given a 90-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Patrick Scott O'Connor, 29, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. He was fined $355, given a 60-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Sherry Elaine Butts, 26, Md., was sentenced on an earlier DWI conviction. She received a one-year sentence, four months of which were suspended, and was placed on two years of supervised probation.

Terry Lee Johnson, 30, Va., was sentenced on an earlier DWI conviction. He was fined $355, received a six-month sentence, four months of which were suspended, and was placed on two years of supervised probation.

Raymond Ray Harris, 67, Md., pleaded guilty to a DUI charge. The judge ordered a presentencing investigation, and will sentence Harris at a later date.

Keith Ronald Friend, 24, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge. The judge will sentence him at a later date.

Stacy Jude Piscitelli, 38, Pa., pleaded guilty to a DUI charge and was handed a probation before judgement (PBJ) by the judge. She received a 30-day suspended sentence and a $155 fine. The PBJ means that she will not have a criminal record if she complies with all the terms of her probation agreement.

James Edgell Jr., 36, W.Va., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge and was handed a PBJ by the judge. He is also required to pay a $355 fine and was placed on one year of supervised probation.

ART EXHIBIT OPENS - The 10th Annual Juried High School Exhibition is on display now through April 26 at the Bausch and Lomb Gallery of Garrett Community College, McHenry. The multimedia show spotlights the work of students from Northern and Southern high schools, Turkeyfoot Valley Area High School, Confluence, Pa., and Preston High School, Kingwood, W.Va. The gallery is open to the public Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Judging on the work will be on April 14. Saturday, April 19, the exhibit will be open as part of the Garrett County Public School Art Fair, showcasing fine and performing arts from all grade levels. On Saturday, April 26, a closing awards ceremony and reception for the artists will be held at the gallery at 8:30 p.m. Some of the students' work is featured here as a sample of what can be seen at the exhibit. Above on the left is an untitled clay sculpture by Tim Jeffries, Southern High School; above on the right is an acrylic painting, "In the Mirror," by Northern High School student Candace Wellbaum; below, "Eagle Chief" is a mixed media work by Jennifer Vogel, Turkeyfoot Valley Area High School. Anyone wishing more information about the exhibit may call Ron Skidmore at the GCC Art Gallery, 387-3024.

Man Held In Jail After Arrest In Friendsville

Brian K. Bolyard, 24, Tunnelton, W.Va., is being held in Garrett County Jail on $5,000 bond after his arrest by Maryland State Police, April 4.

According to MSP reports filed at Barrack W. McHenry, in response to a complaint of a loud disturbance on Maple Street, Friendsville, the suspect was found screaming obscenities. He also allegedly damaged a wooden business sign.

Bolyard was placed under arrest and transported to Barrack W., the report said, where he again became hostile, shouted obscenities while kicking and punching the cell door and intercom, and damaged the holding cell video camera.

He is charged with two counts of malicious destruction of property and disorderly conduct. The property damaged is valued in excess of $350.

In an unrelated case of destruction of property, Paul Steyer, Oakland, filed a report with the MSP that an unknown person or persons scratched his 1989 Dodge on the hood, trunk, roof, and sides. The Maryland State Police are asking that anyone with information on this case call them at 387-1101.

Oakland Man Sentenced For A&B Conviction

An Oakland man previously convicted on the charge of assault and battery was sentenced last week in Garrett County Circuit Court, Judge James Sherbin presided at the proceedings.

George W. Doss Jr., 37, had entered a guilty plea to the charge in a February hearing. A charge of child abuse was not prosecuted. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered at that time.

Sherbin sentenced Doss to one year in jail, with all but time served (49 days) suspended. He will be on one year of supervised probation.

Doss was charged after he allegedly assaulted a 4-year-old girl while he was babysitting her in August 1996. She was to be sitting in a corner for misbehaving and when she attempted to get up, Doss apparently showed her back into the chair several times, causing minor bruising.

AURORA VFD RAMP DINNER

An annual ramp dinner is planned by the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department at their fire hall on Sunday, April 27, beginning at noon and continuing until 4 p.m. The usual menu of ham, beans, potatoes, ramps (raw and cooked), desserts, corn muffins, and beverage will be served. Donations for adults will be $5, and for children, $3.50.

SOCIAL STUDIES FAIR

On Friday evening, April 4, the annual Social Studies Fair for Preston County students was held at the Craig Civic Center in Kingwood. Participants from grades 4-7 from the Aurora School were Mariah Freeman, Lauren Roth, Nicole Britner, Holly Keeney, Joshua Mullenax, Melissa Elliott, Alicia Slabaugh, Dane Nice, and Randy Burdock.

Among those from East Preston Junior High participating were Aurora residents Kiley Feather, Randy Hinton, and Melanie Slabaugh.

Preston High students Kimberly Fike, Courtney Fint, Melissa Callahan, and Rebecca Wotring participated, with the first three all county winners who are now eligible to compete at the state level.

MERROW DEATH

Relatives here received word of the sudden death on Sunday, April 6, of Barbara (Stemple) Merrow of Marietta, Ohio. She was a daughter of Frances Stemple of Aurora, and the late Garold Stemple. She is also survived by her husband, Walter Merrow; a son, Aaron Merrow; a stepson; two brothers, Bobby and Jim, of Aurora; and a sister, Linda, in Georgia. Services were held Thursday, April 10, at Marietta.

DUNKIN DEATH

The unexpected death of Aurora resident Robert Dunkin was discovered Monday. Mr. Dunkin had been in his usual health and was only 42. His wife Pat and son Zack of Aurora are among the survivors. Plans remain incomplete at this time.

NEEDS REMEMBERED

Mrs. Retha Johnson has been informed of the illness of her son Jim, who is with the Merchant Marine in Hawaii. He is currently undergoing chemotherapy and would appreciate hearing from hometown friends in the Aurora area. Cards of encouragement may be addressed to him at: James Johnson, P.O. Box 27868, Honolulu, HI 96827.

CPR TRAINING

A CPR training is being offered by Union Ambulance Service at the Aurora squad hall beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday, April 12. In way of celebration of the 96th birthday of Homer Fike, his family is suggesting cards be sent to him for this occasion on April 17. Cards may be addressed to P.O. Box 44, Eglon, WV 26716. Homer also enjoys visits.

MEDICAL FUND

A fund to aid the Rev. Donald Knotts, pastor of the Brookside Church of the Brethren, who is awaiting a liver transplant, has been established. Donations may be addressed to the Donald Knotts Medical Fund, c/o Farmers and Merchants Bank, Keyser, WV 26726. Rev. Knotts is now second on the waiting list at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

YOUNG WRITERS

On Tuesday, April 1, a recognition of the Preston K-12 students who had entered poetry or prose in the Young Writers competition was held at the PHS theater. Entries from Aurora Elementary School were submitted by Tamara Wallo, poetry, and Seth Feather and Travis Mersing, grades 3-4, prose. Travis was a first prize county winner with a story, The Lonely Snowman.

Entries recognized in grades five and six were: poetry, Corey Burrell and Joel Sines Jr., and prose, Sara Lewis and Skylar Freeman. In recognition, each received a certificate.

In junior high competition, Aurora area students recognized were Jessica Shaffer, Kendra Durst, Cathy Sisler, Heather Miller, and Amanda Dillsworth. Those who were recognized in grades 10-12 were Aaron Layman and Rhett Beckman, the latter receiving honorable mention.

CELEBRATES 95TH

Mrs. Twila Bachtel was honored on her 95th birthday, April 3, at the home of her granddaughter, Darla Pellinghast, Riva, Md., with a covered dish dinner and the presence of her family. Her daughters, Joann Gehman of Lancaster, Pa., and Pauline and Ray Best of Riva, her sons Clifton and Eugene Bachtel and their wives of Horse Shoe Run, grandchildren David and Karen Pellinghast and foster sister Christy, and Sandra and Rick Norman, Alan and Sharon Best, and Jim and Pamela Evans and their families, were present.

THANKS EXPRESSED

Lulu Maye Hughes Digby of Akron, Ohio, has sent word that she wishes to express her thanks to those of her friends in this area who sent cards for her birthday. Her niece Judy reports that she is about, as usual, and all are asked to remember their friend, who is a victim of ALS.

PERSONAL MENTION

Nina Layman of Aurora was a patient until Thursday of last week in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, a victim of an acute stomach-intestinal flu. Also, reportedly quite ill at their homes in Eglon were Lois Layman and Jessie Winters, who suffered from the same complaint.

Ruth Allman of Eglon was admitted Thursday evening to Garrett Memorial Hospital for treatment of bronchitis.

Mildred Wilt, former Eglon resident now staying in the Keiser Personal Care Home in Oakland, was admitted Thursday evening to Garrett Memorial Hospital after suffering a stroke.

Mrs. Wilt's brother, Harold Harsh of Stemple Ridge, was admitted Friday morning to Garrett Memorial for further treatment of his heart condition.

Eugene and Bernadine Bachtel, Eglon, and Grace and Clifton Bachtel, Horse Shoe Run, accompanied a bus tour to Washington, D.C., last week prior to their visit in Riva, Md., for their mother's birthday.

Mrs. Dorothea Forman of Amboy has been recuperating at her home after experiencing a painful leg problem.

Hancell and Mildred Teets returned last week to their home near Amboy after spending the winter months in their Winston-Salem, N.C., home.

Peggy Cramer and her children of Charleston were visitors last week with her father and step-mother, Dale and Mildred Stemple, Aurora. Her sister, Sandra Stemple, was a weekend visitor here. All have now returned to Charleston.

Mary and Alan Teets of Springfield, Va., were weekend visitors here with Jerry and Barbara Hauser of Eglon-Red House and with Mrs. Teets's parents, Homer and Marguerite Myers, Aurora.

Linda and Dan Liston of Farmington visited with her father, Harold Harsh, and at their Stemple Ridge home this weekend.

Connie Fish and her three children were last week visitors with her parents, Adrain and Pat Stemple, Aurora. The Stemples spent the week prior to Easter at Hunters Island, South Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Myers of Marlinton were weekend visitors with his mother, Iris Myers, Aurora.

Tucker High students Tom Teets and Tim Harsh of Eglon, Amanda Teets, Horse Shoe Run, and their mothers, Mary Harsh, LaDeana Teets, and Karen Teets, returned Friday night from a tour which took them to France, Italy and Switzerland.

Mrs. Josephine (Abernathy) Sell, daughter of the late Arthur and Ida Abernathy of Aurora, will be celebrating her 81st birthday on May 5. Mrs. Sell is presently living in Lancaster, Ohio, with her daughter, having given up her apartment in Philippi because of failing eyesight. The family is asking that she be remembered by cards and letters providing information concerning your family. She may be addressed at: 1522 Lynn Drive, Lancaster, Ohio 43130, c/o Dan Cassidy.

ACCIDENT

On Monday, April 7, the town meeting was held. Bids were received for paving South Street. The bid was awarded to Keystone Paving.

- The town tax rate was set at $5.8 per $100.
- A letter had been sent to request Project Open Space funding for town park equipment.
- Two building permits were approved for residential improvements.
- The council reviewed the town ordinance on dogs. Dogs are to be kept on leashes at all times. There has been an increase in the number of complaints received at town hall of disturbances caused by dogs barking.
- There was a discussion of revision of the maintenance schedule for the treatment plant and the water buildings.

The next meeting will be held Monday, May 5, 7:30 p.m.

FRIENDSVILLE

The town meeting was held Monday, April 7. The following items and issues were handled.

- A representative from the Garrett County Sanitary District told the council that a grant-funded project to correct problems in sewer mains and laterals will begin May 1.
- Announcement was made that the town will begin repair of the sidewalks.
- The town has applied for an open burning permit for a large brush pile in the community park.
- There was discussion about the "Welcome to Friendsville" sign. The town will install lighting on the sign.
- Town equipment was discussed. There is a need for a riding mower and a truck. A committee will get together the specifications for the equipment so that action can be taken soon.
- At the next town meeting, April 15, Rodney Glogfely, director of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, will address the council and mayor on the possibility of Friendsville beginning a recycling effort within the municipality.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, April 15, 7:30 p.m.

GRANTSVILLE

Grantville town meetings are now scheduled twice each month on the first and third Monday. A meeting was held on Monday, April 7.

- The proposed budget for the coming year was reviewed and some amendments made.
- The tax rate was set at $4.6 for the general tax and $2.5 for the ad valorem or sinking fund tax per $100.
- Bids were taken for the contract for town trash removal. Bids were submitted by Deep Creek Refuse and Perry's Solid Waste Disposal. The contract was awarded to Perry's.
- The town officials proclaimed the week of April 21-25 as Maryland Municipal Government Week. All residents of Grantville will be urged to visit the new town office, which underwent renovation within the last year.
- There was discussion about the town elections, which are scheduled for May 13. Five council seats and mayor will be open. April 14 has been set as the last day for any interested person to submit a name to be listed on the ballot as a candidate.

The next meeting will be held Monday, April 21, 7 p.m.

LOCH LYNN

Monday, April 7, the mayor and town council met and addressed the following issues.

- The town is getting a new skid loader with a backhoe.
- Community Action has moved in the construction equipment to begin the new housing units that will later be annexed by Loch Lynn and included in the town sewage system.
- There was discussion of street repairs and the schedule for accomplishing them.

The next meeting will be held Monday, May 5, 7:30 p.m.

OAKLAND

A meeting was held Monday, April 7. The following business was accomplished.

- Re-elected council members Art Naylor, Jay Moyer, and Willard Ringer were sworn into office.

- The contract for the town auditor was announced. Rodeheaver and Associates will continue to provide that service.

- There was discussion of the revision of the town's zoning ordinance. A hearing will be announced at a later date.

- It was announced that the number of zoning and building permits being requested at this time reflects a growing economy.

- Broadford Lake Park will open April 15.
- The town continues to work on developing a personnel policy.

- Wednesday there will be a clean-up at Broadford Lake.

- Two proclamations were made:

1. Recognition of Maryland Municipal Government Month

2. Fair Housing Month

- Upgrading of sidewalks continues in accordance with the town revitalization plan. The Coca Cola company is installing a brick sidewalk in front of its building.

- The state is installing a new traffic signal in front of Sheetz. It should reduce the number of utility poles and wires in that intersection.

- The following information was released on town building and zoning permits:

As of April 1, building and zoning permits for the town of Oakland are administered by the municipal government, through City Hall, rather than by Garrett County Planning and Zoning Office.

Anyone who is going to construct anything on the outside of a house or on property in Oakland must obtain a permit 30 days prior to beginning the project. Examples of items covered by zoning regulations are houses, additions, porches, garages, carports, decks, patios, fences, walls, outbuildings, woodsheds, antennas, and signs. Any change in the use of property may require a permit.

The fee for a regular permit is $25.

If a proposed project should require a request for a special exception, variance, or interpretation, a separate permit fee of $250 will also be charged.

A permit requesting a map change costs $500. Payment of any of these fees does not guarantee approval of the permit.

The next meeting will be held May 5 at 7 p.m.

Commissioners To Support GCSO's Domestic Violence Grant Pursuit

The Garrett County Commissioners this week agreed to provide $2,000 toward the development of a program within the Garrett County Sheriff's Office that is to help lessen domestic violence in the area. Cpl. Larry Gnegy addressed the board of commissioners and presented the specifics of the grant currently being sought.

Gnegy explained that domestic violence is a serious problem in Garrett County, noting that 291 restraining orders were issued last year.

"In the past two years, two women in Garrett County have been murdered as a result of domestic violence, as have two women in Allegany County," Gnegy said. "We can only serve an ex parte (restraining) order and then that's all that is done until a hearing. We need someone to follow through on these things, to gather evidence and keep in contact with the victim."

The grant the sheriff's office is attempting to obtain is from the Governor's Office of Crime Control and Prevention and is titled

"S*T*A*P* (Services, Training, Officers, Prosecutors) Violence Against Women." Should the grant be awarded, the office would receive approximately $87,000, Gnegy said. That figure includes 25% local matching money or in-kind services.

"We have already secured about $18,000 through in-kind services," Gnegy said. "This is through donated office space as well as volunteer services from the Domestic Violence Prevention Resource Center."

The grant would fund a salary for one person to serve as a victim advocate and investigator, Gnegy said.

"Because of staff size, we are limited as to what kind of follow-up we can provide. Probably 40% of these domestic violence cases don't even make it to court. This person will fill that gap."

"It would be best if the position were held by a female because it is true that a woman can obtain more accurate and detailed information from a victim than a man can," Gnegy said.

Also to be funded will be a vehicle to be marked and used as a "Domestic Violence Unit."

"This can be a very effective tool," the corporal said. "It not only educates the public simply by being a visible sign of the work being done, but it also can have a great effect when it is pulled into a driveway to

HONORED FOR COMMITMENT - Members of Student Elimination of Tobacco Among Minors (STEAM) and the Pandora's Box teen health theater were recognized recently for their commitment to providing service-learning hours through Garrett County Health Department programs and organizations. a home where there is a problem."

A voice stress analyzer is to be purchased. While it works under the same principle as a polygraph (lie detector) test, the voice stress analyzer is apparently far more accurate and can be used as evidence in court proceedings, Gnegy said.

A video camera and Polaroid cameras will also be bought with the grant monies to be used in the gathering of evidence.

"We will also develop our Defensive Tactics Program for women. We have already taught the program to some women's groups and it has been met with a positive response. We would like to continue to develop the program and try to reach more women in the area," Gnegy said.

The commissioners all voiced concern over the fact that the grant is for just one year.

"What happens at the end of the year when there is no money left to pay that new person?" Commissioner Wayne Wilt asked.

"The person will have to be aware that the position may be temporary. We will be up front about that, of course," Gnegy said.

"Will we be able to keep the equipment purchased?" Commissioner John Braskey asked, and Gnegy said that it would indeed be the property of the sheriff's office.

"It's vital that the person hired knows it may be for just one year," said Chairman Roger Glogfely. "As long as that's understood, it sounds like a worthwhile project to me."

Braskey moved that the commissioners agree to provide the $2,000, and the motion passed unanimously. The grant application is due April 17, Gnegy said, and the office is working to meet that date.

"Investing In Our Future" Is Theme Of Public Health Week

Although 65 is sometimes thought of as the age for retirement, the Garrett County Health Department, which has provided public health services for 65 years, is showing few signs of slowing down. This week (April 7-13) the health department is participating in a national celebration of Public Health Week, emphasizing the importance of public health in people's lives. The theme for the week is "Investing in Our Future."

In such prevention areas as alcohol and drug use, cardiovascular disease, tobacco use, unintentional injury, and teenage pregnancy/sexually transmitted diseases, the health department facilitates partnerships with numerous agencies, helping people to work together toward healthier communities.

The focus of the theme of the third annual Public Health Week is on youth, from infancy through high school, and the health department promotes this theme through a variety of collaborative efforts with the community.

The Women, Infants, and Children supplemental food program (WIC) is a prime example of a program that invests in the future, according to a health department spokesman. WIC provides assistance to young families during the critical development years. Partnerships with other agencies and with physicians are important to the success of the WIC, the spokesman said.

Pre-schoolers benefit from dental screenings through a partnership between the health department and the county's Head Start program. Children of all ages attend the Farm Safety Day Camp, a collaborative effort between the health department and the Garrett County Farm Bu-

Meanwhile, partnerships with the Board of Education provide numerous health benefits for school-aged children and teenagers, the spokesman said. These partnerships include classroom work in the third-grade nutrition curriculum and ninth-grade health curriculum; advisory work on the Teen Pregnancy Prevention Coalition and for Drug-Free Schools; and special programs such as dental screenings, a highway safety fair, and the American Corps-based mentoring and after-school programs.

Through Pandora's Box, which is another American Corps-based program, and STEAM, high school students can begin to assume some responsibility for Garrett County's future, the spokesman explained. STEAM focuses on community awareness of the dangers in youth access to tobacco, while Pandora's Box uses theater to address a variety of youth health topics.

"These programs reflect the importance of young people themselves addressing the issues that will impact the health of their generation," the spokesman said. "At the same time, the programs illustrate the health department's commitment to 'investing in our future' even beyond looking after the immediate health of Garrett County children. By giving young people the skills and motivation to take responsibility for their own health and the health of their peers, the health department can ensure that its investment in our future will be a profitable one."

When Someone You Love Requires Skilled Nursing Care—Pick the Right Place to get the Right Care!

Ask the Right Questions:

Hospital stays are becoming shorter and patients are being discharged faster. But some patients, especially the elderly, are not well enough to go home. They require continued care or therapy. Placement after a hospital stay becomes a very critical concern for families trying to do the right thing. They must pick the right place to get the right care!

Unfortunately, many families don't know what to look for and don't ask the right questions. They mistakenly believe that an Assisted-Living or Residential Care Facility can provide the necessary skilled nursing services. The fact is they can't. They don't have the experience, expertise or staff. They are not licensed by the state to provide that level of care. So if you have a loved one that will be discharged from a hospital, ask the right questions. One - Is the facility Medicare certified? If it is, then it can provide the skilled nursing care your loved one requires. Two - What does the license say? If the facility is licensed only to provide supportive care, it is not the right place!

Pick the Right Place:

Cuppitt Management Company owns and operates two outstanding Medicare certified nursing homes in Oakland. Both facilities are able to provide skilled nursing care on a daily basis. Both facilities offer extensive rehabilitation programs. At either location your loved one will receive not only high quality medical and nursing care but superior service as well.

Resident and family satisfaction have always been important to us. Friendly, attentive service is not an "extra-job," it's simply what we do. Family involvement is welcomed and encouraged at our regularly scheduled care planning conferences.

So if someone you love requires skilled nursing care, make sure you pick the right place. That would be either Cuppitt and Weeks Skilled Nursing and Rehabilitation Center or Dennett Road Manor in Oakland. They have the experience and expertise to give the right kind of care!

Jeremy McKenzie, who placed sixth in the 110 high hurdles. Below, Heidi Pierce completes her leg of the girls' 4-by-200 relay and hands the baton off to Karena Layman. The Huskies will compete again next Tuesday in a tri-meet at Southern.

JUMPING OVER BARS or hurdles are among the events in a track and field meet, and that spring season got underway for Southern High School on Saturday at a 10-team invitational at Boonsboro High School. Above, Southern's Christy Hoalcraft (right) edges her challenger in the 100 high hurdles, and below, Liz Paesani just clears the bar in the high jump. In another meet on Tuesday at Keyser, Hoalcraft won the 100 hurdles and Paesani placed fourth in the high jump. The Rams will compete again this afternoon in a meet at Preston County and then host meets next Tuesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. both days.

Rams, Huskies Open Track, Field Season At Boonsboro

The Southern and Northern high school track and field teams opened their 1997 seasons Saturday by participating in the first Dwight Scott Invitational at Boonsboro. The competition was tough, as the event featured 10 teams from Class 1A, 2A, and 3A schools.

The best team finish for Garrett County was fifth place by the Southern boys' team, which was spearheaded by senior Jared Beckman who won the high jump and placed second in the triple jump. The Rams amassed 22 team points.

Beckman's winning high jump was 6 feet, 2 inches.

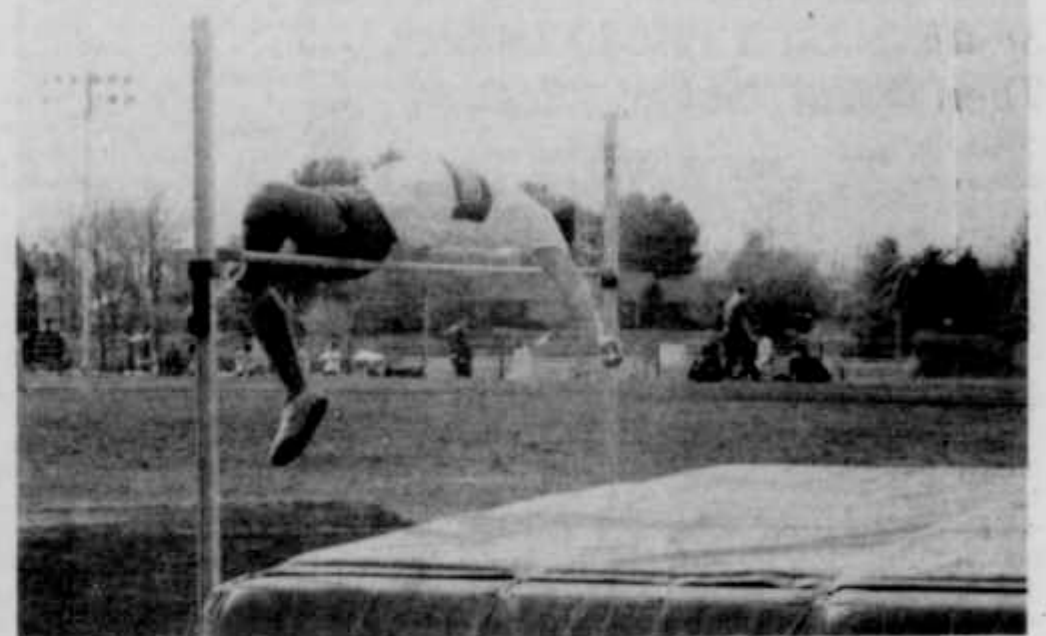

Boonsboro with 57, Southern and Linganore both with 22, South Hagerstown with 12, and Northern and Urbana with four each.

The Southern girls' team placed ninth with 20 team points and the Northern girls were 10th. Leading the Rams' effort were Lauren Newcomb, who placed second in the triple jump, Amy Snyder, who finished third in the 400-meter dash, and Angie Sincell, who was sixth in the 3,200-meter (two-mile) run.

Southern relay teams won fourth in the 4X400 and sixth in the 4X800 events.

Frederick won the girls' competition with 136 team points. Linganore was second with 92.5, followed by Urbana with 79, Thomas Johnson with 60, Boonsboro with 50, South Hagerstown with 45, Middletown with 39.5, Fort Hill with 36, and Southern.

The Southern Rams, coached by Steve Cosner (boys) and Katie Kane (girls), competed in their second meet of the season at Keyser on Tuesday against the Golden Tornado and Tucker County Mountain Lions (see separate story for results).

4X400, Angie Sincell, Newcomb, and McBee on the 4X800, and Toni Sullivan, Jody Bowser, and Crystal Hinnant on the shuttle relay team.

Sullivan also placed second in the 100 hurdles and McBee was second in the 800 run. The Southern 4X200 relay team also placed second.

Garnering third places for the Rams were Newcomb in the 1,600 run, Cannon in the discus, Becca Gangler in the shot put, Michelle Teier in the long jump, and Sullivan in the high jump.

Meghan Conroy won fourth in the 400 run, Devon McClive was fourth in the 3,200 run, and Liz Paesani placed fourth in high jump.

Senior jumper Jared Beckman led the Rams with a first place finish in the high jump (6 feet) and was second in the long jump. Eric Rexrode won the 1,600 run.

Taking second places were Dan Sincell in the 1,600 run, Shawn Conroy in the 3,200 run, John Franca in the high jump, and the Southern 4X100 and 4X800 relay teams.

Casey McBee won third place in the 1,600 and 3,200 runs, and Rexrode was third in the 800 run, while Chad Lovett finished fourth in the 200 dash, Nathan Rickman was fourth in the 400 dash, and Corey Friend placed third in both the high jump and the 110 hurdles.

The Rams will compete

Ram Harriers Place Second In Tri-Meet At Keyser

After opening their season at a 10-team invitational in Boonsboro on Saturday (see separate story), the Southern High School boys' and girls' track and field teams competed in a tri-meet Tuesday afternoon hosted by Keyser.

The Southern girls placed second as a team with 68 points. Keyser won with 86 and Tucker County finished third with 19 points. The Southern boys tied for second place with Tucker County, as each finished with 38 points.

Both Keyser teams are undefeated so far in the young season. The Hoalcraft sisters, Christy and Erin, led the Southern girls' efforts, as Christy, a senior, placed first in the 100-meter hurdles with a time of 17.5 seconds, was a member of the winning 4X400 and shuttle relay teams, and placed second in the 300 hurdles. Erin Hoalcraft, a freshman, won a first place in the 3,200-meter (two-mile run), was a member of the winning 4X800 relay team, and finished second in the 1,600-meter run.

Also earning first places for the Rams were Amy Snyder in the 1,600 run (6:12) and Keri Cannon in the shot put with a throw of 29 feet, five inches. The other members of the winning relay teams were Kaitlyn McBee, Lauren Newcomb, and Snyder on the

NHS Girls Stung By Hornets, But Then Upset Fort Hill

The girls' softball team of Northern High School played a pair of games this past week, falling to visiting Hyndman on Monday, 10-3, in an error-ridden contest and then recording a big 7-4 Western Maryland Interscholastic League win over previously unbeaten Fort Hill on Tuesday, also at Northern. The split left the Huskies with a 3-4 overall mark and a 3-1 standing in the WMIL.

The Huskies and the Hyndman Hornets each finished with just five hits in Monday's game, but the Hornets took full advantage of the Huskies' 10 errors. It was the first time in 10 days that the Huskies had played.

Kristin Heslop led the Huskies at the plate with a triple and a single, Brooke Brenneman had two singles, and Kista Knotts contributed at single.

Leading the Hornets' offense was Amy Bennett,

Southern Girls Fall To Indians, Then Defeat Tucker, Allegany

After dropping an 11-7 decision to host Mount Savage on Saturday, the Southern High Rams upped their record to 4-4 this week with a 19-5 thrashing of visiting Tucker County on Monday and a 17-13 defeat of Allegany, also in Oakland, on Tuesday.

The Rams out-hit the Indians of Mount Savage by a 12-7 margin and, after being down 11-1, rallied for six runs in the fifth and sixth frames, but it was not enough.

Jennifer Teagarden took the loss on the mound, while Stephanie Nolan earned the win for Mount Savage.

Brandy Stoner and Teagarden combined for a four-hitter against Tucker County on Monday, as the Mountain Lions' only extra-base hit was a double by Amber Barnes. The winning duo struck out 10 and walked 10 to earn the win over Kelly Knotts.

Stoner aided her own cause at the plate with a pair of doubles, while Amanda Reese doubled twice and singled and Autumn Newcomb recorded three singles. The Rams finished with 18 hits.

It was Tucker County's opening game of the season.

Stoner, who missed Southern's first five games with a broken jaw, picked up her second win in two days on the mound Tuesday, as she tossed the first five innings. Teagarden took over in the sixth.

After the Campers went up 2-0 in the top of the first, Southern seized the lead for good in the bottom of that frame by scoring seven runs. They added five more in the second to take a commanding 12-3 lead and, although the Campers scored in every inning after the second, the Rams stopped a seventh inning rally to preserve their win.

The Rams' big first inning featured a bases-loaded triple by Teagarden. Stoner had a double and a single, Erin Shaffer finished with two singles, and Kristina Hardesty added a two-run double.

Leading Allegany's seven-hit effort were Kelly Keith with a double and a single, Kim Twigg with two singles, and Stacy Walton with a triple.

The loss dropped Allegany to 3-3 overall and 2-3 in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League standings.

Coach Dave Bosley's Rams were slated to play their third game in as many days yesterday at home against Preston County, but a late winter snowfall postponed that outing. They are scheduled to host Beall next Tuesday and entertain Westmar next Thursday.

A HUGE WIN was recorded Tuesday by the Northern girls' softball team, as the Huskies defeated previously unbeaten Fort Hill at the Cove, 7-4. Northern's Brooke Brenneman is pictured above recording one of only two hits by the Huskies in the contest, as the Fort Hill pitchers allowed 15 walks and the Sentinel defense committed eight errors. The win gave the Huskies a 3-1 record in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League standings.

Jenny Thomas went the distance for the Huskies in their win over the Fort Hill Sentinels, who came to Accident with a 6-0 record. Thomas struck out just one batter, but walked only one.

Northern won the game despite finishing with only two hits - singles by Brenneman and Shannon Powell. But the Huskies also drew 15 walks and took advantage of eight Sentinel errors to score their seven runs.

Amber Waltz and Carrie

Liller had the only extra-base hits for Fort Hill, as each rapped a double.

The Huskies are slated to host Flintstone this afternoon and travel to Westmar next Wednesday.

Northern Girls Whip Frankfort On The Courts

The Northern High girls' tennis team recorded a 6-1 victory this week over visiting Frankfort by winning all five singles matches and one doubles match.

Jamie Jo Vent, Glenda DeWitt, Kathy Arnold, Anika Weth, and Lori Arnold were all singles winners for the Huskies. The doubles team of Abby Bruch and Danielle Polk was also victorious.

In exhibition play, Northern's doubles teams of Katie Sisler and Amanda Downton, and Amber Folk and Tonya Wilkens also won matches.

The Northern girls are slated to host Fort Hill this Friday and entertain Allegany on Monday.

Husky Jayvees Edge Tornado, Fall To Alco

After trailing 7-0 to Keyser, the Northern High junior varsity baseball team rallied for nine runs in the top of the third inning and went on to record a 13-10 win at Keyser last Thursday.

Matt Settle was the winning pitcher and also led the Northern offense with three hits and two RBI. Adam Brenneman doubled and singled, while Ryan Butler and Jed Wilhelm each drove in a pair of runs.

Pacing Keyser was Tony Haywood with two doubles and two RBI, while Jayme Brafford finished with a double and a single, and Adam Ellifritz and Thad Burner each recorded two RBI.

The Huskies were defeated 10-0 by host Allegany on Tuesday, but no details of that game were received.

Rickman, Brenneman Vie In National Wrestling Tourney

Two local outstanding high school wrestlers were among 676 of the nation's top grapplers who competed in the National High School Wrestling Championships this past weekend at the A.J. Palumbo Center in Pittsburgh.

Nathan Rickman, a senior at Southern High School, and Cody Brenneman, a senior at Northern High, qualified to participate in the event because of their second-place finishes in the recent Maryland State High School Championships. Rickman wrestled in the 145-pound division, while Brenneman competed in the 160-pound division. Only state champions and state runners-up qualified to participate.

Among those in the tournament were eight four-time state champions, 28 three-time state champions, and 187 two-time state champions. Maryland had 25 participants, three of whom earned All-American status by finishing among the top eight in their weight class.

Brenneman, who is one of the top grapplers to ever wear a Husky uniform, first met Jose Ruaro, the California state champion in the 160-pound division, Ruaro won by decision, 10-3.

Brenneman's second opponent in the double-elimination tournament was Luke Lyman, the Utah state champion, who pinned Brenneman and thus eliminated him from the tournament. There were 51 entries in the 160-pound division.

Rickman, who was one of 53 entries in the 145-pound division, faced New York state champion Nick Bennett in his first match and pinned Bennett at the 3:35 mark.

Rickman then faced two-time Virginia state champion Beau Baker and proceeded to decision him by a 6-0 score.

His next opponent was four-time Kentucky champion Joseph Carr, nephew of Olympic champion and national champion Nate Carr. Carr was unable to pin Rickman, but recorded an 8-1 decision to give the Southern Ram his first defeat in the tourney.

Rickman then had to face highly touted Kelly Miller, the California state champion. After being behind in points, Rickman rallied to earn an exciting 4-3 decision.

Rickman was finally pinned in his next match by Tim Glover of Illinois; however, his performance at the tourney placed him among the top 16 high school wrestlers in his weight class in the nation.

"These two young men are a credit to the sport of wrestling," stated Southern High coach and Northern High graduate Kurt Lear. "Both are going on to college where they plan to continue wrestling."

Lear noted that Rickman and Brenneman both started wrestling as youngsters in the local youth programs "and they have met enormous goals in the sport since then."

"So they are also a real credit to the youth and school wrestling programs, to their county, and to their state," Lear added. "To become one of the best, like these two are, it takes years of hard work and dedication. I wish each of them the best of luck in the future."

Rickman is a son of Jack and Norma Rickman, Oakland, and Brenneman is the son of Lynn and Donna Brenneman, Grantsville. The pair wrestled against each other twice this past season, with each of them coming away with a win.

COUNTY REPRESENTED AT NATIONALS - Garrett County was represented in the National High School Wrestling Championships, held this past weekend in Pittsburgh. Cody Brenneman of Northern High School and Nathan Rickman of Southern High each qualified for the event by finishing as runners-up in their respective weight classes in the Maryland state high school tournament. Brenneman, who competed in the 160-pound division, is pictured above right battling California state champion Jose Ruaro. Brenneman lost by a 10-3 decision and was later eliminated from the tournament when he lost to Utah state champion Luke Lyman. Rickman, pictured below in the 145-pound division, defeated Baker by decision, 6-0, pinned New York state champion Nick Bennett, and edged California state champion Kelly Miller, 4-3. One of his two losses was a decision by four-time Kentucky state champion Joseph Carr, nephew of Olympic and national champion Nate Carr. See story for details.

Lear also noted his appreciation to Doug McClive of McClive's Restaurant and Mark Ruhe and Mark Hucak of the Wisp Resort Hotel for hosting/sponsoring a fund-raising dinner to help finance the cost of participating in the national tournament.

Pair Of Local Youth Qualify For Nationals

Two members of the Southern Mat Club youth wrestling team qualified for the Eastern National Wrestling Tournament, to be held next weekend at Millersville University in Millersville, Pa. Six-year-old Nick Tressler and 7-year-old Justin Ratliff both placed second in the Eastern Regional Finals, held at State College, Pa., which made them eligible for the National tournament. "I'm so proud of the kids," commented Coach Buck Miller. "Qualifying for Nationals is an accomplishment they will remember for the rest of their lives."

The Eastern Regional Tournament was held Saturday and Sunday and showcased over 1,200 of the best wrestlers from seven states. The Southern Mat Club entered 14 wrestlers and, although they all performed well, only Tressler and Ratliff were able to finish in the top three. "The competition was incredible," said Coach Dave Taylor. "It is a great accomplishment for these local kids to compete at this level. We went up against defending national and regional champions and did very well. Every kid on our team can hold his head up high, knowing that he competed strongly against some of the best wrestlers in the country."

Competing for Southern were Tressler and Ratliff in the Bantam division; David Ratliff, Scott Wildesen, Nathan Sines, and Nathan Harris in the Midget division; Chris Hayhurst, Josh Harris, and Jason Weeks in the Junior division; Geoff Tressler, Shawn Shiffert, and Nick Sines as Intermediates; and John Hayhurst and Jeremy Hayhurst in the Advanced division.

The club held its annual awards banquet on March 23. At this event, three team members were awarded the Coaches' Trophies for outstanding performance. Winning these awards this season were Daniel Carr, a first-year wrestler, Justin Ratliff, who had a successful season which included his recent qualification for the Nationals, and Scott Wildesen, who recorded 49 wins this season.

Also at the banquet, the club said farewell to three long time members. Nick Sines, Jeremy Hayhurst, and John Hayhurst will be entering high school next year and have finished their careers with the mat club. As is customary, each of these wrestlers was given a plaque with his name on it to hang in the high school, denoting that they are varsity wrestlers. "These three

Railey Winner Of April Fool 5-K Waffle Run

Jimmy Railey, McHenry, captured first place in the annual April Fool's 5-Kilometer Waffle Run, sponsored by the Queen City Striders and held Saturday in McHenry along Marsh Hill Road and the Wisp.

Railey topped Cumberland's Jeff Smith, former winner of the Marine Corps Marathon, with a time of 17:53, as Smith crossed the finish in 18:02. Railey's time was just 30 seconds off the course record.

The first female racer to finish was Maureen Hall, Cumberland, who placed fifth overall with her time of 19:18.

The oldest racer was Dick Good of Accident, 67, who placed 17th overall with a time of 25:43 for the 3.1-mile out-and-back course.

Held with the 5-K run was a one-mile walk, finished first by Mikie Kozier in 17 minutes, nine seconds.

All finishers of the run and walk were treated to a full waffle breakfast at the Wisp.

Thank You

On March 25, 1997, we suffered the loss of our beloved husband, father and grandfather, G. Hubert Glatfelter. To know that he is now at peace, free from pain, with the Lord he served so faithfully comforts us.

We would like you all to know how grateful we are for your concern, love, prayers and support during the illness of our loved one. We want to thank our friends, relatives, and neighbors who offered kind words, cards, food, visits, calls, flowers, monetary memorials, and for just being there for us. For the special care and concern Dr. Walter Naumann offered, along with the 3rd floor units of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and also the remarkable Hospice unit, we are so grateful. We wish to thank the McHenry Fire Dept. and Northern Deacon Squad for their patience and kind care given. Rev. Sam Wachter for his loving and kind tribute given at the service and the care for both Hubert and the family, organist Marion Glatfelter, pianist Tracey Miller, and Acoustic Diamond Schuck, who did a beautiful job at the service; and Newman Funeral Home, Lynn, Carole and employees for their love, kindness and professional care. A special thanks to the ladies of McHenry United Methodist Church for preparing and serving the delicious meal. To the American Legion Accident Post 308 for serving as pallbearers and Oakland Post 71 for the heartwarming military service given. To all of you who came to comfort us in any way whether it was a hug, kind word or to wipe away a tear, you will always have a special place in our hearts.

God Bless You All

Bowl For Kids' Sake Is Most Successful Ever

The eighth annual Bowl for Kids' Sake for Big Brothers/Big Sisters was held on April 5 and has been deemed "the most successful ever," according to Linda Stephens, event spokesperson.

"Bowlers young and old from all over the area pitched in and gave their best performance," said Stephens.

The event drew over 300 bowlers and the goal of $25,000 was met. "The staff and local board of management are so grateful for the overwhelming support exhibited," said Donna Cumerlato, director of community relations. "Truly the community has caught the vision of how vital this program is to the youth of Garrett County."

Of the 43 corporate sponsors of the event, 30 entered teams in the Corporate Sponsor Tournament, held at the same time as Bowl for Kids' Sake at Par-Matt Lanes. The team representing Par-Matt captured first place this year with a scratch score of 753. Team members were Hugh Schrier, Red Guthrie, Tim Chapman, and Gary Friend. These bowlers will receive a dinner at the local restaurant of their choice, Stephens said. The team from the Eiks Lodge came in second with a score of 693.

Pledge bowlers are reminded to bring in their pledges on Saturday, April 19, between 1 and 4 p.m. Prizes and T-shirts will be available at that time.

Bowl for Kids' Sake is the major fund-raiser for the local chapter of Big Brothers/Big Sisters. All monies to run the program are raised locally, as the program does not receive any federal or state funding. Over 80 children living in Garrett County have been served by the organization, which was initiated seven years ago.

The money raised this year will support the 25 "running" matches of adults with youth, and will also support the two new matches to be made in May. It will also sustain quality screening techniques with new applications for service.

For more information on the services offered by the local branch, persons may contact the office at 334-3591.

Huskies Sweep Mapletown, Then Knock Off Allegany

It's been a good week on the baseball diamond for the Northern High varsity baseball team and fans, as the Huskies swept a pair of games from visiting Mapletown on Saturday, 7-2 and 11-1, to set the stage for an exciting 16-15 victory over Allegany on Monday, also at the Cove. The three wins upped the Huskies' mark to 4-5 overall and 1-3 in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League standings.

Jeremy Reed went the distance for the Huskies in game one against Mapletown, as he finished with a five-hitter and struck out four to record his first win of the year.

Leading the Huskies' nine-hit effort were Chris Herman with a double and a single, Zach Rawe with two singles and two RBI, and Herman Arndt with a run-producing double.

The Huskies went into the fourth inning with a 3-2 advantage and then scored four runs in that frame, as E.J. Scofield led off with a walk, Herman and Adam Bach followed with singles and, after a walk to Arndt, three more Huskies came home on an overthrow of first base. Those were to be the final runs of the game, as Reed got some relief from Zach Leverenz in the sixth inning.

Mapletown had a brief 1-0 lead, but the Huskies scored five runs in the bottom of the first to take the lead for good.

Arndt led off the bottom of the first with a single and, after a sacrifice bunt, Leverenz, Scott Sisler, Herman, and Wilhelm all singled. Leverenz also had a bases-loaded, three-run double in the fifth inning to end the game. He finished with four RBI, while Arndt and Joey Wilhelm each singled twice.

Monday's WMIL encounter with Allegany was one of the most exciting contests played on the Husky diamond in some time, as Northern trailed 10-3 going into the bottom of the fourth inning and was down 12-6 going into the bottom of the fifth. But that's when the Huskies erupted for eight runs to take a 14-12 advantage.

It was a home run by Alco's Jason Simmons in the top of the fifth that gave the Campers a 12-6 lead.

The Huskies began their eight-run rally in the bottom of the fifth with Rawe, Sisler, and Herman all drawing walks and loading the bases. After two errors and a sacrifice that scored three runs, Arndt smacked an RBI single, Matt Fritz followed with a run-producing double, and Rawe, up for the second time, stroked a two-run single.

Allegany then rallied in the sixth when Mark Harbaugh hit an RBI double and Steve Kline added a run-producing single to give the Campers a 15-14 lead.

But the Huskies scored two in the bottom of the sixth to take the lead for good, as Adam Bach drew a walk, Scofield's sacrifice attempt resulted in a single, and, after a sacrifice bunt and a strike-out, Zack Leverenz hit what would be a game-winning, two-run double.

Fritz then took the mound for the Huskies and earned the win, as he picked off an Allegany runner for the first out of the seventh. Herman, Northern's catcher, threw out a base-runner trying to steal second for the final out of the game.

Fritz had a double, two singles, and three RBI to lead the Huskies' 11-hit effort, while Leverenz added a double and a single for two RBI. Sisler singled twice, and Rawe added his two-run single.

Leading the Campers' 14-hit performance was Jimmy Staples, who went four-for-four with a double and three singles. Harbaugh finished with a double and two singles for two RBI. Simmons had his two-run homer, and Breannon McFawn chipped in with a double.

The loss was Allegany's second in eight starts and first WMIL defeat. The Huskies were slated to host Fort Hill yesterday, but bad weather forced postponement of that game.

Ram Jayvees Sweep Beall

The junior varsity baseball team of Southern High School swept host Beall in a doubleheader Saturday, 14-3 and 15-2.

Chris Ewing had a home run and a single for the Rams in the first game, while Christian Warfield and Josh Bosley each singled twice. Bosley earned the win on the mound as he pitched the first five innings, struck out seven, and allowed just three hits. One of those hits was a homer by Dave Schrock.

Leading the Rams' offense in the second game were Nathan DiSimone, who homered and singled, and Jason Rohrbaugh with a triple and a single. Ewing also singled twice.

The Rams were scheduled to play another twinbill at Westminster Tuesday, but no results of that outing were received.

SWEET WESTMAR
The Southern Jayvees recorded two more wins on Tuesday by crushing Westminster, 11-1 and 17-1.

Chris Ewing fired a two-hitter and struck out seven in the first game, while Nathan DiSimone led the Rams' offense with three hits and four RBI.

Terry Rohrbaugh doubled for the Rams and Josh Bosley and Jason Hinebaugh each singled twice.

The only hits allowed by Ewing were singles by Jamie Clark and Shawn Mowbray. Zack Bittinger took the loss on the mound for the Wildcats.

DiSimone continued to pace the hitting in the second game, as he finished with a triple and two singles for four more RBI. Ewing had a double and a single and Bosley singled twice.

The Wildcats' offensive effort was led by Wayne Boal, who had a double and a single. David Ziler added a pair of singles and Terry Steele contributed a double.

The Rams will take their 4-0 record to Cumberland Friday to face Allegany.

Lakers Record Major Win Over Allegany To Ignite Streak

Putting it all together this week were the Garrett Community College Lakers, who recorded a huge 8-5 win over nationally ranked arch rival Allegany College last Thursday afternoon, and then used that momentum to crush host Butler on Friday, 23-3, and sweep a pair from visiting Frederick CC Tuesday, 10-4 and 12-2. The four wins improved the Lakers' record to 11-6.

The Trojans of Allegany College came to McHenry riding a 17-3 record, but Matt Bell pitched the first eight innings for the Lakers and received relief from J.D. Hawkins in the ninth to preserve the win.

Denny Rulli led the Lakers' eight-hit attack by smacking a two-run homer, a double, and a single. His two-run blast came in the seventh and gave the Lakers the lead for good. The Trojans rallied for a pair of runs in the top of the eighth, but GCC tacked on an insurance run in the bottom of the inning to complete the scoring.

Gene Sethman also had a good day at the plate for Garrett, as he tripled and doubled for two RBI. Mike Fiabane added a two-run single in the fourth.

Pacing Allegany were Mike Carter with three singles and an RBI and Jason Harrison with two hits and two RBI.

Ben Jones earned the Lakers' win Friday as he allowed just five hits and fanned 11 Butler batters, while Rulli again spearheaded the Garrett offense.

Rulli drove in five runs with a triple, a double, and single, and also scored three runs. Jeremy Fitzwater had two doubles and a single and scored three times, and Fiabane added three singles to the Laker total of 19 hits.

Pre-season All-American Brian Tingen led the Laker bats in Tuesday's double win over Frederick, as he hit tripled, doubled, and singled in the first game, and led off the second game with a home run.

The Lakers had a total of five home runs in the second game. Besides Tingen's round-tripper plus two singles, Rulli had a solo shot, Brian Hayes smacked a two-run blast in the first inning, Jeremy Miller had a solo homer in the second, and Sethman added a three-run blow in the fourth.

Earning the win on the mound was Hawkins, who allowed just two runs on five hits and struck out five.

Jason Riddle, who was benched in the first inning, was tagged with the loss.

The Lakers were slated to host Montgomery-Rockville yesterday, but the game was postponed because of weather conditions.

They are scheduled to host Butler CC on Friday, play a doubleheader at Baltimore City CC on Saturday, entertain Charles Community College in a twinbill on Sunday, and host Montgomery-Rockville next Tuesday in a single game.

The loss dropped the Mountaineers to 2-5 overall and 1-3 in the WMIL.

The Rams were to have played at Allegany yesterday, but the game was postponed because of foul weather. They are scheduled to host Preston County in a doubleheader this Saturday, with the first game slated to get underway at 2 p.m. The will entertain Fort Hill on Monday and travel to Westminster next Wednesday.

Uphold struck out 10 batters and allowed no walks in the contest, as he went the distance and scattered four singles.

They say time heals all sorrow and helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proven how much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength and courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you,
no one will ever know.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness,
our eyes shed many a tear.
God knows how much we miss and love you and wish that you were still here.

Ram Netters Split With Vikes, Before Being Swept By Alco

The tennis teams of Southern High School split a match with Petersburg on Friday in Moorefield, as the Southern boys won by a 5-1 margin and the Southern girls were defeated, 6-1. The Rams were then swept Monday in Cumberland by Allegany, 4-3 (boys) and 5-2 (girls).

In Friday's win over Petersburg, Brandon Ferguson, Melvin Rexrode, and Justin Stephens recorded singles victories for the Rams, while the doubles teams of Ferguson and Rexrode, and Todd Tasker and Bryan Paul were also victorious.

Alonso Indacochea won in singles to give the Vikings their only point of the afternoon.

In the girls' match, only undefeated Meghan Dabney won her singles contest for Southern. Singles winners for the Vikings were Clara Beard, Sara Kuhn, and Jamiah Musser.

Local Hoopsters Participate In All-Star Game

Seven Garrett County high school basketball players, five from Southern and two from Northern, were among the Maryland athletes who participated in the McDonald's/Frostburg Lions boys' and girls' All-Star Classic against teams of West Virginia all-stars. The games were played Monday evening at Frostburg State University.

The Maryland girls won their game, 64-58, while the West Virginia boys were victorious in the second contest, 96-88.

Girls from Southern High School who participated were Lauren Newcomb, Keri Cannon, and Meghan Dabney, while Mindy McCarty of Northern also participated. Dabney was the second leading scorer on the Maryland team with 18 points, McCarty scored 11, Cannon finished with eight, and Newcomb scored one point.

The Maryland team rallied from a 37-19 halftime deficit, as Dabney spearheaded a third quarter scoring surge with 11 of her 18 points.

Southern coach Bill Dignan was the head coach for the Maryland team and was assisted by Gary Newcomb, also of Southern.

Local players on the Maryland boys' team were Jared Beckman and Matt Ruff of Southern and Zach Leverenz of Northern. Leverenz finished with eight points, while Beckman and Ruff each netted six points.

In the Southern boys' loss to Allegany on Monday, Ferguson won his singles match over Alco's John Failing and Stephens was also a winner in singles for Southern. Ferguson and Rexrode then teamed up in doubles for the final Ram point.

Winning in singles for the Campers were Brett Siefers, Justin Carter, and Matt Stafford.

In the girls' competition, Dabney won again in singles and she and Meghan Mou captured a doubles win.

Annie Duffus, Erin Hohing, Natalie Hodges, and Brooke Friedenber were all singles winners for Allegany.

The victories gave both Camper teams a 3-0 record. The Rams are scheduled to play again this afternoon at home against Petersburg and host Bishop Walsh next Wednesday.

Habitat Names Honorary Chair Of Golf Event

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, Inc., has announced that Colonel Richard C. Browning has agreed to serve as the honorary chair of the Eighth Annual Golf Scramble to be held at the Wisp. Colonel Browning has lived in Garrett County for 74 years and has played in all of Habitat's golf tournaments. He started golfing in 1950 and had been a caddy, at Oakland, in the '30s.

The Eighth Annual Golf Scramble will be held Friday, May 30, with a shotgun start of 8:30 a.m. This year a player may register and play in all the contests and have a meal for $100.

Anyone wishing to stay at the Wisp on Thursday evening will receive the following special rates: Thursday, May 29, $39 for single or double occupancy, $49 for triple occupancy, and $59 for quadruple occupancy, plus an 8% tax.

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity builds houses for low income families who do not qualify for a conventional loan or government programs. Since 1983 Habitat has completed 31 new homes throughout the county. For additional information about Habitat or the Golf Tournament, persons may call 334-9431, ext. 113.

Edwards Pleased

year to work on it without hurting GCC at all," Edwards said.

With the acceptance of Governor Parris Glendening's supplemental budget plan, Garrett County will receive $1,798,000, which is about 437,000 more than the county would have received in the original budget, Edwards reported. This will provide $35,000 for aging school repair; $35,000 for the school Early Education Enhancement Program (EEEP); and $216,192 for a poverty grant, in addition to the funding for GCC.

As for the Smart Growth Initiative, which did pass, Edwards said he was satisfied with the amendments made to the original plan, which tended to overlook rural areas of the state.

"The Rural Caucus had a good effect on this proposal. We voiced our concerns and we were heard," Edwards said. "There were special exceptions added that addressed our concerns about industries such as recreation and mining, both of which have to locate where the resource is, not necessarily where the infrastructure exists."

Channel 1 Info

Though a three-year contract is required, Bell said, the school maintains the right to cancel the Channel 1 service at any time, should the administration decide it is not appropriate. Channel 1 can then remove the television sets.

Bell said she understands that a majority of the students must use the system daily to satisfy the terms of the contract. "The program needs to be used in conjunction with an optional room," she said. This would be a room designated for use by those students opposed to viewing Channel 1.

"Our SIT (School Improvement Team) has seen the videos. I would like to get the information out to many parents so they can see the videos. We have them here at the school and at the board office," she said. She has met with the teaching staff to address interests and concerns about the Channel 1 package.

Though some are concerned about the commercial aspect of the broadcasts, others, Bell said, see an opportunity to use the commercials as a vehicle for instruction. By looking at advertising as a form of communication, the students can learn to analyze the message and become more critical consumers, some teachers suggested.

The information presented by Bell sparked discussion among board members on perceived advantages and disadvantages of Channel 1 access at Southern High.

According to Dale Carpenter, board president, the members of the board want the public to be fully aware of how the system will work and what the students will be viewing.

A vote to approve or disapprove the installation of Channel 1 at SHS will occur at a future school board meeting.

Bills that would allow for funding certain projects and facilities were passed: HB 1256 (cross-filed with SB 830), which basically changes the wording in a contract with the state for the funding of the Glendale Bridge project (Edwards said the change was minor but important, as state money was being used, basically, to pay off other state money), and HB 1255 (cross-filed with SB 833), which has to do with adjusting bonds for Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The commissioners' request to release the county attorney from representing the Garrett County Sheriff passed in the form of SB 442. The bill was requested to precede any problems in the event of a legal conflict arising between the commissioners and the sheriff.

House Bill 453, which allows for the modification of membership of the Deep Creek Lake Advisory and Review Committee, passed in early April. The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, or its successor, will take the place on the committee of the former Deep Creek Lake Business Association.

Chamber of Commerce President David Moe attended the Garrett County Commissioners' meeting Tuesday to express gratitude to the elected officials for working to achieve the improvements for the county.

"I appreciate your professionalism and your dedication," Moe said. The commissioners in turn thanked him for his work with the Chamber as well as with the GCDC.

"I also would like to commend George Edwards," Moe added. "He was working up to the last minute Monday. He really went the extra mile for this county."

Further detailed information on the General Assembly results will be published.

The Spirit Of the American Woman Captured In Unique MFWC Quilts

by Mary Sincell McEwen

With a simple quilt square "mini-kit" and the suggestion of honoring notable Maryland women, the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs (MFWC) has created two large, colorful, and unique quilts which will be taken to the MFWC convention this month in Baltimore. The creations honor women from all walks of life, from all moments in time. They honor those women who have given of themselves to make life better for others, whether it be in small Maryland towns or in the entire country or world.

The quilts will be transported from the Baltimore convention to Phoenix, Ariz., where they will be displayed during the national convention. The MFWC then will take the works on tour throughout Maryland.

MFWC President Barbara Peck chose for her 1996-98 theme "An American Celebration: Sacrifice, Service, Spirit." Oakland Women's Civic Club members Roberta (Bobby) Andersen and Martha Jachowski served as co-chairs of the quilting project, which fell into Mrs. Peck's theme under the subheading "Spirit of the American Woman."

In the MFWC's interim report, Jachowski and Andersen stated that they wished to develop an activity that would involve all 83 Maryland clubs; thus, the quilt theme was born. Mini-kits (containing a blank white quilt square, some sample materials of the theme colors red, white, and blue) and simple instructions were sent to each club president. The clubs were asked to select a woman, a group of women, or a related theme, and create a square that would depict the life of the chosen person or achievements.

"The response was astonishing," stated Andersen. "From the mountains of beautiful Western Maryland to the sandy beaches of the Eastern Shore, squares began arriving. Squares by juniorettes, juniors, and seniors -- squares beautifully done and squares not so beautifully done, yet each with a message -- a message of love of country, pride in heritage, and a desire to honor the wonderful women who have contributed or are still contributing toward this nation's greatness."

While initial plans involved the creation of one quilt, the number of squares that arrived and the quality of each made it necessary to make a second quilt. Andersen reported that 92% of Maryland's clubs participated in the project. One quilt is bordered in blue and the other in red. The 84 squares were examined and sorted by local artist Sonia Pratt, and then quilted into the two creations by a Garrett County Amish family. Andersen noted an incident with a youngster at the time of the quilting:

"The day the committee visited the Amish family with our assortment of squares, one young Amish boy showed particular interest in the Helen Keller square. He asked if the 'buttons' on the square said anything. With all the excitement of gathering and recording entries, somehow this possibility was overlooked. He rushed from the room and returned with the life story of Helen Keller and found the Braille alphabet in the book. Indeed, the buttons did spell out 'Helen.'"

"When we returned weeks later to pick up the finished work, several children were present and seemed to be very familiar with the squares and the people they represented," Andersen said. "Perhaps our quilts were used as a teaching tool. How wonderful."

The squares honor famous women, themes of self-sacrifice, friendship, unity in diversity, and others. Local women Pat Filsinger and Helen Nordeck dedicated their square to local resident Polly Hanst, who has been a civic club member for many years and has served the community in numerous ways. Another square made locally by Andersen is dedicated to Rachel Carson, marine biologist and author. Mrs. Jachowski made a square in honor of all woman leaders.

Also locally created were two squares by the Cooperative Extension Service, honoring women of rural America and working women.

"Throughout the state, women lauded various careers -- through their squares -- music, government, art, health, writing, and science. Others honored women in the military, the Red Cross, Clara Barton, Rosie the Riveter, the American mother, women in the Olympics, and homemakers responsible for the car seat law in Maryland. Women of the future are also commemorated -- "Girls of Today, Women of Tomorrow" and "Women of the 90s."

"A work of art, a labor of love, a tribute to the dedication and commitment of the American women who have made this country great has been created by the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs," state the co-chairs in their report. Andersen expressed gratitude to Mrs. Peck, "who dedicated her administration to rekindling pride in America," as well as to all the club members who worked to pay tribute to the American woman, "sung and unsung."

The local club hopes to have the quilts back in Garrett County and on display during the Autumn Glory Festival. A schedule of the quilt tour will be published when finalized.

from all sides seemed to reflect attempts to meet needs of the future. "If we move forward with these suggestions, we are building a foundation, a future for our middle school program. It is a program of long-standing value that is being affected," he said.

In accordance with Dr. Ryscavage's statement, Raley referred to curriculum review and change as a "watershed" issue. Because of this, he underscored the need to move with deliberation and to delay action to permit further input from local citizens.

Carpenter described his tie-breaking vote as responsive to the community. "We need our community involvement in our schools," he said. He said he believed it to be better for the system in the long run to reconsider the issue of program change in the light of the community reaction.

Severe Storm Awareness Week Proclaimed; Precautions Noted

Editor's Note: In an effort to create a better awareness of severe weather, Governor Parris Glendening has proclaimed April 20 through April 26 as Severe Storm Awareness Week in Maryland. This article touches on some of the severe storms that Maryland is most prone to and ways Marylanders may protect themselves.

Television has done, perhaps, what even the best emergency managers can not do: Bring severe storm disasters home to people's living rooms, without so much as a scratch.

"Day after day you see all the pictures from so many storms, and people do become more aware of it," said Barbara Watson, weather coordination meteorologist for the National Weather Service's Baltimore-Washington Forecast Office.

Watson is talking about weather, of course. Emergency managers talk about preparedness and protection so that the protection of our lives and property is maximized and losses are minimized.

"Over and over we see the effects that thunderstorms, tornadoes, floods and hurricanes have on people," said Governor Parris N. Glendening. "We want to help make people more aware of these storms and what they can do to protect themselves. That is why I have declared April 20 through April 26 as Severe Storm Awareness Week."

State and local jurisdictions will be working to get information out to people on ways they may protect themselves.

"We want to get the message out that the loss of lives and property can be reduced if people take certain precautionary measures," said David McMillion, director of the Maryland Emergency Management Agency (MEMA). "If you are out on a ball field, for example, and you hear thunder, get off the field and find shelter. Things like that can make the difference between life and death."

One Little League coach, lost his, while saving the lives of his charges by getting them off the field during a ball game several years ago in Carroll County. He had been standing near a chain link fence behind the dugout.

"You need to stay away from metal," says Libby Leubberman, assistant chief of the Sykesville-Freedom District Fire Department, which responded to the 911 call for help in the coach's case. "At athletic events, clear the area, get in your cars. Don't stand near a tree, and stay away from metal."

Further, lightning can travel through wires indoors, says Watson. "If you are working at the computer, you can be injured," she said.

"And if you are outdoors, remember, you don't have to see a bolt of lightning to be struck. If you can hear thunder, then you can be struck by lightning," says Watson. "It's that simple."

The National Weather Service considers a thunderstorm severe if it produces hail at least three-quarters of an inch in diameter, winds 58 mph or higher, or tornadoes.

And speaking of tornadoes, forget the movie "Twister" that dragged the heroine storm catcher through a tornado that seemed to go on all week without so much as dirtying up her white shirt.

Watson recalls a case in which someone was strapped to scaffolding when a tornado ripped through. "Her arm and leg were ripped off," she said.

While tornadoes and thunderstorms may grab people's attention quicker, flooding is actually one of Maryland's biggest severe storm culprits.

"Keep aware of the situation," says Bradley Frantz, director of the Emergency Management Agency in Garrett County, which suffered tremendous loss after the floods of January and September of 1996. "Always be on the alert of what situations may cause flooding. Make sure that you do what you can to not be in a flooding situation. During the September flood we had to rescue a guy who tried to drive a car through flood waters. Now, I know for a fact that the major cause of death during a flood is that people try to drive through it. We have national statistics on this."

SEVERE STORM AWARENESS WEEK, April 20-26, has been proclaimed by Governor Parris Glendening, in an effort to educate the state's residents of the dangers that can arise from the variety of storms that Maryland is susceptible to. In the above photograph, a tornado in July 1996 damaged or destroyed 68 homes in the state, including this one in Carroll County (photo by David McMillion). Towns and communities along river and creek beds throughout the state are prone to flooding and the home to the right, located along George's Creek in Westernport, after flooding caused by Tropical Storm Fran in September 1996 (FEMA photo).

Watson agrees.

"They're just not getting the message," she says. "Just because the car in front of you made it doesn't mean you will. You may come up to water across a road. You can't see the road to know it is still there. Even if the water is shallow enough as you start, one or two feet of water can come down on you fast. That is the nature of flash floods. You're done."

Then there are the hurricanes that never seem to hit Maryland directly. Such misses have lulled people into complacency, complain emergency responders and weather personnel.

"The vast majority of the population has never been through a hurricane," said Jim Brown, director of Wicomico County Emergency Management Agency. "There have been several near misses and they think they've been through it. They have no concept of what a real hurricane is."

"They become experts," laments Clay Stamp, director of the Ocean City Emergency Management Agency. "The trouble with weather is that when it gets bad, it gets bad so quick you don't have any time to react to it. People who lived through Hurricane Andrew in South Florida can tell you. There is only one thing to do when there is a threat of a hurricane and that is to get out of its way. We will give notifications before the weather gets bad and people look at you like you're crazy."

Staying abreast of the weather situation, listening to the advice of local emergency managers, and having a family disaster preparedness plan and kit will help people minimize their losses.

Years ago, some coastal residents used to throw hurricane parties, mocking those who tried to protect them. You don't hear as much about that these days. Instead, you have the likes of Rocky Lopes, who makes disaster preparedness his business. And he throws great parties. Disaster preparedness parties.

Lopes is the community disaster education manager in the Disaster Services Preparedness Office of the American Red Cross-National. But fellow neighbors in his Silver Spring condominium complex simply look at him as their resident disaster preparedness guru.

"I firmly believe everyone should have a disaster supplies kit," Lopes emphasizes.

Lopes initiated a disaster plan for his condominium complex that was at first met with strange looks and skepticism by the condo's board of directors.

"The first two times I tried turning off the electric power, our board of directors thought I was some disaster junkie from the Red Cross. Then in January of 1994, we had a very significant ice storm and it was below zero and we actually lost electrical power for three and a half days. They suddenly realized what I was saying had a grain of truth. People become so dependent on electric. They can't read. They can't cook and they don't have heat," he said.

Lopes said he and his fellow residents at the complex have disaster preparedness parties now.

"We talk about what kind of disasters can happen and we share our goodies that are in our kits and then we have a meal. We talk about the things we can do for each other when disaster strikes," he said.

Lopes said he recommends that the disaster supplies kit have at least three gallons of water per person, canned fruits, vegetables and other food that doesn't require heating or preparation, a first aid kit, flashlight, battery powered radio, and a manual can opener.

Brown said he also asks people to think ahead of what they can do if disaster hits.

"I ask people to think ahead as to what they are going to do if they are near the coast and where they are going to go," he said. "You have to be prepared to close your home and take all those precautions we know about. But most people won't do it until it hits the fan and then it is going to be too late."

And those who will need shelter must plan for their pets if they have some.

"Pets are not allowed in shelters for health and safety reasons," said Mike Ritter, director of Emergency Services for the American Red Cross of Central Maryland. "However, the Maryland Veterinarian Association working with the Red Cross, the Humane Society, kennels, and animal hospitals has arranged for temporary lodging for pets. To some people, that pet is

Food For Thought

Oatmeal in a pie crust is not only super healthy, it makes the crust extra flaky. So flaky, in fact, that it needs to settle a while out of the oven. Save it for crusts that sit on top of the filling, for deep-dish pies and tartes Tatin.

Ooey, gooey, chewy dessert treat layers fresh pears on wooden sticks wrapped with caramel sheets, first dipped into chocolate candy coating and then chopped nuts.

Need to separate cake layers horizontally? First saw carefully with a knife, then slide a flat cookie sheet in between and lift.

For steakhouse results at home, keep in mind that tenderloin is the softest but least flavorful cut, strip steak is firmer and more flavorful, rib eye is super flavorful and juicy.

Nothing ordinary about flattened chicken breasts rolled around a filling of dried tomato halves, mascarpone cheese and herbs. Roll and secure, then cook in oil to brown evenly, about 25 minutes.

State Superintendent Writes Letter About New High School Assessments

Approximately 60,000 fifth grade public school students will soon be taking home letters from State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick answering questions their parents may have concerning Maryland's proposed new high school assessments. The tests, designed to help improve the high school program, may become graduation requirements for the Class of 2004 - today's fifth grade students. The letter was sent to elementary school principals during the last week in March and should be distributed to all fifth grade students by the second week in April.

"Many parents have questions and concerns about the proposed high school assessments," Dr. Grasmick said. "This parent letter is just one of the many ways we are working to ensure that parents are fully informed of and involved in the high school assessment program. Parent input is vital, particularly as we move closer to making important decisions such as how the tests might be tied to the high school diploma."

Over the past year, the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) has listened to the ideas and suggestions of more than 3,700 parents, teachers, elected officials, students, and business people concerning how best to improve Maryland's high schools. The State Board will be seeking additional parent and community input before making further decisions concerning the high school assessments.

The letter to fifth grade parents is just one component of the state's larger public engagement efforts, Grasmick explained. A memo to principals, accompanying the letters, detailed a variety of ways that MSDE is trying to keep parents and teachers informed about the new assessments, including school newsletter columns, teacher publications, fact sheets, community meetings, and a public information line.

"Our goal in creating these new high school assessments is to ensure that graduates are better prepared for an increasingly competitive world," Dr. Grasmick said. "The assessments are only one component of a complete high school improvement project. Already, the State Board is putting plans in place for the teacher training and improvements in instruction needed to ensure that high school students learn the core content in math, science, English, and social studies they will need for successful careers in the new millennium."

In her letter to parents, the superintendent explains that the proposed high school assessments would extend the high expectations of the Maryland School Performance Assessment Program (MSPAP) into high schools. Currently, students need only demonstrate very basic skills tested by the Maryland functional tests in reading, writing, mathematics, and citizenship in order to graduate. The functional tests measure skills at such a basic level that many students now take and pass most of the tests in middle school.

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND -- THURSDAY, APRIL 10, 1997 B-1

The letter also goes into further detail about why the State Board is trying to improve the high school program, how public input has been gathered, and what Maryland has already done to improve schools. It encourages parents to share their ideas about the new tests by calling Dr. Dan Gandra, director of the High School Assessment Project, at (410) 767-0371. Interested parents are also invited to attend one of the many meetings MSDE is holding around the state with school boards, PTAs, PTOs, civic groups, educators, and others.

Fifth grade parents who have not received a letter by mid-April are encouraged to contact their school principal, or call MSDE's Public Information Line at (410) 767-0600.

"FOR THE BEAUTY OF THE EARTH..."

*"For the beauty of the earth, for the glory of the skies,
 For the love which from our birth, over and around us lies;
 Lord of all to Thee we raise this our hymn of greatful praise."*

These lines from the great hymn say it all. Some say, "Where is God? I can't see Him. Prove God to me." To those who may doubt, just look around you. No power save that of the Divine Creator could plan in such miniscule detail each plant and animal, each cell of every insect...even Man himself. His love surrounds us from the day we are born. Birth itself is a miracle. Every breeze whispers God's name...each ray of the sun speaks of the warmth of God. Each raindrop tells of His refreshment of the human spirit.

This week, visit your chosen House of worship. Raise your voice in praise and bow your head in prayer and meditation as you give thanks unto the Lord for the beauty of the earth.

POOR, BUT RICH
 April 13, 1997

Background Scripture:
 Revelation 2:8-17

Devotional Reading:
 1 Corinthians 13:13

I don't know where I first heard this quotation, but it does seem to get around: "I've been poor and I've been rich and 'rich' is definitely better."

It's hard to quarrel with that point of view, but, of course, it all depends upon what you mean by both 'poor' and 'rich.' Just as one can be 'lonely' in a 'crowd,' so it is

COVER STORY

©TVData Features Syndicate

What if your favorite show unexpectedly went in a new direction? What if it had to make those changes to survive? And what if a favorite character were sacrificed in the process?

That, to mimic the opening of every Sliders episode, is what fans of the Fox series have been facing on Fridays recently.

This winter on the 2-year-old sci-fi drama, series regular John Rhys-Davies, who played Professor Maximilian Arturo, left the show; Arturo was fatally shot, and a new character joined the quartet of extraterrestrial travelers.

"The ratings were a little flat, and we needed to do something to give it a bit of a boost," executive producer Alan Barnette says.

But does this warrant extreme prejudice toward a main character? "I know you hear this all the time in Hollywood, but it was a mutual thing," Barnette says.

It appears Rhys-Davies was ready to leave the weekly grind of an hourlong series, and the producers needed some fireworks to keep Fox from trying out another show in the time slot.

Or as Barnette puts it, "They were getting ready to take us off for six weeks, but we got lucky."

"Every time we get pre-empted, the audience drops dramatically. And we have to build it back up."

It took almost no time to rebuild the Sliders team. Even before the Professor was shot, the new member, Maggie Beckett, a former fighter pilot played by Kari Wuhrer, was introduced. In the Feb. 28 episode, Beckett slid down the wormhole to the next world with Quinn Mallory, Wade Wells and Rembrandt Brown (Jerry O'Connell, Sabrina Lloyd, Cleavon Derricks).

"We wanted someone who had kind of a vivacious energy to her," Barnette says. "Someone attractive, yet also smart and brave."

Part of the plan, he explains, was to shake the Sliders team up, to provide conflict from within.

"You had Sabrina, who's not only attractive but she also fits that girl-next-door personality," Barnette recalls. "And Cleavon is so likable. And then there was the father-son relationship with Quinn and Arturo. Everybody liked each other so much, we were always having to go outside the team to find conflict.

"Now, while they're still a team, there's a little bit of dissension in the group, some different agendas, a little bit of jealousy, a little flirtation."

As if this weren't enough, the new Sliders team won't always leave the parallel world-of-the-week a better place. On the contrary, recent episodes have taken on a rather dark tone. In "The Breeder" on March 14, a squidlike parasite remained alive while the foursome slid away.

"Every show was so neatly wrapped up, every week," Barnette says wearily. "In this episode, you had the evil of the alien being, and then you had the agenda—which wasn't always pure—of the doctor. So we thought she would get a little of her own comeuppance."

Barnette describes the show's season finale, set for May 16, as "a real cliffhanger," but he promises no more team members will die this season.

"We've had enough changes for one show for a while," he says. And here's more good news: "It would be my wish to have John back in some capacity. We constantly talk about that in developing new stories."

With so many worlds to explore, one of them is bound to have a telephone book with a listing for one Maximilian Arturo.

Vivid new Rebecca adds color to the Gothic mysteryBy Suzanne Gill
©TVData Features Syndicate

Alfred Hitchcock casts a long shadow on Rebecca, the Daphne Du Maurier mystery for which he won his only best picture Oscar.

Acclaimed as the 1940 Laurence Olivier-Jean Fontaine film, it had one shortcoming: It was based not on the best-selling novel, but on the play adapted from the book.

Now PBS' Masterpiece Theatre presents a British coproduction based on the original book. Rebecca airs over two Sundays, April 13 and 20 (check local listings).

Charles Dance stars as troubled widower Maxim de Winter, with Diana Rigg as ghoulish housekeeper Mrs. Danvers and Emilia Fox (Pride and Prejudice) as the young and shy second Mrs. de Winter.

In 1927 Monte Carlo, a faded American socialite (Faye Dunaway) passes on some gossip to her youthful companion (Fox) about the middle-aged widower whose first wife, Rebecca, was a celebrated beauty.

Soon the younger woman meets Max de Winter himself. Within weeks he marries her and takes her back to his ancestral home, Manderley. But the grim and rigid Mrs. Danvers resents her new mistress.

Despite the courtesy title, Rigg believes her character was never married.

"All housekeepers in those days called themselves 'Mrs.' whether they were married or not," Rigg observes. "I think it just made their progress through the house easier."

Mrs. Danvers' progress is silent and poisonous as a snake, and Rebecca, though dead, holds Manderley in her spell.

It isn't fair to give away this mystery's end; let it be enough to say that those who know Rebecca will not be disappointed by her latest portrait.

Diana Rigg (left) and Emilia Fox star in Rebecca, a new Masterpiece Theatre presentation, airing Sunday on PBS (check local listings).

TRIVIA

Apostles Paul and Peter were executed on the same day. Paul, a Roman citizen, was beheaded; Peter was crucified.

TRIVIA

Before radio and TV, Red Skelton appeared in minstrel shows, vaudeville, burlesque and the circus.

Soap Talk

A Daytime to Remember, but will actors want to?

By Candace Havens
©TVData Features Syndicate

The City is gone, but ABC is making the most of the time slot until its new soap, GH2, debuts in June.

A Daytime to Remember, hosted by country music star Reba McEntire, is airing three weeks of some of your favorite All My Children memories, such as Erica's travels, Cliff and Nina's marriage, and Liza and Tad's past.

Then there will be two weeks of turning back the clock on One Life to Live followed by four weeks of General Hospital, with episodes featuring Demi Moore, Janine Turner and Richard Dean Anderson.

Bring out the tissues; the rumors are true. Shawn Christian (Mike) has left As the World Turns. The actor taped his last scenes in February, and don't look for him to return any time soon.

It was Christian's choice to leave the show and he's already in L.A. looking for work.

In other news, real-life soap family Scott (Ryan, The Young and the Restless) and Melissa Reeves (ex-Jen, Days of Our Lives) are expecting their second child at the end of summer. The couple have a daughter, Emily.

Dear Candace: I'm fairly new to the soap opera Guiding Light, and I'm very confused about something.

The story concerning Amanda (Toby Poser) and her real father doesn't make sense. All this time Amanda thought Alan (Ron Raines) was her father, and now she finds out he is his sister. How could that happen?

Janine Turner

Mary S. in Pennsylvania.

Dear Reader: It all started when Amanda got a good look at her birth certificate. The way I understand it, she is the daughter of Brandon Spaulding and the true owner of Spaulding Enterprises.

And it doesn't end there; Paul Rauch, executive producer of GL, says there will be more Spauldings coming to town. Look for Alan to plan some big-time revenge against his siblings.

Dear Candace: Is Alyssa Milano on Melrose Place? If so, what role does she play? —J. in Vicksburg, Miss.

Dear Reader: Milano has joined the cast of MP and will make her debut as Jennifer on Monday, April 14.

Send questions of general interest to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, TVData Features Syndicate, Northway Plaza, Queensbury, N.Y. 12204; or e-mail to soaptalk@tdf.com. Only questions selected for this column will be answered. Personal replies cannot be sent.

TRIVIA

Among sea horses, mules bear the babies. Though they can give birth every 21 days, they are being fished to extinction.

Comic Steve Allen has appeared in four series with his name in the title. He also was host of The Tonight Show.

FSU Summer Registration Now Underway

Frostburg State University is currently enrolling students for the 1997 summer session. Registration will continue through Friday, May 16.

Classes will begin Tuesday, May 27. The first session will continue through Thursday, July 3, with the second session running from Monday, July 7, through Wednesday, August 13.

Students may register for three courses, or a maximum of 10 semester hours, each session. Courses are available in all of the university's departments, with many courses offered that meet FSU's general education program requirements. Students from other colleges who are interested in taking courses for transfer credit may enroll by completing the Summer School Enrollment Permission Form, which is included in the registration booklet.

Summer school registration information is available from the Office of the Registrar, Hitchens Administration Building, Room 132, (301) 687-4346. Financial aid information is available in Hitchens Room 128, (301) 687-4301. Persons with disabilities may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, FSU Library Room 228, (301) 687-4102, TDD (301) 687-7955.

Oakland Chapter Of OES Meets

Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday, April 1, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple in Oakland. Worthy Patron Ted Raynovich called the meeting to order. Worthy Matron Thelma Henshaw's opening was "Happiness." She then greeted Mildred Martin and Ruth Whitmore, Past Grand Matrons of Maryland; Joy Lou Fogle, Past Matron of another chapter; Past Matrons, Past Patrons, officers and members of Oakland Chapter; and Masonic brothers Ted Raynovich, Delmar Sliger, and Reaford Purbough.

Installation of four officers was held. Those installed were: Wilda Hile, Conductress; Dottie Casmer, Associate Conductress; Denzil Hile, Warder; and Richard Casmer, Sentinel. The next meeting will be held April 15, and Grand Sessions will be held in Hagerstown Ramada Inn Convention Center, April 25-30.

Signs and passes were reviewed under the direction of Worthy Patron Raynovich and Conductress Wilda Hile. Mrs. Henshaw's closing reading was titled "The Little Things," and refreshments were served by Betty Moran and Marie Shroud.

CRIME SOLVERS

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information into the theft of a pickup truck.

Sometime during the night time hours between Oct. 18 and 19, 1996, someone removed a 1979 blue Chevrolet pickup from a parking area on Spring Glade Road. The truck was recovered on Oct. 26 in a wooded area off Bismarck Road in Grant County, W.Va.

The truck was seriously damaged and the radio had been stolen. The total loss in this case is $3,000.

Persons who have information about this or any other unsolved crime are urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor do they have to appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available.

ARBOR DAY WAS OBSERVED by local students who planted a pair of dogwood trees on the grounds of Hickory, Garrett County's Environmental Education Center near Accident. Conducting the plantings were students from the third grade classes at Red House and Loch Lynn elementary schools (pictured below). After the planting, Garrett County Forestry Board members presented the county commissioners with a copy of the Governor's Arbor Day proclamation. Pictured from left above are: Jim Allen and Karin Miller, board members; Mike Kosier, board president; Commissioner John Braskey; Charles Strauss and Al Arnsen, board members; and Wade Dorsey, project forester for the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service.

Ballroom Dancers Will Organize

The United States Amateur Ballroom Dancers Association (USABDA) has announced a chapter for ballroom dancers will be organized in the Cumberland area. A steering committee of local dancers will be formed to guide the project and enroll members.

USABDA, a non-profit, volunteer organization, is the governing body for amateur ballroom dancing in the United States and has chapters all over the country.

The local chapter will sponsor monthly social dances for members and the general public. Typically, each dance will consist of a one-hour dance lesson, followed by three hours of general dancing as well as dance demonstrations. The chapter also will promote ballroom dance training in local colleges and high schools, and will seek to increase the number of business establishments that offer ballroom dancing to the public. Membership will be open to singles as well as couples, and beginners are welcome.

Local dancers who are interested in helping form the chapter are asked to call 1-800-447-9047 or write to: USABDA, PO Box 128, New Freedom, PA 17349.

AmeriCorps Will Conduct Book Giveaway

The Appalachian Christian Project has donated a tractor trailer load of new books to the AmeriCorps Read to Succeed! program. These 35,000 books are valued at approximately $155,000 and will be given, free of charge, to the teachers, families, and non-profit organizations of Allegany and Garrett Counties.

The teacher, business, and non-profit day is Saturday, April 26, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Those who plan to attend on April 26 should be prepared to show identification, including a business card or letter from your supervisor.

Everyone in the Western Maryland community, including surrounding areas of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, is invited for the community giveaway on Saturday, May 3, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

People coming to the giveaway are encouraged to bring their own boxes or canvas bags for the books they select. There is no limit to the number of books attendees may take. The books are not organized by title or subject matter, so some of the books may be inappropriate for children. Parents are encouraged to monitor their children's selections.

The giveaway will be held in the Country Club Mall, in LaVale, in the site next to the Petland store.

Park Friends To Conduct Clean-Up

The Friends of New Germany will sponsor their annual park clean-up at New Germany State Park on Saturday, April 26. Interested persons will meet at the Lakehouse at 9:30 a.m. Park personnel will be on hand to assist. This is an opportunity for students to satisfy their service learning commitment. Lunch will be served.

For further information, persons may contact Bill Martin at 301-895-5453.

FROM A THREE-BAY GARAGE several years ago, Hartman's Amoco In Accident has evolved into a deli/hot food restaurant and self-serve beverage bar. The business is open from 6:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, from 6:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday, from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, and from 7:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday. Management indicated that those hours would be extended soon. In the photo, from left, are Hartman staff members Barbara Lynch, Angie Hinebaugh, and Robert Ash Jr.

AmeriCorps is also looking for volunteers to assist with the delivery. The date of the delivery is Wednesday, April 23. Volunteers will work throughout the day, starting at 8 a.m. All volunteers are welcome and are invited to sort through the books prior to the giveaway dates. This opportunity will aid in your selection.

Persons interested in volunteering, who know of a group who would be willing to volunteer, or have any other questions or concerns about the giveaway, may contact Rebecca Palmisano at (301) 687-7598.

AN AMERICAN HERO

ROBERTO CLEMENTE

Roberto Clemente will be remembered as one of America's all-time great baseball players — as well as a man who gave his life to help other people.

Clemente was born in Puerto Rico, the son of a sugar cane plantation foreman father and a grocery store manager mother. His childhood was happy and relatively prosperous. He would have become an engineer, but for his exceptional athletic abilities.

Clemente played amateur softball in the fields of his native Carolina, Puerto Rico, and was eventually spotted by a scout for a pro team. He played in Puerto Rico three years and after the 1953 season, was recruited by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

He played in the U.S. for the minor leagues in Montreal, but his talent could not be hidden. He was discovered and drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates after the 1954 season.

He was one of the pioneer Hispanics in major league baseball. His difficulty speaking English often caused him problems in explaining himself to the press, and in the early years, cost him the recognition he deserved.

But once again, his talent could not be hidden. He became known as the greatest right fielder in the history of the game, and held the all-time record for assists from the outfield. He was selected to the National League All-Star team 12 times.

Clemente was a sports hero because of his fantastic talent. But he became an American hero because of his self sacrifice for others. Clemente's dream was to build a sports complex in Puerto Rico, so poor children could learn and grow. That work was in progress when a great earthquake struck Nicaragua. Clemente helped organize relief efforts in Puerto Rico, and was helping deliver a payload on the fateful last day of 1972. The rickety airplane's engines failed shortly after take-off, and the plane crashed, killing all aboard.

He was immediately inducted into the baseball Hall of Fame. The Governor of Puerto Rico said Clemente died "serving his fellow man."

Antiques

Q. The bottom of my pewter chocolate pot is stamped "R. Gleason." It looks very old.
A. Roswell Gleason worked in Dorchester, Mass., between 1821 and 1871. His work is well-known today. Your chocolate pot is worth at least $300.

Q. I have an old metal Snow White stove, matching sink and refrigerator. Do they have any value?
A. Everything Disney has value to collectors of Disneyana.

Your Snow White kitchen set was made by the Wolverine Toy Co. of Pittsburgh in 1970 or '71. The doll-size set sells for between $20 and $50, depending on condition.

Q. Inside my old violin is a paper label that reads "J.A. Baader." Do you have any information on it?
A. J.A. Baader & Co. was founded in 1790 in Mittenwald, Germany. Local violin makers produced the company's inexpensive instruments. The company continued into the 20th century.

Q. I found a 1937 postcard from Gerber Products Co. mailed to "Little Stranger." Would the penny stamp on it interest a stamp collector?
A. Stamp collectors prefer unused stamps. A postcard collector or advertising collector might be more interested in your Gerber postcard.

Home Tips

DRINKING TEA — Many people know that tea is a good drink because of its natural vitamins and minerals. But how much tea do you need to drink every day to enjoy its healthful benefits? There are few answers. However, I usually drink tea when I feel I do not eat enough vegetables that day. And, when I want to write something, I often drink a cup of tea. There is a saying: Tea can help you think quickly.

My favorite tea is Chinese flower tea. It is very popular in China. It contains a fragrant flower — Moli flower. Yaochuan Y., Houghton, Mich.

DEFROST TIP — When I get home from grocery shopping, I always repack all the meats into zipper-type plastic freezer bags. The hamburger always seemed to take the longest to thaw when I was ready to use it. I solved this by pounding it out flat in the bags before freezing. This way, they stay nice and flat and store easily in the freezer. They also thaw in 1/4 of the time it used to take. Karen B., Crossville, Tenn.

EASY-CLEAN — When I put tin foil on the drip pans under the stove burners, I put on three pieces.

When one piece gets dirty, all I have to do is move the top sheet. This really saves time. Janice G., Cibola, Texas

TIP: Follow all safety rules for fires that you were taught in school. A smoke alarm is mandatory in many cities and should be kept in every home near the kitchen, at the top of the stairs and near bedrooms. Keep a hand-held fire extinguisher in your kitchen, near paper collectibles and near books.

MVA Motorcycle Safety Program In 13th Season

Maryland's Motor Vehicle Administration (MVA) is again offering motorcycle rider education courses through its Motorcycle Safety Program (MCSP).

Now in its 13th year of offering courses to both new and experienced riders, the MCSP is operating 12 course locations at various sites throughout Maryland. The award-winning program has trained over 31,000 students since 1985, and more than half of those students have gone on to get their motorcycle licenses.

"The Motorcycle Safety Program has been an extremely successful program which is important to all Marylanders who share our highways," commented MCSP Coordinator Andrew S. Krajewski. "Both motorists and motorcyclists need to look out for one another to reduce accidents and increase safety."

Two course are currently offered, each costing $50 per student. The beginner's course teaches the fundamentals of riding and helps students overcome any initial fears about actually operating a motorcycle. The program consists of eight hours of classroom instruction and 12 hours of actual motorcycle use. After successfully completing the course, students have the option of testing for their Class M motorcycle license. Students must already possess their motorcycle learner's permit before testing.

For experienced and licensed motorcyclists, a second course is offered to refine or improve skills. Participants are encouraged to use their own motorcycles; however, training motorcycles will be provided if needed.

While most of the students in these courses are male, women now make up approximately one third of the total enrollment, according to Krajewski.

Training is offered at Allegany, Carroll, Harford and Prince George's community colleges, as well as the Glen Burnie, Annapolis, Hagerstown, Frederick, Salisbury and Waldorf MVA offices. Training also is offered at Seton Keough High School in Baltimore City and the Orbital Space Center (formerly Fairchild Space Industries) in Germantown, Montgomery County.

Students will be provided with safety equipment and training motorcycles. Students are asked to wear protective clothing, including long pants and long sleeves, as well as ankle-high leather shoes or boots during the actual motorcycle training.

The program runs from April through October. For more information on how to sign up for the course, the public may call toll free 1-800-638-1722, Monday through Friday, from 8:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Accepted In Pa. Nursing Course

Jennifer Lynn Morgan of Friendsville has been accepted as a student in the Hanover Practical Nursing Program in Hanover, Pa., beginning in July.

While attending classes, she will be employed at the Brethren Nursing home in Hanover.

Morgan graduated in 1995 from Northern High School and attended Garrett Community College. She is the daughter of Jim and Carolyn Morgan of Friendsville.

Activities when Traveling with Children

Are we there yet?

by Irungard R. Koscielnik

Extension Agent, Home Economics

Cassettes

Get inexpensive cassette tape players with headphones for each child. Everyone can listen to his or her own music without bothering others. Look in your local library or bookstore for books and stories on cassette tape to make a long ride seem much shorter.

Activity Centers

Take an empty shoebox and have your child help you fill it with things she/he will enjoy during the trip. A covered cake pan makes a great writing or drawing surface. The crayons and paper can be stored inside. Children 2-4 will enjoy crayons, paper, blunt scissors, small picture books, games, magnifying glasses, and magnets. Travelers over 7 years old will be entertained with card games, pegged checker boards, jigsaw puzzles, and crossword puzzle books.

Add To The Story

Have one family member begin telling a story. Other family members take turns adding their own ideas to the story.

Who Am I?

One family member thinks of a person who everyone in the family knows. Other family members take turns asking questions that can be answered only with yes or no until someone guesses the name of the person.

Alphabet Game

Family members call out letters A through Z as they spot them on highway signs and billboards.

Singing

Silly Songs

Select a familiar song that everyone knows. Everyone helps make up new words to create a new, silly song with a familiar tune.

Word Search

One person selects a letter of the alphabet. Other family members see how many words they can name that begin with that letter. Variation: name foods, animals, people's names, etc., that begin with a selected letter of the alphabet. Variation: one person thinks of a word. Family members see how many other words they can name that rhyme with the selected word.

Things

Have one child think of an object she/he sees from the car window. The game begins when they call out "I have a thing!" Other family members begin asking questions to identify the "thing." The person who guesses correctly thinks of the next "thing."

Treasure Hunt

Give each child a list of five things to watch for on the trip. Set a time limit of 5-10 minutes. The list might include a farmer on a tractor, a bus, a fast food restaurant, gas station, fire hydrant, etc. You could write these items on a list or use drawings or pictures if your child cannot read. The first person to cross off all items on the list is the winner.

Make a list

Give older children pencils and paper. Have them keep a list of license plates from different states, colors of cars, etc.

Mapping the Route

Give a road map and a colored marker to each of your older children. Mark the route you are taking to your destination. Teach them to follow the map and road signs, marking off towns on the way.

McGowan Earns Writing Award

Molly McGowan, an eighth grade student at Southern Middle School, was recently named an award winner by the U.S. Achievement Academy in the area of English/Creative Writing.

Miss McGowan, daughter of Drew McGowan and Gloria Salazar, Finger Board Road, was nominated for the honor by teacher Marianne Green. Her name and biography will appear in the Academy's yearbook.

Students selected to receive awards from the Academy are judged on a variety of criteria, including academic performance, interest and aptitude, responsibility, enthusiasm, and dependability, as well as a recommendation from a teacher.

Revival Set At Little Meadows

A gospel revival will be held at Little Meadows Baptist Church from Sunday, April 13, through Wednesday, April 16, according to Pastor Ray Perkins. Services will begin at 7 p.m. each evening and feature guest speaker Pastor Samuel E. Biser, Burlington, W.Va.

Pastor Biser is currently serving as pastor of three churches in Keyser, Burlington, and Romney, W.Va.

A covered dish dinner will be held before the evening service on Sunday.

All are invited to attend the dinner and the services. The church is located along Chestnut Ridge Road just off U.S. Rt. 68 near Grantsville.

Mayor Schmoke Will Speak At Frostburg State

Mayor Kurt Schmoke of Baltimore will address the Martin Luther King Convocation at Frostburg State University. The event will be held on Thursday, April 24, at 11 a.m. in the Pealer Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center. Schmoke is currently serving his third term as mayor of Baltimore. He has developed a reputation as one of the most innovative mayors in the nation, as demonstrated through innovations he has taken in literacy, education, housing, community revitalization, health, and economic development.

Schmoke has voiced strong support for neighborhood revitalization. Under his leadership, Baltimore was selected as one of only six Empowerment Zones in the United States. This designation carries with it millions of dollars in federal funding to support job development, housing, and social service projects in Baltimore's neighborhoods, as well as tax credits and incentives for businesses located in the city.

Schmoke was born in Baltimore, and attended the city's public school system. Schmoke graduated from Yale University in 1971, attended Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar, and received his law degree from Harvard in 1976.

For more information about this event, persons may contact the Office of the Provost at 687-4211.

Receives Award For Achievement

The U.S. Achievement Academy has announced that Jordan Swerbinsky, a student at Southern Middle School, has been named an award winner in the area of English. A son of Joseph and Debra Swerbinsky, Jordan was nominated for the award by teacher Marianne Green. His name and biography will appear in the Academy's yearbook.

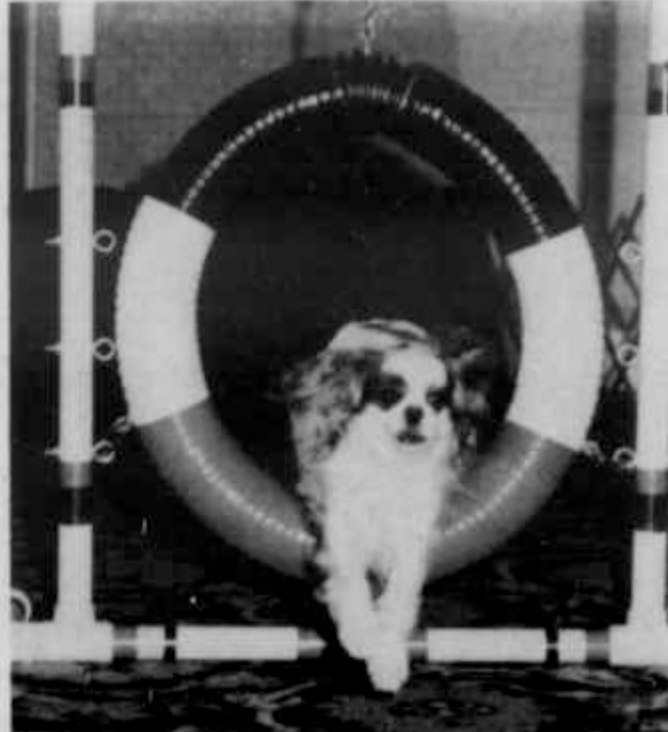

The Academy selects award winners based upon a variety of criteria, such as academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership, citizenship, and dependability, as well as a recommendation from a teacher, coach, counselor, or other school official.

Turkey Dinner Set Saturday

The Apostolics of Oakland will serve hot turkey dinners this Saturday, April 12, beginning at 4 p.m. at the Mountain Lake Park Camp Meeting grounds along G Street. The menu will include turkey, mashed potatoes, green beans, stuffing, gravy, rolls, beverages, and dessert. Costs are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

Deliveries will be made and orders can be placed by calling 334-5873. More information about the fundraiser may be obtained by calling 334-2998.

DOGS ON PARADE - As a kick-off for National Pet Week and Be Kind to Animals Week, the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club will hold this special event, Dogs on Parade, at center court of Country Club Mall in LaVale, May 4, noon to 5 p.m. Pups, like the Cavalier King Charles Spaniel pictured here, will demonstrate agility and obedience. The coordinators of this canine festival hope to promote responsible dog ownership and give the general public some insights into the importance of selecting the breed of dog that is best suited for one's lifestyle.

Revival Slated In Loch Lynn

The Loch Lynn Church of God will hold revival services beginning this Sunday, April 13, and continuing through Wednesday, April 16, with guest evangelist Rev. E.B. Arnold of Virginia. Service times are 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Rev. Robert Fletcher, pastor, and the members of the congregation invite all to attend the services.

GCC Course In Computer Applications Set

A program of courses in computer applications for persons who have had little or no computer experience is being offered by Garrett Community College beginning this summer.

Introduction to College Reading has also been added to the first summer session, starting May 19, for students who need to improve their reading skills before taking computer courses.

According to a college spokesperson, introductory level courses such as Keyboarding and Introduction to Computer Software will be offered first, along with Windows 95. Students will then progress through a series of courses that teach word processing, spreadsheets, database, and accessing the Internet to courses that teach more sophisticated computer skills such as desk top publishing and web page development.

Students who complete 24 credit hours of specified courses will earn a Computer Applications Certificate and will be prepared to apply their computer skills in various business environments or in their homes.

Persons may now register for these courses at the Student Assistance Center of the college weekdays until 4:30 p.m. Anyone desiring further information about this computer applications program may call Terry Norris at 301-387-3043 or Joan Crawford at 301-387-3046.

NHS Class To Award Third Scholarship

The members of the 1999 graduating class of Northern High School have announced they will present their third scholarship to a graduating senior at the Annual NHS Awards Ceremony on May 21. The scholarship is a one-time award in the amount of $1,200.

Application is open to any student who will be entering an accredited junior college, four-year college, or a professional or technical school for the 1997 fall semester.

Academic standing and financial need are not necessarily prerequisites; however, the applicant is required to maintain an academic status within the 50th percentile of the graduating class. Preference may be given to the student who has not been selected to receive any other sizable scholarship grants.

Detailed requirements and applications are available to any interested senior at the guidance counselor's office, Northern High School. Deadline for the application is April 25.

The scholarship has been made available through annual contributions of class members. However, the Scholarship Committee encourages members from other graduating classes, residents of the community, organizations, and businesses to support the program. Contributions are tax deductible. Information and donations may be directed to Wilma Hanlin Wilburn, P.O. Box 54, 94 Main Street, Grantsville, MD (301-895-5656), who is secretary-treasurer.

Other committee members include: President Gary Hetrick, Sharpsburg, Ga.; Dick Miller, Frostburg; and Assistant Secretary-Treasurer Richard Stanton, Owings Mill.

RUSH BAPTIST

A congregational meeting will be held immediately following the 11 a.m. worship service at Rush Baptist Church. Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. for Sunday, April 13.

METHODIST

On Sunday, April 13, at Friendsville Methodist Church, the youth will have the service at 11 a.m. Sunday school is at 10 a.m.

The Co-op Parish meeting will be held at Mt. Zion Methodist Church, Rt. 40, near Grantsville, on Sunday, April 13, at 2:30 p.m. The Selbysport U.M.W.

met Tuesday evening, April 1, at the church with seven members present. Dean Vitez, president, conducted the meeting, opening with a hymn and a prayer. Plans were completed to serve a Brotherhood dinner at the church, and the group discussed refreshments for Camp Hickory for the Spiritual Retreat in April. Members agreed to give Pastor Milliren $50 for bulletins for Selbysport Church each Sunday.

Ms. Olive Grove gave a program with a reading by Ruth Graham, a poem, "The Easter Morning Church Service." Dorothy Lowdermilk led a quiz on "The Last Seven Sayings that Jesus Spoke," with members providing answers.

Refreshments were served by Ms. Olive Grove in the church dining room. Mrs. Ellen Humberson will entertain in May at her home.

SAND SPRING CHURCH OF GOD

Pastor Glen Beatty, conference administrator, will be the guest speaker each Sunday of the month of April for services at 10:15 a.m. at Sand Spring Church of God.

CLASS OF '51

The class of '51 of Friendsville High School rescheduled its April 5 dinner to Saturday, May 3, at 6 p.m. at the Lone Star Restaurant, Rt. 40.

SPAGHETTI DINNER
The Friendsville Fire and Rescue Squad Ladies Auxiliary will have an all-you-can-eat spaghetti dinner on Friday, April 11, from 4:30-7:30 p.m. Tickets are $5 for adults and children under 12, $2.50.

ATTEND MEETING
W.O.W. area manager Burton Lytle and wife; W.O.W. rep. Greg Lytle and wife; Dorothy Lowdermilk, Lodge 45 treasurer; Mary Frantz, Lodge 45 secretary; Julia Sines, jurisdictional musician; all attended the 16th W.O.W. biennial jurisdictional convention of Maryland, Delaware, D.C., and New Jersey, held at the Ramada Inn, Hagerstown, April 4, 5, and 6. Mary Frantz will be a delegate to the national W.O.W. convention in Orlando, Fla., in July.

WOMEN TO MEET
Friendsville Country

FRIENDSVILLE LEADERS SWORN IN - Friendsville Town Council members who were elected in February were sworn in recently to begin two-year terms of service. Pictured left to right above are: council members Jess Whittemore, Roger G. (Doug) Sines, and Shirley A. Metheny; and Mayor Spencer Schloasagle, who conducted the swearing-in ceremony. The Friendsville Mayor and Town Council meets the first Monday and third Tuesday of each month.

Women will meet on Thursday, April 17, at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ellen Humberson.

ROTARY NEWS
The Friendsville Rotary Club conducted a business meeting Monday evening at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant.

The next meeting has been rescheduled to Tuesday night so that members may attend a recycling meeting being held by the town council at the town hall at 7 p.m.

On Sunday, May 4, the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Dept., Friendsville Rotary, and the Lions Club will hold their annual ramp dinner at the fire hall from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Professor Marilyn Moors has written a grant to initiate a reading program by the Friendsville Rotary for local children.

The club will travel to Cumberland May 5 to meet the group study exchange from District 1390 at Finland.

SCOUTS MEET
Girl Scout Troop #5569 met Tuesday after school with 25 girls present and eight adults present. Refreshments were served and Karen Benedict baked iced Easter bunny cookies.

Jenny Fike was in charge of crafts. The scouts made decorated Easter Bunny spoons and finished their "Sit Upsons" for camp. Assisting were Tammy Sines, Balinda Benedict, Karen Benedict, Tammie Uphold, Debbie DeWitt, Joann Ross, and Tracy Sliger.

A skating party set for April 8 was canceled but plans were made to meet that day.

The April 22 meeting has been postponed until April 28. Troop leaders and officers will be taking first aid classes at Garrett Community College in April. The leaders are Tammy Sines and Balinda Benedict. The treasurer is Karen Benedict, the secretary is Tammie Uphold and troop helper is Debbie DeWitt.

HEAD START PARENTS were recently named to represent the county in the Maryland Head Start Parent Association. Speaking for Garrett County at the state level will be, left to right, Tonya Hook, Suzan Wolfe, and Linda J. Moon. Wolfe was elected president of the state-wide association, and Moon was elected to serve as vice president.

Local Head Start Parents Named To State Association

Garrett County Head Start Policy Council has announced that Tonya Hook, Suzan Wolfe, and Linda Moon have been selected to represent the county program at the Maryland Head Start Parent Association. Kathy Helmick, family development coordinator, also noted that at the recent bi-annual elections held for the State Association, Suzan Wolfe was elected president and Linda Moon was elected vice-president.

Duties of the president, and vice-president in her stead, include representative to the Region III Conference and the Head Start National Association, as well as being a member of the Governor's Advisory Board.

Hook, a parent of the Garrett County Head Start Program and a volunteer to the program, is a representative to Policy Council from her parent group.

Moon is also a parent of the program and has served several years as a volunteer with the Head Start Program. She is treasurer of her parent group and Policy Council and is presently enrolled in a 90 hour child development course.

Suzan Wolfe has served as a volunteer in the program for the past 20 years both a parent and a community representative. In the past, she has served one year as vice-president and two years as president to Policy Council.

Currently president of her parent group and parliamentarian of Policy Council, Wolfe is also a member and secretary to Garrett County Community Action Board of Directors. In addition, she is secretary of Garrett County Crime Solvers and works as a secretary and legal assistant for the law firm of Arnold F. Phillips.

"Our Policy Council and our Head Start Program would like to wish Tonya, Suzan, and Linda well in performing their duties as representatives and Officers of the Maryland Head Start Parent's Association and in accomplishing the tasks they will face in the upcoming years," Helmick said.

Goldstein Warns About Unclaimed Funds Postcards

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says Marylanders are receiving postcards asking them to pay $10 to a New York company named "Unclaimed Assets" for information about unclaimed funds, while state governments provide this information for free.

"You don't have to pay Maryland or any other state to search for your name in unclaimed property records," Goldstein said. "The service is free. In Maryland we are expanding our efforts to make this information as widely available as possible--you can now search for your name among our recently reported unclaimed property records on your home computer or at your local library by checking our website, www.comp.state.md.us. You can also call weekdays, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 767-1700 in Central Maryland or 1-800-782-7383 from elsewhere, to see if your name appears in our unclaimed property records."

"In fact, between March 25 and April 3, 1997, the names of the most recently reported owners of unclaimed funds appeared in newspapers across the state in a separate advertising supplement. As a result of this ad the unclaimed property section received more than 9,000 telephone inquiries and the website was visited by thousands of people searching the unclaimed property listing. The newspaper ads, which run twice yearly, and outreach efforts at fairs and festivals helped us return nearly $11 million to more than 12,000 people in 1996," Goldstein said.

"We encourage individuals, organizations and businesses to check our unclaimed records on a regular basis, first by calling to check for older accounts, and then by checking on the web periodically for the most recent accounts. Either way, there is no need for anyone to pay to find out about unclaimed funds in Maryland or any other state," he added.

The postcards mailed to Marylanders allude to the fact that unclaimed money may be owed to them, which may or may not be true. Often, all the individual gets for their money is a list of the government agencies throughout the country which provide free information to those who wish to search the unclaimed property records.

"Through our website you can also link to unclaimed property websites in other states. If you have a fax machine, you can also receive addresses and phone numbers of unclaimed property offices in other states by dialing (410) 974-3299 and requesting document number 3008 from index 2," Goldstein said.

NOTICE TO ALL RESIDENTS OF ACCIDENT

From the Mayor and Town Council
Town of Accident

Senate Bill No. 93 of the Annotated Code of Maryland requires counties and municipal corporations to notify taxpayers of the availability of the semi-annual property tax payment option for owner-occupied residential property that is the principal residence of a homeowner.

If a taxpayer elects to make semi-annual property tax payments, 1/2 of the municipal taxes will be deferred until January 1. The second payment, due January 1, will incur a service charge reasonably equivalent to the anticipated loss interest income associated with the delay in payment of the second installment and covering administrative expenses associated with the semi-annual payment not exceeding 25% of the charge of lost interest.

To be eligible to make this election of semi-annual payment, all previous year taxes must be paid in full by June 1. Taxpayers not making their first semi-annual payment by September 30 are automatically waived out of the semi-annual plan and must pay the full tax bill.

Selection of payment schedule for property taxes may be made upon receipt of tax bill. If taxpayer wishes to pay in full, he/she must choose appropriate coupon and return with the proper payment. If the taxpayer wishes to participate in the semi-annual payment option, the appropriate coupon should be returned with payment before the September 30 deadline.

It is the responsibility of the taxpayer to notify his/her mortgage company of his/her wishes to pay on a semi-annual basis if he/she has an escrow account. The town is not responsible for any conditions or costs that the lender may impose for its involvement in the semi-annual payment process.

Whatever payment plan the taxpayer elects shall remain in effect until the taxpayer decides to change it.

Farm Bureau Asks Government To Increase Ag Research

Last week, Farm Bureau told the Senate Agriculture Committee it strongly supports funding for agricultural research programs so that American farmers may maintain their competitive advantage in world markets and respond to the growing needs of consumers.

Ron Warfield, president of the Illinois Farm Bureau and a member of the American Farm Bureau Federation board of directors, gave that testimony at a hearing concerning reauthorization of agricultural research programs. Warfield also serves on the USDA National Agricultural Research, Extension, Education and Economics Advisory Board.

The Illinois farm leader told the committee that because of reduced government spending on agricultural programs, the American farmer will have to rely more on the markets rather than on government programs. He said farmers support this change, but that they need the support of an active, innovative research program if they are to remain competitive in the global marketplace.

"Agriculture has already sustained many billions of dollars in cuts to farm programs," Warfield said. "This has been done with the understanding that a significant portion of those funds would be reinvested in programs that could give us a better chance to be competitive in an increasingly competitive global agricultural economy."

Warfield told the committee that research is vital to farmers as both the world population and consumers' concerns about environmental, food safety and nutritional issues continue to grow.

Warfield stressed Farm Bureau's concern with improving agriculture Extension programs, saying that while many of the traditional functions of Extension are being addressed by the private sector, new demands in agriculture indicate that outreach programs have not outgrown their usefulness. He added that the benefits of research and Extension activities "will accrue not just to agricultural producers, but also to the general public."

"Americans spend a lower percentage of their disposable income on food than all other countries," Warfield said. "This does not happen by accident. It is a testament to the effectiveness of the research and technology transfer system

Riparian Forest Buffer Video Released By Extension Service

Conservationists concerned about the Chesapeake Bay watershed and its restoration now have a new tool to help spread the word about an important conservation technique. Riparian Forest Buffers: The Link Between Land and Water is a 21-minute videotape produced by the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service to inform the public about the benefits of riparian forest buffers. "The video is specifically designed to help landowners understand riparian forest buffers and their functions and values in agricultural, urban, and forested settings," says Extension regional natural resources specialist Bob Tjaden, who directed production of the video. "It describes the buffers, explains how landowners can create one for themselves, and suggests contacts for additional help and information."

As detailed in the video, riparian forest buffers are areas of trees, shrubs, and herbaceous vegetation located adjacent to and up slope from a lake, stream, or other body of water. They maintain stream system integrity, protect water quality, and improve the habitat of plants and animals on land and in the water by absorbing excess nutrients; providing shade and organic matter; moderating stream temperature; supporting the food web; and controlling sediment, erosion, and stream bank stability.

In 1983, The Chesapeake Bay Program was established to direct and conduct bay restoration. Program scientists have determined that the creation and maintenance of riparian forest buffers will help achieve this goal. Late last year, the bay program issued a directive that called for 2,010 miles of buffers to be planted by the year 2010. The Riparian Forest Buffers video was produced in direct response to the program's recommendations and released to coincide with the announcement of the directive.

Md. Chemist Lab Participates In National Food Safety Program

In an effort to assure the continued safety of the U.S. food supply, the Maryland Department of Agriculture's State Chemist Section is cooperating with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) in a program to test for pesticide residues in food commodities and milk consumed by the public, with emphasis on foods consumed by infants and children. The Maryland State Chemist Lab is one of 10 state laboratories asked to participate in this Pesticide Data Program.

"This is quite an endorsement of the high level of equipment and technical expertise that exist in our State Chemist Laboratory in Maryland. Our laboratory is recognized as being one of the very best in the country," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Lewis R. Riley.

Between now and the year 2000 the Maryland State Chemist Section will weekly obtain six to eight food commodity, primarily fruits and vegetables, and milk samples from the major food distributors in the state, and will perform a chemical residue analysis on the samples. The Maryland results will be sent to USDA for inclusion as part of the national program results.

"Fortunately, in the United States we have one of the safest food supplies of any place in the world. The purpose of this study on pesticide residues in food commodities and milk will be to maintain our high level of safety and quality and to give federal or state government agencies the information they need to protect public health," Riley said.

The Maryland State Chemist Laboratory is one of the oldest consumer protection agencies in Maryland, having been in continuous operation since 1847. The State Chemist Section regularly registers products, examines product labels, secures package content samples at random from retail outlets, and analyzes pet food, animal feed, commercial fertilizers, pesticides, soil conditioners, composts and liming materials for standards established under Maryland laws governing quality, content and labeling.

Mt. Fresh Producers To Meet April 17

The Mt. Fresh Producers, beginning their 10th year of operations, will hold their first meeting to begin planning for the '97 market season on Thursday, April 17, 7:00 p.m., at the Extension Office on South Third Street in Oakland. Anyone residing in Garrett, Tucker, Allegany or Preston counties who may be interested in joining Mt. Fresh for the '97 season, or in learning more about membership, is invited to attend.

The $20 membership fee allows you to set up at the Mt. Fresh Pavilion during the market season at a reduced rate to sell your home grown produce, home baked items, or crafts. In addition to the regular market sale days of Wednesday and Saturday, members can also set up at the pavilion during Autumn Glory, and for other special sale days to be announced.

Anyone unable to attend the meeting but interested in an application for membership should contact the Extension Office in Oakland at 301-334-1990.

Young Farmers, Ranchers Are Optimistic, Innovative About Future

Despite concerns about government regulations, profitability and taxes, America's young farmers and ranchers are increasingly optimistic about the future of agriculture. These young rural professionals are adopting new farming practices, harnessing new technology and employing services that benefit the environment and their business.

Those were among the findings of an informal annual survey of young farmers and ranchers, ages 18-35, conducted by the American Farm Bureau Federation, the nation's largest general farm organization. Overall, the fifth annual survey found that the future of American agriculture is promising and continues to be in able hands.

This year's survey of 339 young farmers and ranchers tracked their attitudes and choices on issues ranging from government regulations to the use of technology.

According to this year's survey, 28.6 percent of the young farmers said their top challenge was government regulations, followed closely by a related topic -- overall profitability -- selected by 26.2 percent of the respondents. Those two challenges flip flopped rankings from last year's survey. Over the survey's history, regulations have been the top concern twice, while overall profitability has topped the list three times.

The third biggest challenge this year was tax burdens, selected by 14.9 percent. Fourth on this year's list of challenges was the availability of land and facilities, cited by 8.6 percent. Fifth on the list was urban encroachment on prime farmland (6 percent). This year's list of other challenges, in descending order, includes: health care availability and cost; availability of agricultural financing; competition from established or larger farms; the willingness of parents to turn over the operation's reins; and inadequate rural support services.

Protecting property rights still a priority

When asked to select the most important step government could take to help them and their farm, 29.7 percent said government should do more to protect property rights. Protecting property rights has ranked first for four consecutive years.

Federal tax reform was second on this year's policy wish list with 21.7 percent of the vote. Boosting U.S. agricultural exports was third with 14.7 percent. Fourth was providing more financial assistance for beginning farmers (11 percent). Balancing the federal budget through spending restraint was fifth with 8.3 percent. Sixth was approving meaningful regulatory reform with 6.1 percent.

Other recommendations, in order of preference, were: continue to support current farm program; fund research for alternative crops and new uses for traditional commodities; ensure the availability of crop protectants; and a tie between increasing voluntary environmental incentives and developing better risk management programs.

When asked their opinion regarding the source of agricultural income once the current farm program expires, 71.7 percent said farm income should come totally from the marketplace, while 28.3 percent said farm income should continue to be supplemented by farm program payments.

Environment, economics important for young farmers

The group reported greater use of conservation and environmentally beneficial farming practices this year. More than 73 percent said they employ conservation tillage on the farm (69 percent in 1996). Nearly 59 percent said they regularly test soil or crop tissue prior to nutrient application (46.3 percent last year) and 58.3 percent said they practice crop rotation with three or more crops (49 percent last year). One-third said they use integrated pest management techniques such as field scouting to reduce crop protectant use (24 percent in 1996).

Regarding other farming practices, 33 percent said they regularly test their well water; 26 percent use contour farming or strip cropping; 22 percent have land enrolled in the conservation reserve program; 18.8 percent actively manage wetland resources; and 18 percent leave crop strips unharvested for wildlife.

Nearly all of the young farmers surveyed said they select farming practices based on both the environment and economics. According to the survey, 73.7 percent said both with an emphasis on economics, 23.4 percent said both with an emphasis on the environment. Those results generally mirror the findings of past surveys.

Management, marketing practices sharpened

This year's survey indicates that young farmers employ a number of business management and marketing practices and services to gain a competitive edge. The most commonly used services were marketing information services, used by 49.3 percent of respondents. Accounting services and crop consultants tied for second, with 42.8 percent. More than 40 percent of those surveyed said they use futures and options to market their commodities. Nearly a third, 32.2 percent,

Future May See Consumption Of Red Meat End

by Stewart Truelsen, Director of Broadcast Services, American Farm Bureau Federation

According to "Chronology of the Future" by David Barrett of Regent University, humans will land on Mars in the year 2045.

Barrett's prediction about manned spaceflights to Mars doesn't seem very surprising, but what he says will take place 15 years earlier is a real eye-opener.

Barrett predicts that in the year 2030, consumption of red meat will vanish!

Your first reaction might be to take another bite of your hamburger and say, "No way."

While you are finishing that hamburger, think about this. There is a not-so-subtle campaign against meat.

In fact, it's not subtle at all. It's being waged in newspapers, on television, on the Internet and in schools.

In the March 9 Des Moines Register, the feature story in the "Life-Style" section is headlined "Young and Vegetarian."

The article is as much anti-meat as it is pro-vegetarian. Under the heading "Tips for Budding Vegetarians," the Register passes along advice on how kids can become vegetarians without upsetting their parents.

To make it even easier for kids to become vegetarians, the Agriculture Department just approved yogurt as a substitute for meat in school lunch programs. The government already allows schools to substitute cheese, beans, eggs and peanut butter for meat.

Except for Bill Clinton dining on a Big Mac, meat-eaters rarely make news for their dietary preferences, but animal rights activists and vegetarians make news all the time. Most recently, James Cromwell, who played a farmer in the movie "Babe," teamed up with PETA (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals) to adopt a prize hog.

Cromwell said he didn't want the pig to become a ham sandwich.

In an episode of the highly-rated "Seinfeld" TV show, Jerry doesn't want a girlfriend to know he doesn't like meat so he spits it into a napkin when she's not watching. In "3rd Rock from the Sun," another sitcom with a huge audience, actress Jane Curtin spits out a piece of meat in disgust during a funny scene.

The livestock industry is well-represented on the Internet, but so are the anti-meat forces. If you surf over to Cowtown (<http://www.cowtown.org>), the beef industry Web site, you'll find a report on how beef fits into a healthy diet. The tone is positive and helpful.

The anti-meat Web sites are full of inflammatory, preposterous statements about meat.

When you think about it, the "Chronology of the Future," which also was reviewed in Futurist magazine, may not be so far out in predicting that meat will vanish from the American diet in the year 2030. The young people to whom this anti-meat campaign is targeted are the moms and dads of tomorrow. They will choose or not choose meat for themselves and their children.

On March 28, 1995 we suffered a great loss of my husband, our father and grandfather (now great-grandfather). It's very lonely here without you, just too hard to believe how God called you away so suddenly. As days pass by, we find ourselves missing you greatly, but we know that we will soon meet again.

Still loved very deeply and sadly missed.

SHS Students To Test Skills In AAA Contest

Two students from Southern High School will be pitting their automotive repair skills against nine other Maryland teams at Catonsville Community College on Saturday, April 26, from 10 a.m. to noon in the State Finals of the 1997 Ford/AAA Student Auto Skills National Quality Care Challenge, according to Sharon Perry of AAA.

Marshall E. Neel, Oakland, and Scott A. Schroyer, Crellin, are two of the nearly 6,000 students competing nationwide.

Each team will be given a hands-on challenge testing their ability to repair identically "bugged" Ford automobiles. Perry explained. Scores will be based on quality of work and speed with which the repairs are correctly made. The winner of the Maryland competition will represent the state in the national finals contest to be held in Washington, D.C., June 16.

The winner also earns a spot in the Ford Motor Co.'s ASSET (Automotive Student Service Educational Training) program, which includes scholarships to associate degree automotive programs and paid apprenticeships at Ford or Lincoln Mercury dealerships.

Young Farmers,

global information services, where satellite technology is used to plot field applications, continues to see steep increases -- 13.6 percent this year, compared to 6.6 percent in 1996 and 3 percent in 1995. More than half (50.8 percent) of those responding said they currently -- or plan to within the next two years -- plant biotech crop varieties.

Computers, Internet utilized

Overall, young farmers and ranchers are on the cutting edge when it comes to the use of electronic and communications technology. Computers are used on the farm by 83.8 percent of those surveyed. Nearly three-fourths, 73.2 percent, reported owning cellular telephones and 41.9 percent communicate by fax.

Internet use has exploded since last year. Nearly one third, 32.2 percent, reported having access to the Internet, compared with 10.5 percent last year. E-mail is used by 22.7 percent and computer bulletin board services by 17.1 percent. Home satellite reception was reported by 28.9 percent of respondents (62 percent of those respondents reported having small dish technology).

Most young farmers are "in it for life"

Nearly all of the young farmers surveyed (97.2 percent) said they planned to be life-long farmers, compared to 95.9 percent last year, 99.5 percent in 1995, 99 percent in 1994 and 95 percent in 1993. On a similar note, 90.9 percent said they would like their children to follow in their footsteps as farmers, compared to 95.5 percent last year, 94 percent in 1995, 87 percent in 1994 and 81 percent in 1993.

When asked their attitude regarding agriculture's future, 80.8 percent said they were more optimistic than five years ago. That compared to 73.5 percent last year, 72 percent in 1995, 61.5 percent in 1994 and 67 percent in 1993. This year, 75.3 percent said they were "better off" than five years ago. That's higher than last year's 72.3 percent, but lower than 1995's 80 percent.

Continuing with that optimism, 76.1 percent of those responding said they plan on their operation being larger five years from now. Twenty-two percent said the same size and only 1.9 percent said smaller.

Optimism, however, is also tempered by financial reality. Nearly two-thirds (64.6 percent) of the young farmers and ranchers said they, their spouse or both work off the farm. That is a significant decrease from the 82 percent reported in 1996. This year's number is more in line with previous years (68 percent in 1995 and 62 percent in 1994). This year, wives are the sole source of off-farm income in 59.3 percent of those instances, and husbands are the sole source in 19.6 percent of the surveyed families. Both spouses work off the farm in 21.1 percent of the cases. Of the young farmers that reported off-farm employment, 44.4 percent said the availability of health insurance is the primary reason.

In addition to off-farm income, 63.3 percent of the young farmers surveyed said they supplement their farm income with other farm-related enterprises, such as custom work, truck driving and seed and supply sales. That's up from last year's 55.7 percent.

According to the survey, 52 percent of the respondents started farming or ranching as a member of a family partnership. Nearly a fourth, 23.9 percent said marriage led them to the farm. Seventeen percent started farming on their own, and 6.7 percent reported that they inherited their operation.

When asked why they chose to become farmers, 65.2 percent said they based their choice on agriculture's lifestyle and business opportunities. A third of the respondents said they chose farming due mainly to lifestyle advantages. Only 1.8 percent said the sole reason they farm is the business aspect of agriculture.

According to the survey, respondents are willing to tell agriculture's story. More than 55 percent said they had contacted a member of their state legislature in the previous year, and 39.8 percent reported communicating with a member of Congress. More than half (51.6 percent) said they spoke about agriculture at a civic gathering or participated in a local meeting, 40.7 percent reported working or communicating with the news media, and 38.4 percent reported visiting a school classroom or hosting an organized visit to their farm or ranch. This year's survey of young farmers and ranchers was conducted in February during AFBF's Young Farmers and Ranchers Leaders Conference in Denver, Colo.

The Road of life seems long
As we travel through the years
And with a heart that's broken
And eyes brimful of tears,
We falter in our weariness
And sink beside the way
But God leans down and whispers,
"Child, there'll be another day
And the road will grow much smoother
And much easier to face
So do not be disheartened
This is just a resting place."

AHEC Announces Seminar On Diet, Cancer Prevention

Cancer Prevention and Diet is the topic for an April 18 seminar designed for health care professionals as well as lay persons, who want to more fully understand the connections between diet and cancer. The Friday seminar is scheduled from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Continuing Education Building at Allegany College of Maryland in Cumberland. This educational activity is approved for continuing education contact hours for dietitians, dietetic technicians, dietary managers, and nurses.

"The American Cancer Society, Allegany College, and the Dietetic Caucus of the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center are pleased to have Dr. Lawrence Cheskin, of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, and Anne Scatzi, a registered nurse dietician at the Johns Hopkins Weight Management Center as presenters," a spokesperson for AHEC said.

Instruction will include the following topics:

- 1) Methods used to assess dietary risk for cancer.
- 2) How to understand specific risk factors associated with various cancers.
- 3) How to examine one's lifestyle to determine exposure to cancer risks.
- 4) The role of diet in cancer prevention.
- 5) The current guidelines on diet, nutrition, and cancer prevention.

6) Understanding the role of the health professional in cancer prevention.

Swanton Woman Wins Nursing Scholarship

Jennifer Burns of Swanton has been awarded a nursing scholarship for the current school year for study at Allegany College, Cumberland, according to a recent announcement by the Allegany College Foundation.

Burns plans to complete an associate degree in nursing in May, the foundation spokesman said. Burns graduated valedictorian of Pleasant Valley Christian Academy at age 26 and completed pre-nursing studies at Garrett Community College.

She has also earned certification as a nursing assistant and is employed as a human service aide by the Garrett County Health Department. Burnes is the daughter of Dwight Snyder, Oakland and Hallie Snyder, Mountain Lake Park. She is married to Joey Burns.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

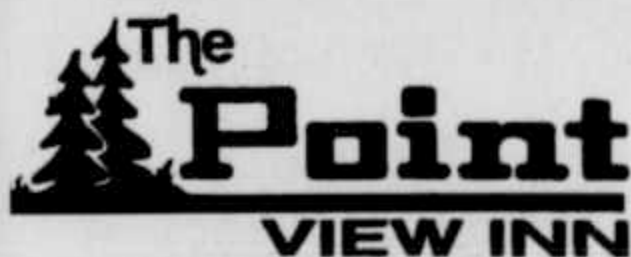

(SPECIAL) a drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itise" and is being called a "medical miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itise relieves pain by first selectively attracting and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itise is available immediately without a prescription in an odorless, greasy, non-staining cream or new easy applicator liquid form. Arthur Itise is guaranteed to work or your money back.

SHS Names Students Of The Month For March

Peter Porcaro, a sophomore and the son of John and Kathleen Porcaro of Oakland, is an honor roll student. He runs cross country and track. He has received the Minds in Motion award three times, as well as the National Civics and Social Studies award. Also, Peter has been nominated to Who's Who Among American High School Students. He is currently the vice president of the sophomore class. His plans for the future include attending Johns Hopkins University to pursue a career in the medical field.

Amanda Stewart, daughter of Brad and Patsy Stewart of Oakland, is a freshman who was nominated for science. In school, Amanda is involved in marching, concert, and stage band. She was chosen to be a member of the All-State junior band for 1996-97. Amanda is an honor roll student and has been nominated for the National Citizenship award, as well as Who's Who Among American High School Students. Her activities and awards in the community include attending the Loch Lynn Church of God; being a member of the WVU Community Orchestra, the Potomac State College Community Band, Tri-State Honor Band at FSU, first Chair, first band, trombone at WVU Honor Band; and she has also played with the U.S. Navy Band. Amanda has played in a brass quintet. She takes lessons from Keith Jackson, and won first place solo brass winner at a Church of God competition in Delmarva, DC. Upon attending college, she plans to major in music performance and minor in music education.

Nominee for the art Student of the Month was Paul Tepper, a senior, son of Richard and Shirley Tepper of Mtn. Lake Park. Paul has been involved with marching band and wrestling for four years. He is a Bi-County Champion wrestler at 135 lbs. He has been nominated to Who's Who Among American High School Students four times and Who's Who in Sports, and the United States Achievement Academy for band. Paul placed second in the GCC High School art competition. He attends the Faith Evangelical Free Church. In the future, he plans on attending Columbus College of Art and Design, majoring in animation.

Jennifer Barnard, senior, was chosen as the student of the month for Career and Technology classes. Jennifer is the daughter of Bill and Debbie Barnard of Swanton. She has served as drum major for the Southern Garrett Marching Band, president of the Oakland FFA Chapter, and secretary/treasurer of the National Honor Society. She has been named to the honor roll during all four of her years at Southern High School. In the community, Jennifer devotes much of her time to being a member of the 4-H organization. She has served as a Maryland representative to the National 4-H Conference, National 4-H Fashion Review, and the National 4-H Youth Congress. Jennifer is a member of the Deer Park Methodist Church, where she plays piano. She plans to continue her education at a college and then go on to become a veterinarian.

Freshman Paul Liller of Oakland was chosen as the English Student of the Month. He is the son of Paul and Sadie Liller. Paul has been named to the honor roll, was a member of the JV soccer team, recipient of a Minds in Motion award, and is a member of the Mock Trial Team. In the community, Paul participated in the Tall Tale Liller's Festival, receiving a first place award and also acting as a judge. He is a former cub scout. He also volunteers at the Kid's Hut Early Learning Center. His aspirations for the future include going to Harvard Law School.

Janice Plauger, daughter of Jerome and Jeanne Plauger of Mtn. Lake Park, is the math Student of the Month. This senior is a Maryland Distinguished Scholar Semifinalist, Distinguished Honor Roll student, a member of the National Honor Society, School Improvement Team subcommittee member, and served as a Junior Class Leader. She has received Student of the Month awards for science, world history, and technology education. She has also been named Who's Who Among American High School Students. Janice is very active in the community as she performs various volunteer activities with the Garrett County Health Department, and is a member of STEAM (Student Tobacco Elimination Among Minors). She attended the Mountain Lake Writers' Festival and is also a Mountain Lake Laureate. Her plans for the future include attending a four year college and majoring in a business field.

Neubert Awarded Research Position

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has awarded a summer research apprenticeship to Eric Neubert, a junior at Northern High School. Neubert will spend eight weeks this summer in aerospace engineering under the supervision of a mentor and faculty member at Hampton University, Hampton, Va.

The NASA Summer

High School Apprentice Research Program (SHARP) PLUS in which Neubert is participating, offers 300 students the opportunity to pursue interests in math, science, and engineering. The research sessions are held at fifteen different university sites.

Neubert is a distinguished honor roll student at Northern High School and has won numerous academic awards. He also has participated in varsity sports and community activities. He lives in Grantsville with his parents, Cathy and John Neubert.

MS Seminar On Working Planned For April 26

The Western Maryland Branch, Maryland Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society and the Center for Continuing Education, Allegany College of Maryland will present "Taking Charge: Working with a Disability," to be held Saturday, April 26, at the Center for Continuing Education, Allegany College of Maryland, Willowbrook Road, Cumberland. It will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. This program will focus on maintaining employment and improving work performance.

A panel of area professionals with knowledge about a variety of employment concerns will provide information and creative solutions to relevant challenges in the workplace. The program is designed for people with adult onset physical disabilities or chronic illness, persons who are currently working and have questions or concerns, persons who are seeking employment or retraining, and family members and others providing support.

The cost for the program will be $5.00 per person. The price includes morning refreshments and all program materials. To register, those interested may contact Robin Turner at 301-791-5754. The registration deadline is April 18, 1997.

HOUSE OF HOPE OPENS THIRD FOOD PANTRY - The House of Hope recently opened its third food pantry, which is located at the parsonage of the McHenry United Methodist Church on Bumble Bee Road. The church has maintained a food pantry for three years as part of the church's Outreach Ministry Program, according to Rev. Sam Wachter. The church has now joined its efforts with the House of Hope to expand the assistance. The House of Hope operates two other food pantries -- one in Bittinger and another in Deer Park, with the main storage area located in Oakland. Pictured left to right as they help arrange food items are church members Sue Wachter, Carol Moss, Don Moss, and Rev. Wachter. The House of Hope is a non-profit organization supported solely by contributions. It does not seek or accept government funding. The objective of the organization is to help people for whom there is no other source of assistance or when governmental agencies have exhausted their resources. All requests for food must be made directly through the House of Hope, after which arrangements are made at the individual pantries. A spokesperson for the House of Hope said the goal is to help people in need feel empowered and to help them uncover ways to help themselves or to seek assistance. Persons who wish to donate to the House of Hope may write to the organization at P.O. Box 24, Oakland, MD 21550, or call 334-2357.

GCM Hospital Offering Free Course In CPR

Free training in adult cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) will be offered by Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Saturday, April 19, from 7:30 to 9 a.m. in the hospital's Community Services Center. The hospital serves as a CPR training center through the American Heart Association.

Training sessions will include: information on heart disease; risk factors; signs and signals of a heart attack; mouth-to-mouth breathing; one-person adult CPR; and care for a conscious and unconscious choking victim. Classes follow the guidelines of the American Heart Association.

Coordinating instructors for the class will be Laurie Grant, RN MNEd, Garrett Memorial's director of education services, and Beth Newcomb, RN, education coordinator.

The American Heart Association estimates that nationwide over 1.5 million people will suffer heart attacks this year and nearly 500,000 will die. In the state of Maryland alone, over 11,000 people will die from heart disease. Many of these people could be saved if CPR were started within the first four minutes after cardiac arrest.

Persons interested in taking this free CPR class should call Garrett Memorial's education department at (301) 334-2155, ext. 397 or 414 to register and obtain additional information.

Two NHS Students Present Projects At Md. Symposium

Northern High School students Rachael A. Gosnell and Eric S. Neubert were recently selected to present their research projects at the Maryland Junior Science Symposium.

NHS science instructor Michelle Harman accompanied them to the symposium in College Park. Ninety students submitted research, but only one third of them were selected to make presentations at the two-day conference, Harman said. Gosnell presented her four-year project titled "Strip-Mining and the Environment." Neubert's research presentation was titled "Performance Analysis of Methods for Solving Linear Systems of Equations and Graphically Studying Aerodynamic Results."

Both students presented their projects to students and instructors from across the state. At an awards luncheon at the conclusion of the symposium, they were recognized for their accomplishments and given certificates and monetary awards.

Rachel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buz Gosnell of Accident. She will attend the Naval Academy after her June graduation. During her high school career, she has been honored with many awards and certificates and has been involved in a wide variety of school activities and athletic teams.

Eric, a junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Neubert of Grantsville. He has received awards and been recognized for his achievements in many areas. He has also participated in school activities sports programs.

Musicians, Vendors Being Sought By GOBA For Series

In an effort to encourage residents and visitors to enjoy the Oakland downtown area, the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) is currently scheduling a concert series for this summer, according to Ken Perrin, chairman of GOBA's Revitalization Committee.

"We are hoping to be able to utilize the plaza area at the courthouse for these concerts," Perrin said. "It's a wonderful setting that is rarely used by the community."

The tentative plans are to have concerts on consecutive Wednesday nights from July 9 until the Wednesday before the Garrett County Agricultural Fair. Musical groups are being sought, as are persons who would like to set up vending booths at the events.

Several music acts have already been booked, according to Perrin, including Diane Hubka, a jazz vocalist, Neil Krebs, and the Jeff Gilbert Garage Band. Interested musical groups or persons who would like to arrange vending booths may call Perrin at 334-3151.

Accident And Injury Result On Icy April Road

Traveling westbound on I-68 near Casselman Bridge, Grantsville, April 6, around 1:45 a.m. Teresa L. Beechie, 23, Frostburg, lost control of her vehicle on the icy road, according to a report filed at Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

The report states Beechie slid across the shoulder, then across two lanes, struck a ditch in the median and overturned. The vehicle came to rest on its roof in the eastbound lane.

Northern Rescue and Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department responded to the scene. Beechie was transported by Northern Rescue to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, where she was treated and released.

ACCIDENT NEAR GORMAN

people being transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital.

According to Maryland State Police in a report filed at Barrack W, McHenry, Lawrence W. Ford Sr. was driving a van registered to Garrett County Community Action in the southbound lane of King Wildesen Road when he encountered Lori Ann Robine, 26, Oakland, traveling northbound in the southbound lane.

The report states that Ford was unable to stop in time to avoid a collision. Robine was charged in the incident and both drivers along with two juvenile passengers in the Robine vehicle were treated and released from Garrett Memorial Hospital.

DWI/DUI
Gerald K. Yutzy, 23, Grantsville, was arrested by MSP, April 6, 12:30 a.m. and charged with driving while intoxicated and driving under the influence.

According to the police report, as Yutzy was traveling westbound on Route 40 west of New Germany Road, an officer observed the suspect weaving in the road and failing to obey a traffic control device.

Yutzy has since been released to his wife.

Howell To Present Piano Concert

Gale Poe Howell, Elkins, W.Va., will present a piano concert at the Pleasant View Baptist Church on Sunday, April 20, beginning at 6:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend the event.

Mrs. Howell began her musical study at the age of 4 with Anna Calain. She earned a bachelor of arts degree with honors in applied piano from West Virginia Wesleyan College in 1975, where she studied with Dr. Bobby H. Loftis. She received the master of arts in piano pedagogy from Ohio State University in 1978, studying there with Dr. Rosemary Platt and Richard Tetley-Kardos. She learned during her studies that her musical lineage extends back to Franz Liszt. She has "perfect pitch."

She currently teaches 65 piano/organ students, ranging in age from 7 to 75, in Elkins. She taught previously at a Rapid City, South Dakota, music studio where she served as the assistant director.

In addition to studio teaching, Mrs. Howell has an extensive background in accompanying. She has been the accompanist for the Larry Parsons Chorale, Concert Chorale, and Choral Union at Wesleyan, as well as the Buckhannon-Upshur Children's Choir and the Harrison County Symphonic Chorus. She and soprano Sandra Schneider were awarded in 1982 with a National Endowment grant to tour South Dakota with a program titled "Hurray for American Composers!"

The pianist/organist has played for church services since she was 10. She is member of the First United Methodist Church in Elkins and serves as that church's organist and choir accompanist. She is married to Howard W. Howell and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Flor S. Poe and the late Bernadine D. Poe.

Mrs. Howell is active in the Music Teachers National Association and is a member and past president of Sigma Alpha Iota and Pi Kappa Lambda, both professional music honoraries.

She plans to play a variety of music in the concert, including classical, popular, and spiritual pieces. She will also take requests from the audience.

A reception will follow the concert in the church hall. The church is located two miles south of Oakland along Rt. 219.

For more information, persons may call 334-8515.

Extension To File Maryland Return Available

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says more than 200,000 taxpayers filed for an extension of time to file their Maryland income tax returns last year. "If you are among those needing an extension of time, here is what you need to know," Goldstein said.

The comptroller advises taxpayers who are unable to meet the April 15 filing deadline to file an extension through his Internet website, by telephone, or by mail. "If you owe additional taxes you must file a paper copy of Form 502E and submit a check for the amount of the tax due," Goldstein said. "Remember, an extension is only an extension of time to file, not an extension of time to pay."

Taxpayers who don't owe additional tax can file for an extension by telephone by calling 410-974-5829, or on the Internet at www.comp.stat.md.us. Maryland is the first state in the nation to accept online filings of extensions.

A Tax Procrastinator's Guide, which answers both federal and state questions such as where taxpayers can get a form, how to file for an extension, where free tax help is available, and other important tax tips, can be found online at the address above.

Taxpayers who need one-on-one taxpayer assistance can stop by any of the comptroller's taxpayer services offices. One-stop federal and state assistance is available at the State Office Building at 301 West Preston Street or the Fallon Federal Building at 31 Hopkins Plaza in Baltimore. The assistance is available weekdays beginning at 8 a.m.

Fousek Given

jury to think worse of Fousek. May said it should not have been discussed during the proceedings because evidence of other crimes is not admissible unless it falls well within the delineated subject. The judge had apparently instructed the jury about the tax return issue at the time the topic came up in the trial.

"No matter how one instructs the jury," May said, "information like this underscores the fact that the defendant has done something improper and leads the jury to think 'this defendant should be convicted because he's a bad person.' I urge upon the court that a new trial be granted as to the count of theft."

Montanarelli countered the motion by stating that Braskey had merely repeated what Fousek had told him and that this did not constitute a confirmation of the defendant's claim of forgetfulness.

"If a police officer talks with a defendant after arresting him and then repeats that conversation in court, we don't assume it to be fact. It is simply a retelling of what the defendant said," the prosecutor stated. As to the tax form information, Montanarelli said the issue came up in the questioning of witnesses and that it was relevant at the time. As to Fousek's forgetting the advance, the prosecutor said that was a "jury question" and the jury had answered it.

Judge Arnold said he had reviewed the motion for a new trial.

"I feel the court gave sufficient instruction about the evidence presented and the issue was fairly before the jury. Therefore, the motion for a new trial is denied," he said.

Montanarelli then spoke about the pre-sentence investigation report, compiled by probation agent Barbara Taylor. He was displeased that the agent had not contacted the state for any information, as the report consisted mainly of an interview with the defendant.

"No where in this PSI is an admittance of anything wrong," Montanarelli said. "He blames it all on a mistake -- the loss of his job, his house, his community. No where do I see any remorse on the part of the defendant. He said he had enemies in Garrett County and he blames his trouble on these people. They didn't fail to report his taxes, they didn't get an advance of cash. This man was the top government official in Garrett County for 14 years. This is different than a case of a citizen stealing from a citizen. The court should hold him to a higher standard."

"In the twilight of his career, the defendant apparently decided to get as much money from Garrett County as he could. And the only thing the jury heard was that 'he forgot.' As smart as this man is, as sharp as he is in finance -- he wouldn't forget."

The prosecutor then made the state's recommendation as to sentencing.

"The state would agree to three years [for the theft case] concurrent to the tax sentence with two years suspended and one year in jail. We would have no objection to a work release. We're not trying to destroy this man, as I have said before. But he should've known better. He knew full well what he was doing."

"The state would strenuously argue against probation before judgment. We would never want to see him in another government job in which he would have access to money."

"Restitution should be made to the citizens of Garrett County," Montanarelli concluded.

Concerning restitution, May announced that Fousek had in his possession at that time over $7,000 to pay the arrearage in taxes.

"It was necessary for him to beg and borrow from family and friends to get this money, but he does have it today in checks and money orders," May said.

The attorney then launched into a lengthy description of Fousek's plight over the past several years, stating that there is "no way to describe the degree over the past decade to which Mr. Fousek has suffered."

"While working in Garrett County, serving in a number of positions, he was assaulted constantly by certain individuals as he tried to do his best for the county. . . . This is absolutely a destroyed man. In all my years as a lawyer, this is one of the saddest situations I've ever seen. He did everything in Garrett County, sometimes with absolutely no compensation. He is an emotional casualty, not just from this case but from working too hard."

"Just to give you some flavor of outrageous behavior, the political climate in Garrett County was so heated that this case had to be relocated. I daresay this is one of the few times it has been necessary to remove a theft case. . . ."

"As a result of this, Mr. Fousek will forever be branded as a thief and a felon. . . . he fell on his sword. . . . I was reminded of this during Holy Week -- 'Let's crucify Fousek.'"

May then described a variety of health problems Fousek has experienced in the past several years, holding up thick medical record notebooks. He said the defendant nearly died of a heart ailment, is suffering from major depression, and has been diagnosed as having a spastic colon. May chiefly attributed the causes of these illnesses to the stress Fousek tolerated when he worked for the county as well as the stress caused by the investigation and conviction.

"This is a man who just got into an unbelievable jam," May said. "No one's perfect. There's only been one perfect person, and he was put to death."

May said Fousek had to sell his Garrett County home.

"And oh, what a magnificent place it was," he said. "It was his and his wife's dream home. Now they are renting an apartment."

May reported that Fousek had secured a job in Eastern Maryland, where he now resides, but when he entered a guilty plea in January to the tax violation, someone clipped the news article about the plea from the Cumberland Times-News and sent it, anonymously, to his new employer. He was fired immediately, May said, which added a great deal of stress to an already stressful situation.

May concluded his statements by reviewing the situation he said Fousek was in when the over-payments were received. He said Fousek owned a beer outlet, check cashing service in Ocean City called "333, Inc." He was an absentee owner and the business, May said, "went belly up."

"He had enormous liabilities here. He was so depressed, overworked, and overwhelmed. . . ."

"We are asking for mercy. The state has been absolutely fair, but incarceration is not appropriate here. He's been devastated. What useful purpose would be served by his incarceration -- as punishment? He has been punished. As a deterrent? I guarantee you'll never see this man in court again."

May then called Braskey to the stand, who testified that he has known Fousek for over 14 years on both a professional and personal basis. He reviewed the incidents that led to the investigation into the commissioners' office and Fousek and stated that "it became obvious that [Attorney Robert] Watson did not like Mr. Fousek and wanted him out."

May asked Braskey if he considered Fousek to be an honest person and Braskey answered "yes." He asked if he trusted Fousek and Braskey again answered in the affirmative. May asked Braskey if he felt the pressure Fousek was under in his work for the county was related to the charges against him and Braskey said yes.

Montanarelli then questioned the commissioner, first confirming that Braskey was not speaking for the other two commissioners, Wayne Wilt and Roger Glatfelter, whom he said do not trust Fousek. Braskey agreed.

"In fact, the other two refused to accept a promissory note from Fousek to pay back the $6,000, didn't they?" Montanarelli asked. Braskey said that was true. (Apparently, Fousek had attempted to make arrangements to pay back the $6,000 but was rejected by the majority.)

"You have had a long close relationship with the defendant -- is that correct?" the prosecutor asked. "Yes sir," Braskey answered. "Would you be willing to forgive anything he has done?" After a moment, Braskey again said "yes sir."

"He's made some mistakes, but basically he's an honest person," Braskey concluded.

Burnett was then called to the stand. May asked him if he was familiar with the circumstances leading up to the present situation and Burnett said no; that he had stayed away from it. He was asked if he knew of the media coverage of the issue and he said he was aware of it but had stayed away from it as well.

Burnett testified that he has known the defendant for 12 to 14 years, initially on a professional basis and then as a friend. The essence of his testimony was of his concern for Fousek's health and mental condition over the past several years.

"I have been quite concerned and anxious about his condition," Burnett said. He related the experience in January when Fousek's employer got what Burnett called "the infamous news article," which led to the loss of the job.

"I just happened to call him one day. It was the day the news article had been received by his employer. He was destroyed, weeping, suicidal. I was quite concerned and spent a lot of time on the phone trying to get help for him. It was bad," he said.

Burnett also testified that the Fousek family has been devastated by the course of events and that his children are asking questions about their father's fate. While supporting Fousek as a friend, however, Burnett did not condemn the jury's verdict.

"I trust the jury system. There are no excuses for what he did," he said. "But I've seen what he's gone through over the past several years and I don't want to see him go through any more." He added that he believes Fousek is remorseful for his actions.

Finally, Fousek stood and spoke to the judge.

"The past seven years of my life have been extremely difficult," he said. "The stresses of the job, responsibilities placed on me -- many of those I accepted without compensation -- but that was my decision."

"The stress kept building, adding on and on, and things just went out of control," he said, his voice faltering. "I made a judgmental error -- this was not my norm. As the stresses increased, I just became more unaware of what I was doing."

"This has destroyed me physically, mentally, and financially," he said.

Judge Arnold then addressed the defendant and counsel.

"I have been thinking a lot about this case over the weekend. This is the kind of thing that can wake judges up in the middle of the night. Some of you might be surprised to hear that."

"There is a danger in becoming an elected officer or a high level public servant," the judge said. "Power is a dangerous thing. It breeds arrogance. The worst punishment for arrogance is humiliation."

"In your work for Garrett County, I'm sure you saved money for the county, maybe more than what you're responsible for taking. But you did it. The jury decided that. I will try to fall somewhere between what the state wants and what the defense wants. Considering the offenses, there has been punishment in this case -- mainly humiliation," he said.

The judge then announced the five-year suspended sentence and the other penalties.

In a later interview with Montanarelli, he said he still felt the crime was of a magnitude that warranted more punishment than humiliation, but he said he respected Arnold's decision.

"It has been a pleasure to try the case in front of him," he said. "He is a wise and compassionate man."

May spoke in a telephone interview yesterday, stating that he hoped Monday marked the "first day of the rest of his [Fousek's] life" and the entire episode could be "a blessing in disguise."

"I say that because he had to get out of there [Garrett County]. That job was slowly but surely killing him with the pressure," May said. "I think the outcome was fair."

"He's clearly been hurt and perhaps professionally destroyed. Bob is a great guy. This stuff was just aberrational," he said.

The Family of ERNEST K. HAUSER would like to thank everyone for their love and concern for Ernest during his illness and death. Thanks to the doctors and nurses at Sacred Heart Hospital. Thanks to our relatives and friends for their visits, cards, flowers, food and for being there for us at this time. Thanks to Rev. Don Matthews, Rev. With Pride

NATIONAL WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH was recently celebrated at Garrett Community College. Titled "Celebrate Yourself," the event was planned and prepared by the staff of the New Horizons program under the direction of Barbara Frey. The activities included videos, presentations of information, demonstrations, and small discussion groups. The topics for the day involved the work and the lives of prominent women in history and in personal experience. The facilitators for the celebration pictured above are, left to right, Sandy Derato, FCSI; Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, GCC; Sharon Corley, Community Action; Sandi Flockhart, motivational speaker and facilitator; Lowell Bender, associate dean of continuing education, GCC; Cheryl Angle, Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulations; Manning Smith, associate dean of student services, GCC; and Linda Fike, director of personnel, GCC. Tammy Manthos, associate professor of office technology, GCC, was absent for the picture. Presenters at the event are pictured below in the same order. They are Stacie Smith, Jodie Teets, Melinda Vaughn, Shannon Arblaster, Phyllis Furr, Robbin Stemple, and Matia Egan. Alyce McDowell was absent for the picture.

New Web Site On Md. Tourism Now Available

As part of Maryland's efforts to increase customer service through technology, Governor Parris N. Glendening has announced that Maryland is now marketing its tourism opportunities in cyberspace. Potential visitors can now learn about Maryland's abundant tourism attractions and events online through its new Internet home page at the address www.mdinfo.org.

The home page was created by the Maryland Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development. The web site made its official debut last February and was an immediate success, with 18,849 hits registered in February and another 31,465 during March. These figures are expected to increase dramatically when the state's new advertising campaign begins in April.

"One of my top economic development priorities is to aggressively promote Maryland tourism, and our new home page showcases Maryland's great destinations and attractions to the growing audience on the World Wide Web," said Governor Glendening. "Tourism is the second largest industry in Maryland, providing thousands of family-supporting jobs and millions of dollars in tax revenue. Our home page will help boost Maryland tourism and the benefits that our state derives from it."

The tourism home page includes information on a variety of attractions, destinations, accommodations, historical sites, and events throughout the state. It is also linked with the home pages of hotels, county tourism offices, government organizations and industry members such as the Restaurant Association of Maryland and the Maryland Association of Campgrounds.

"The Maryland tourism home page is another tool for consumers to see why we say Maryland has 'So Many Things To Do, So Close Together,'" said George Williams, director of the Office of Tourism Development. "Our home page provides the means for web surfers to plan a complete trip to Maryland on their computer."

Tourism is a major industry in Maryland, having an estimated economic impact of approximately $5.4 billion and providing almost 77,000 jobs for Marylanders. One of the largest sources of revenue for the state, tourist spending generates approximately $367 million in tax revenue, which saves each Maryland household an estimated $178 in federal, state, and local taxes.

said he does not want to give the impression that the facility is meant strictly for athletes. "Hall activities will focus on a holistic approach to health and not just in the physical sense," he added.

One aspect of this Wellness Community will include a substance-free floor. Residents will have signed an agreement with the others on the floor not to use alcohol or other drugs, nor return to the community intoxicated.

Although underage drinking, substance abuse, and smoking are prohibited in the residence halls, the substance-free floor will be free of the influence of alcohol and drugs, including such things as residual behavior problems and the smell of smoke in a roommate's clothing.

"A new term that keeps cropping up in residence life circles is second-hand drinking," Severance said. Similar to the now familiar second-hand smoking term, the expression refers to the impact of the negative aspects of drinking without partaking in that activity.

"While the University alcohol policy applies in all our residence halls, residents in this area will voluntarily support and challenge each other to live substance-free," Severance explained.

The movement towards providing substance-free housing on university campuses is growing according to U.S. Department of Education report. The top reason cited for creating the housing alternative is that it allows administrators to send a message to the entire campus community that many, probably most, students do not engage in binge drinking or drink at all.

The creation of this housing option was the result of student surveys done last spring to ascertain what type of housing environments students would be interested in. The option cited most often was substance-free.

Severance noted the importance of students who sign up for the new residence program are motivated to do so. "If they are there strictly because their parents want them to be, it won't work," he said.

FSU To Offer Residence Life Alternatives

Frostburg State University will be offering students more choices for living arrangements next fall by introducing housing options that focus on wellness and community service.

"The Wellness Community addresses wellness in all its dimensions," Dana Severance, associate director of residence life said recently. "This includes the physiological, intellectual, social, cultural, emotional and spiritual aspects of the student's life."

Although the residence hall will house a weight and exercise room, Severance

REQUEST FOR BIDS

The Paradise Ridge Association, Inc., is accepting bids to: (1) Reshape road base, apply 6" gravel base, and lay a 3" thick layer of asphalt 16' wide by 1005' long on Meadow Court, Holly Court, and Ridge View Court. The work includes constructing 2' wide tar and chipped gravel shoulders on each side of the newly paved roads.

(2) Reshape and apply 2" thick layer of gravel 12' wide by 600' long on Ridge View Court.

The work is to be paid for in two increments: Approximately two-thirds on completion in 1997 and the balance with interest in March 1998. The project is located in the Ridge Subdivision 1.25 miles from Sand Flat Road on Paradise Point Road in Garrett County. Additional information and bid packages may be obtained from Mr. S.W. Dearden by telephoning (301) 387-4362. Mr. Dearden will be available by appointment to meet on site to discuss project details. Bids will be received by Mr. Dearden at 93 Penn Point Road, Oakland, MD 21550, until 3:00 p.m., May 1, 1997.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on April 17, 1997, at 7:30 p.m., in the Planning Commission meeting room (Third Floor, Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases.

1) Docket SE-270 and VR-394; an application made by William and Kathryn Edwards for a Special Exception permit to allow the establishment of a Bed and Breakfast Operation on their property located on Marsh Hill Road. The proposed bed and breakfast would involve the construction of an addition to the existing residence which would extend to within 29 feet of the front property line instead of the required 40 feet. The property is located in a LR-Lake Residential Zone.

2) Docket VR-395; an application made by Mr. Robert Browning on behalf of the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance affecting the side and rear property lines. Specifically, the Fire Company is requesting Variances to allow the construction of an addition to the existing fire hall which would extend to within 4.85 feet of the side line instead of the required 15 feet and to within 9.33 feet of the rear line instead of the required 25 feet. The property is located between Deep Creek Drive and US 219 in a TC-Town Center Zone.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing on April 28, 1997, at 7:00 p.m. in Room 314 of the Continuing Education Building at Garrett Community College. The Commissioners will receive public comments on a proposed new draft Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance which is being recommended for adoption by the Garrett County Planning Commission. The recommended new zoning ordinance includes changes to the text as well as the zoning map, and changes are being proposed in order to make the Ordinance consistent with the recently adopted Garrett County Development Plan and the Maryland Economic Growth, Resource Protection and Planning Act of 1992.

The following represents a summary of the most significant policy changes to the Ordinance:

Commercial Resort Districts - Two new zoning districts are proposed: Commercial Resort 1 (CR1) and Commercial Resort (CR2). These districts are primarily intended to encourage concentrations of commercial recreation uses.

Attached Housing - Twin and townhouse dwellings have always been allowed in most of the Deep Creek Watershed. However, the maximum lot requirements are almost impossible to meet for individual twins and townhouses on individual lots. Therefore, the draft ordinance would allow density to be based upon "average" lot sizes for twin and townhouse units. The maximum overall density would not change from the current regulations (i.e., one home per acre in LR).

Cluster Housing - The existing Zoning Ordinance includes provisions for PRDs that allow flexibility in the placement of homes. However, those PRD provisions are burdensome for simple single family home development. Therefore, a less burdensome process is proposed to allow "Single Family Cluster Development" as an option. The Cluster Option would be limited to single family detached houses and would result in the same overall density as a PRD development.

Group Homes - Revisions are needed to the Zoning Ordinance to comply with the Federal Americans with Disabilities Act of 1991, the Federal Fair Housing Act and Supreme Court decisions. These generally require that "Group Homes" be provided for in the same manner as housing for families.

Copies of the Draft Deep Creek Zoning Ordinance are available in the Planning Office, and any questions should be directed to the same at 334-1920.

By virtue of the power and authority contained in that certain deed of trust executed by Robert W. Culbertson as Grantor, to Lane H. Potkin and Nancy Gusman, as Trustees, dated October 5, 1995, and recorded among the land records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 663 at Folio 755 on October 11, 1995, and at the request of the party secured thereby, default having occurred in the terms and conditions thereof, the undersigned, as the Trustee under the aforesaid Deed of Trust, will sell at public auction in front of the Garrett County Court House in Oakland, MD on all the interest of Robert W. Culbertson in that property situated in Garrett County, Maryland, which are described in the said Deed of Trust as follows:

at 1:00 p.m.

ALL that lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 6, in Garrett County, Maryland, lying on the East side of Deep Creek Lake; and being part of Tract No. 4 that was conveyed by Eastern Land Corporation to Fulcher P. Smith and F. Perry Smith Jr. by deed dated August 13, 1945, and recorded in Liber A.G.R. No. 136, folio 544, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and also being part of the 0.81 of an acre parcel that was conveyed by The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County to Fulcher P. Smith and Marie S. Smith, his wife, by deed dated November 14, 1956, and recorded in Liber R.L.D. No. 200, folio 518, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, the parts hereby conveyed are more fully described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING at an iron rod standing in the line of the Pennsylvania Electric Company, said rod standing North 39 degrees 00 minutes West, 324.66 feet from a concrete monument marked "N-289" said monument being the third corner of the 106.70 acre tract that is described as Tract No. 30 in the deed from the Eastern Land Corporation to Youghiogheny Hydro-Electric Corporation, dated October 1, 1925, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 448, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and running thence from said beginning iron rod with the line of the Pennsylvania Electric Company, North 39 degrees 00 minutes West, 100 feet to an iron rod, thence North 52 degrees 57 minutes East, 203.12 feet to an iron rod, thence South 38 degrees 05 minutes East, 85 feet to an iron rod, thence South 48 degrees 42 minutes West, 201.81 feet to the point of beginning, containing 0.44 of an acre, more or less.

ALSO, the right of ingress, regress and egress in and over that part of the land owned by Fulcher P. Smith and Marie S. Smith, his wife, situate between the land hereinbefore described and the County Road adjoining thereto. The above privilege is hereby granted with the distinct understanding that the said Fulcher P. Smith and Marie S. Smith, his wife, their heirs and assigns, shall assume no responsibility arising from the use of the said land.

BEING the same as conveyed by Guy Edward Walker et ux., to Samuel J. Bruscomi and Ann Bruscomi, his wife, by deed dated October 29, 1982, and recorded in Liber No. 429, folio 637, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Subject to a deed of trust from Robert W. Culbertson to Nancy Gusman and Lane Potkin, Trustees for the benefit of Gourley & Harwood, dated October 5, 1995, and recorded October 11, 1995, at Liber 663, Folio 746 in the land records of Garrett County, MD, in the principal sum of $250,000.00 and covenants, restrictions, agreements, easements, rights-of-way and minimum building restrictions lines of record, if any, and any unrecorded leases.

TERMS OF SALE:

A deposit of Six Thousand Dollars ($6,000.00) will be required at the time of sale, such deposits to be in cash, certified check or in such other form as the Trustees may determine, in their sole discretion. The balance of the purchase price, in cash with interest at twelve and one-half percent (12.5%) per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement, shall be payable within thirty (30) days after final ratification of sale, unless said period is extended by the Trustees, their successors or assigns, for good cause shown, time being of the essence. The secured party, if a bidder, shall not be required to post a deposit. Conveyance shall be by Trustees' Deed without covenant or warranty of title, express or implied.

Adjustments on all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter be assumed by the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, state revenue stamps, state and county transfer taxes and all other costs incident to settlement are to be paid by the purchaser. The property and any improvements thereon are sold in an "as is" condition and without warranty of any kind.

In the event the purchaser fails to comply with the terms of the sale, the deposit shall be forfeited and the property readvertised and resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser.

If Trustees cannot convey good and marketable title, Trustees and purchaser agree that purchaser's sole remedy in law or in equity is return of deposit. Upon return of deposit, the sale shall be void and of no effect.

Lane H. Potkin
Trustee

PUBLIC NOTICE

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Hyde Laundry, Inc., to James C. PERSONAL PROPERTY

FIXTURES & EQUIPMENT - To be offered as an entirety only - contact Auctioneer for information. Deposit $25,000.00.

MANNER AND TERMS OF SALE

MANNER OF SALE: Individual offerings will be made, of the real estate and personal property, and the bids reserved. Then, all of the assets will be offered as an entirety and sold in the manner producing the greater amount. If sold as an entirety, the deposit shall be $75,000.00.

TERMS OF SALE: Deposits, as stated above, payable by certified check or cashier's check, will be required of the purchaser at time and place of sale. The holder of the indebtedness, if a bidder at the sale, shall not be required to post a deposit. Real Estate - Balance to be paid in cash at settlement, which shall take place within five (5) business days following final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, unless said period is extended by the Substituting Trustees, their successors or assigns, for good cause shown, time being of the essence, at the offices of the Substitute Trustees. Personal Property - Balance to be paid within 48 hours at the Substitute Trustee's office. Time shall be of the essence for all purchasers. If payment of the balance does not take place within the specified time or there are any other defaults by the Purchaser, the deposit shall be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the Purchaser. Interest to be charged on the unpaid purchase money, at the rate of 11% per annum from date of sale to date of settlement. All adjustments as of date of sale. Taxes and all other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges, if any, to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. All other costs of settlement, including cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes, shall be borne by the Purchaser. The Property and Personal Property will be sold in "AS IS" condition, without express or implied warranty as to the nature and description of the improvements as contained herein; and subject to easements, agreements, restrictions or covenants of record affecting same, if any. Obtention of any and all licenses and operating permits necessary for use of the Property and Personal Property, as may be required by federal, state, or local authority, shall be the sole responsibility of Purchaser. The Property, improvements and Personal Property are sold without warranties of title. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the Property and Personal Property. The Purchaser waives and releases the Substitute Trustees, the holder of the indebtedness, the Auctioneer, and their respective agents, employees, officers, attorneys, successors and assigns from any and all claims the Purchaser and/or its successors and assigns may now have or may have in the future relating to the condition of the Property, including but not limited to the environmental condition thereof, and the Personal Property. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the Purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be null and void and of no effect, and the Purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees, holder of the indebtedness or Auctioneer.

Parole Board Refuses To Let Tichnell Out

Perhaps partly as a result of over 200 letters being sent to the Maryland Parole Commission urging officials to keep Richard Tichnell in jail, the commission rejected parole for the defendant this week in Jessup. Tichnell was convicted in the shooting death of Garrett County Deputy Sheriff David Livingood that occurred on January 18, 1979.

After successfully appealing three death sentences since his August 1979 conviction, Tichnell, now 50, was given a life sentence in 1990. His parole hearing was slated for earlier this year but was continued after David Livingood's mother requested that the hearing be open to the public.

Captain Donald W. Tucker of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office attended the parole hearing held this week, as did the victim's mother and brother and Corporal Larry Guey. Tucker reported that the defendant now has no chance of parole consideration for at least another 10 years.

"I was surprised by that," Tucker said. "I expected another hearing would be scheduled in the next six or seven years. But what I was told was that he will not be eligible for another hearing until he is 60 years old. At that time, he will have to arrange for the hearing and the commission can decide if it wants to conduct it or not. They are not required to have another hearing."

Livingood had responded to a silent alarm at Dav-

MSP Investigate Garrett County Drive-by Shooting

A drive-by shooting on Finzel Road was reported to the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, on April 10.

According to the police report, Lawrence Lower and his three sons were walking into their home on Finzel Road around 9 p.m. when a vehicle drove by them. A passenger in the vehicle, who was reportedly holding a shotgun out the window, yelled, "There he is." The driver allegedly responded, "Get him," or "Shoot him." The four family members entered the house.

A short time later, two of the older sons left the house and reportedly heard the vehicle coming back. The passenger fired two shots, one of which went through the garage door and exited the roof. The police have since recovered shotgun shells at the scene and are examining them for fingerprints.

The passenger who fired the shotgun is described as a white male, wearing a black and yellow jacket, similar to a Pittsburgh Steelers jacket, and a dark hat, possibly with a Nike-type emblem on it.

The vehicle is described as a small white or gray car that resembled a Chevrolet Chevette with square headlights. The car was also described as old and loud, as if it had engine or muffler problems.

Maryland State Police are asking anyone with information about this vehicle or this case to please call Det. Steve Vincent at 1101 or 387-1101.

"HEY MOM, TIME FOR A REFILL PLEASE!" Two young diners heartily indulge at the Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire Department all-you-can-eat spaghetti dinner last Saturday evening in Finzel. Candice Everhart, left, brought her parents down from Mechanicsburg, Pa., to help her friend Elizabeth Shartiger, right, a Finzel native, celebrate her first birthday at the event. The fire hall in Finzel has been hosting the monthly spaghetti feeds for 18 years. At times over 1,300 people chow down over the course of a single dinner, swelling the population of Finzel more than tenfold once every month. Proceeds go into training and equipment for the Eastern Garrett VFD, known as one of the most progressive volunteer fire departments in Maryland. April marks the 30th anniversary of the founding of the Eastern Garrett County VFD, to be celebrated with an awards banquet at the end of the month. In June the department hosts the 86th Annual Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firefighter's Convention, drawing participants from Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Virginia. A highlight of the convention promises to be a parade through downtown Finzel with millions of dollars worth of firefighting apparatus on display. See additional Eastern Garrett VFD spaghetti dinner photos on page A-9.

McHenry Man Accused Of Child Abuse In Jail On $25,000 Bond

A McHenry man was arrested last week by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and charged with child abuse.

Richard Wolf Jr., 46, faces one count of child abuse, one count of third degree sexual offense, one count of fourth degree sexual offense, and one count of second degree assault. The charges stem from a series of alleged sexual incidents, not involving intercourse, with an 11-year-old female residing in the same house. The incidents are alleged to have occurred over the last three years, with the last one reportedly occurring this past February.

Wolf is currently being held in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $25,000 unsecured bond.

In other Garrett County Sheriff's Office news last week, an Oakland woman was arrested and charged with attempted murder after allegedly running her neighbor over with a truck. Sandra Jean Lewis, 29, is charged with four separate criminal charges, one count each, of first degree assault, second degree attempted murder, reckless driving, and negligent driving.

Lewis's charges stem from an April 2 incident on Preston Lane in Oakland. Her neighbor, Terry Lynn Ford, reported he and Lewis argued over a $57 debt Ford owes to Lewis. The argument culminated in Lewis allegedly running over Ford with her truck as he stood in her driveway. Ford was initially transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital Emergency Room by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, and treated for spinal and internal injuries. Ford was then Steven Harold Kitzmiller Sr., 36, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested and charged with DWI on April 11 at 6 p.m. in Mtn. Lake Park. Germain was arrested after being stopped for speeding.

New Investigations

Sheriff's deputies are investigating the theft of a chain saw from a wood-cutter's truck parked along the 1800 block of Rock Lodge Road. Stolen sometime on April 13 was a 021 Subi chain saw, serial number 231347717, valued at

GLAF Season To Open With Musical Nonsense

Nonsense, a musical comedy by Dan Goggin, will be presented by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival in the Garrett Community College auditorium with evening performances May 2, 3, 9 and 10, and a matinee May 11.

Directed by Nancy Lear-ey and Sue Harkins, the play is being produced with permission of Samuel French, Inc., New York City. It is sponsored by the First United National Bank & Trust and funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Based on people the author actually knew, the play is about the Little Sisters of Hoboken, an order first established when a small group of nuns from England on their way to set up a motherhouse in Cleveland got off the plane by mistake in Newark. Goggin, who spent a great deal of his life around nuns, said he wrote Nonsense because he wanted to share what he knew to be the "humor of the nuns."

"Though it may be hard to believe, each of the Little Sisters of Hoboken is based on a real life nun," the writer said. The play brings out the distinctly different personalities of these members of the order known as the "Little Hobos."

Sister Mary Regina, the Mother Superior, played by Kaylen Carlson, is a quick-witted soul whose "bark is worse than her bite." A healthy rivalry exists between her and Sister Mary Hubert, played by Sheila Edwards. Sister Robert Anne—a tough, street-wise nun with a heart of gold and a powerful swing of the baseball bat—is played by Sue Harkins.

Linda Goodrich plays Sister Mary Amnesia, an innocent person who cannot remember her past, and Denise Connelly is the novice Sister Mary Leo, who had been a professional dancer. Other nuns are Jean Coviello as Sister Brendon Myopia and Jill Holler as Sister Julia, and dancing nuns are Julia Geisler and Dana Braskey.

The play is set in the auditorium of the Mount Saint Helen's School, where the sisters are performing on the set of the eighth grade production of Grease. Stage set design and lighting are under the direction of Ben Sincell.

Tickets for Nonsense are available at the GLAF office at Garrett Community College (301-387-3082) or at the following pharmacies: Gregg's and Englander's in Oakland, Deep Creek in McHenry, and Beachy's in Grantsville. Admission is $8 for adults and $4 for youth.

Sheriff Sines Is Object Of State Probe

The Garrett County Commissioners and the county's state's attorney announced this week that matters involving the expenditures of public funds by Garrett County Sheriff Randy Sines have been referred to the Maryland State Prosecutor's Office for investigation.

A statement released by the commissioners this week indicated that the fiscal authority referred information to the county's state's attorney, Lisa Thayer Welch, which apparently came to light after a public inquiry was made concerning county credit card expenditures made by Sines. The expenditures might have been unrelated to the sheriff's office, according to reports.

A representative of the state's prosecutors' office was reportedly to be in the area yesterday to conduct initial meetings.

Officials Gather For Meeting With Internat'l Team

A gathering of nearly all the county's elected officials as well as numerous department heads and promotion council/chamber of commerce representatives took place at Will O' the Wisp last Thursday in the ongoing effort to market Garrett County as a viable place for incoming industry.

The local officials met at a Garrett Chamber of Commerce luncheon with the international team of the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development, namely James Hughes, state international business director; Gary Kunkel, director of Maryland's new European office; Assistant Secretary, foreign investment representative; and Chad Miller, export manager for the Tri-County Council.

Following the meal, James Hinebaugh, director of Garrett County Office of Economic Development, led the group on tours of both county industrial parks as well as the Bausch & Lomb facility. Hinebaugh stated in an interview this week that the visit was a positive experience.

"They were very, very interested and asked a lot of questions," Hinebaugh said. "I think it was a very beneficial meeting."

The state officials cast their own angle to the local group, proposing the option of exporting goods from Garrett County. Apparently the state is eager to engage in export commerce and offers such services as conducting background checks, locating agents and/or distributors, and linking local businesses to the international market. Hinebaugh said this week that Miller, who is based in Cumberland and is fairly new in his

County Students To Celebrate Visual And Performing Arts

By Peggy Santamaria

Not too many months ago it was just an idea. Saturday, it becomes a reality as Garrett Community College hosts The Student Arts Fair, a showcase of fine and performing arts presented by the students of Garrett County public schools.

Students of all ages will take the opportunity to display talents in instrumental and vocal music, dance, and dramatic and comedic theater, as well as two- and three-dimensional arts. From 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. the gallery, auditorium, lobby, classroom, and hallways of GCC will be alive with color, movement, and sound.

This joyful expression of the arts by hundreds of county students is the result of the efforts of 27 county teachers working under the guidance of the Fine Arts Fair Advisory Committee. Chairing that group is Carolyn Collen-DuBose, elementary art teacher at Friendsville and Grantsville elementary schools.

Those who choose to spend the day at the fair will be invited to watch demonstrations in computer art, batik, weaving, clay sculpture, printmaking, and calligraphy.

If one wishes to listen to music, the choices will include jazz band, a capella choir, handbells, trumpet trio, tuba solo, percussion, woodwind quintet, and more.

Lovers of dramatic art will be able to sample one acts plays, storytelling, and

Closed Meeting Held To Address GCHD Dilemma

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners, representatives of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, and Garrett County Health Officer Rex Archer met in executive session Tuesday to address the current fiscal deficit situation in the Garrett County Health Department (GCHD). Also present were Delegate George Edwards and Mary Beth Pirlozzi representing Senator John Hafer.

The officials discussed a proposed Health Recovery Plan which includes several options and directions that would become effective on July 1, 1997, according to a press release from the commissioners' office. Other reports indicated that the plan may involve lay-off measures.

A brief overview of the situation was conducted, which chiefly centered on the deficit of $500,000 in the GCHD reported by Archer earlier this year. The problem has come from fluctuating Medicare/Medicaid payment schedules as well as state changes in auditing procedures.

The state officials apparently have agreed to fund a poetry. And there will be dance.

From Bloomington to Friendsville, from Route 40 to Loch Lynn, students from all around the county will come together for this showcase.

Al Coviello, assistant superintendent of schools for Garrett County, had wanted to provide a platform for a celebration of the arts. It will happen Saturday at the Students Arts Fair.

This event is funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and sponsored by Garrett County Public Schools. The admission to the fair is $1 for students and $3 for adults.

Gen. Fretterd To Speak At GCC Commencement

Lieutenant General James F. Fretterd, adjutant general of the Maryland National Guard, will be the speaker for Garrett Community College's 25th Commencement on Saturday, May 17, at 10:30 a.m., according to word recently released by college president Dr. Steve Herman.

General Fretterd has served more than 46 years in the Guard, having joined the Maryland Army National Guard's Company H, 2nd Battalion, 115th Infantry in February 1951. He is responsible for command, deployment, and readiness of the more than 9,000 members of the Maryland Army National Guard.

A long-time resident of Carroll County, General Fretterd is a 1973 graduate of the U.S. Army's Command and General Staff College and a 1977 graduate of the Army War College. In 1987 he attended the Senior Executives Program in National and International Security at Harvard University.

He was appointed as adjutant general of Maryland in February 1987, and reappointed in 1991 and 1995. He is the only adjutant general in recent history to sit in the Governor's cabinet, with membership on several task forces, including the Maryland Military Monuments Commission, the World War II Memorial Commission, and the Governor's Task Force on Youth Citizenship and Violence Prevention.

The general's civic and military affiliations include: former vice president, Army, National Guard Association of the United States; National Guard Association of the United States, life member; Adjutants General Association of the United States; National Guard Association of Maryland, life member; Alumni Association, U.S. Army War College; American Legion, 29th Division Association; and Saint Elizabeth Catholic Church in Denton.

Fretterd chairs the National Guard Bureau's General Officer Steering Committee on National Guard involvement in International Affairs, which includes oversight of the State Partnership for Peace Program in Central and Eastern Europe.

The general and his wife, the former Ellen Ingram

PITTSBURGH BALLET TO PERFORM AT SCHOOLS - As an offering of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF), the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre will present two performances for Garrett County high school students on April 22 and 25. The performances are being sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Education, the American Trust Bank, and David and Irene Ever. Partial funding has also been provided through a mini-grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. The shows are set for 1:15 at Northern on April 22 and at 1:30 at Southern on April 25. A question and answer period will follow the hour-long performance at each school. If space permits, the performances will be open to the public. Interested persons are advised to call the schools in advance, according to Fred Stemple, GLAF executive director. Albert Coviello, assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction in Garrett County Schools, expressed his appreciation to GLAF for bringing cultural programs to the students.

BOE Announces Public Budget Review Session

The Garrett County Board of Education will meet in special public session to review the FY 1998 school budget request from Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools.

The meeting will be held on Monday, April 21, at 6 p.m. at Garrett Community College, in Room 315 of the Continuing Education Building.

Theft, Break-in, Assault Reports Filed With MSP

VEHICLE THEFT

Theft of a 1997 Timberwolf 250 four-wheeler was reported to the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, this week. According to the victim, Clint Allen Artice of Bear Creek Road, Accident, sometime between 6 p.m. on April 13 and 1:30 a.m. of April 14, an unknown person or persons took the sport vehicle from where it had been parked on the porch of a shed behind his house.

No arrests have been made in the case at this time.

ASSAULT/BURGLARY
Donald L. Russell Jr., Barton, filed a complaint with the MSP against Janet Marie Dwire, 30, Somerset, Pa., alleging that sometime between Dec. 24, 1996, and March 3, 1997, the suspect assaulted him, stole property from him and damaged it.

According to the police report, among items listed as stolen from the victim were curtains, a microwave stand, a kitchen table and chairs, and pictures. Dwire, who has since turned herself in, was charged with assault, burglary, theft, and malicious destruction of property. She was transported to the Garrett County Jail and subsequently released on her own recognizance.

BREAKING & ENTERING
On the night of April 11, an unknown suspect or suspects pried open the wooden door of the Butcher Block on Maryland Highway, Mtn. Lake Park. According to the report filed at Barrack W. of the State Police, the time of the break-in is set at approximately 10:30 p.m. Cash register receipts indicate that the register was opened twice shortly after that time.

Sandy Kay Schmidt, owner of the Butcher Block, reported nothing was stolen from the register. It is the second time in about as many weeks that the store has been broken into.

No one has been arrested or charged in this case.

DRUG ARREST

A Swanton man was arrested in Cumberland following a drug raid on Monday night.

Mark H. Cosner, 25, faces charges on two counts of possession of crack cocaine, two counts of distribution of crack cocaine, one count of possession of heroin, and one count of distribution of heroin. Cosner is currently being held in the Cumberland City Jail on a $25,000 bond.

Four Cumberland men were arrested along with Cosner on assorted drug charges; however, Cosner is the only one of the men whose charges include distribution.

The arrests followed a raid capping a two-month investigation into drug activity at a Central Avenue residence. The raid was conducted by the Maryland State Police C31 Narcotics Unit, with assistance from the Cumberland Police Department.

ACE Seeks Input On Search For Superintendent

The Advisory Committee on Education will hold a public forum for input on the search for Garrett County School Superintendent. The meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, April 23, at 7 p.m. in Room 315 of the Continuing Education Building of Garrett Community College.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, who is currently superintendent, will resign effective July 1.

Rob Sharps, president of the ACE, said his group is requesting comments from citizens who would like to voice their concerns about the kind of person who will be selected to fill the top post of the school administration.

After ACE hears the public response, Sharps said, a summary of these concerns will be passed on to the board of education at the next monthly meeting. He also said that ACE will be developing its own comment on the issue and submit it to the board.

BREAK A LEG is the traditional good luck wish to performers about to take the stage. This is the wish that goes out to all the Garrett County public school students who will participate in the Student Arts Fair Saturday, April 19, at Garrett Community College. Hundreds of young people involved in fine and performing arts will share their talents throughout the day. The Northern Middle School Jazz Ensemble group is pictured above as they rehearse. At the piano is Jennifer Fischer. The singers, left to right, are Grace Giotfelly, Briana Breneman, Brandi Yommer, and Carly Friend. Musicians, left to right, in the middle row are Katie Williams, Andy Fike, Collen DuBose, Jess Grey, Aaron Childs, and Wade Wiley. In the back, same order, are Joel Kolby, Julie Green, and Kristin Lauder. Third, fourth, and fifth graders from Crellin Elementary School are pictured below with the props for their dance celebrating the season. In the first row, left to right, are Jerry Sisler, Chaz Lantz, Jeff Gank, Randy Roy, Travis Shugars, and Katie Hostutler. In row two, left to right, are Rachale French, Andy Uphold, and Colleen Bolyard. In last row, same order, are Robbie DeWitt, Randi Beckman, Chad Sowers, Kaleigh Bittinger, and Dana Stemple. At the right, Amanda Stewart of Southern High School practices her trombone for her solo performance. The fair is open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Injuries Send Two Drivers To Area Hospitals

An unknown driver who pulled out of a private drive in Grantsville last week, caused another vehicle to run off the road, striking a curb and ditch, and injuring the driver.

A report filed with Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, stated that on April 10 at 11:21 p.m., Ann Marie Warnick, 25, Grantsville, was westbound on Alternate U.S. 40 west of Chestnut Ridge Road, when a vehicle pulled into the roadway in the lane in front of her. To avoid colliding with the other vehicle, Warnick ran off the road and struck a curb and ditch.

Warnick was transported by Northern Rescue Squad to Meyersdale Medical Center, Pa., where she was treated and released.

A passenger in the Warnick vehicle, Shirley Warnick, 56, Grantsville, was not injured in the incident.

The driver of the second vehicle is unknown, but according to the police reports, was charged in the accident.

Police Seek Info In Mail Box Vandalism Case

Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, are investigating a recent spree of destruction of property at a various locations around Garrett County.

To date, approximately 38 to 40 reports of vandalism to private mail boxes has been reported to the police.

According to reports, the damage has not been limited to any one road or area. Three or four young men are suspected to be responsible in this case.

Anyone whose mail box was damaged during the last week is asked to contact the Maryland State Police at 387-1101 or 895-1101.

A Job Well Done...

More often than not, elected officials/politicians do not enjoy a particularly wonderful reputation with the voting public, even if their behavior does not warrant a negative assessment. Politics involves considerable game-playing and is sometimes laced with corruption, all of which is a major turn-off to constituents. The politician who yields to one or more of the many temptations associated with the job gives a bad name to all politicians.

It pleases us immensely that Delegate George Edwards, in our opinion, has escaped the negative labels, and he has done so because of his high level of integrity and tireless efforts to bring to his district what he believes is in our best interest. His performance in the just-completed 1997 General Assembly was nothing short of stellar, as 18 of 20 bills introduced for our benefit were passed by the state legislature. Among them was a grant of $350,000 for the construction of a new tourism/promotion building at Deep Creek Lake that was passed literally in the final moments of the session.

Edwards is a key voice in the House of Delegates, not only for Garrett County, but also for all of rural Maryland. It was his idea to form the rural caucus, which has brought together the delegates from all rural areas of the state to create a strong, unified voice for western, southern, and the eastern shore regions. For too long the ultimate power of the legislature was entirely in the hands of the urban delegates and consequently many of the bills that were passed benefitted only our city dwellers.

Among the accomplishments of Edwards and the rural caucus this year was the addition of a special exception to the governor's Smart Growth Initiative, which was an economic development move by the governor to encourage industry to locate in areas that already have an infrastructure to support them; in other words, to save money by not having to build an infrastructure after the business selects a location. Edwards and the other rural delegates amended it to make sure that site development for certain industries, such as mining or recreation, could also be supported even if the industry resource (i.e., a coal vein, a north-facing mountainside) is not in the vicinity of already existing infrastructure.

The fact that Edwards was one of only three delegates in the state named recently to the General Assembly Operating Budget Conference Committee indicates how much George is respected throughout the state, as the other five members of the committee (three from the Senate) are from urban counties.

We are fortunate to have George Edwards as our delegate, and on behalf of all of his constituency, we extend our deepest appreciation for his service.

Finally, we also would be remiss in not noting the efforts of our senator, John Hafer, who also served us well in the 1997 session. He pushed the companion senate bills that were of benefit to Garrett County and, in particular, sponsored a bill that encourages the hiring of local construction workers for local projects rather than always having to accept the lowest qualified bid.

Thank you, gentlemen, for a job well done.

To the Editor:

April 13-19, 1997 is National Volunteer Week, and I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the people I believe are some of the most dedicated volunteers in our community, the volunteers of Hospice of Garrett County, Inc.

Most people know that hospice provides a very special kind of care for terminally ill persons and their families, but it's less known that if it were not for volunteers, our hospice could not function. Even the federal government recognizes the importance of volunteers in the delivery of hospice care by requiring that Medicare-approved hospices utilize volunteers from their community.

Hospice care is provided through an interdisciplinary, medically directed team. This team approach to care for dying persons typically includes a physician, a nurse, a counselor, a member of the clergy, and a home health aide. While our hospice employs paid professionals, we also rely on volunteers to provide assistance at all levels of skill.

Nationally, about 100,000 people serve as hospice volunteers, and last year, they gave well over five million hours of their precious time to serve terminally ill patients and families! Locally, 135 persons donated their service to our community hospice during calendar year 1996.

In a number of ways, volunteering for hospice differs from other community work. For instance, hospice patient-care volunteers are required to undergo a standardized training program before being allowed to work directly with a patient or family.

No task is too big or too small for our volunteers, but often the most important thing they can do is just "be there" for patients—to reassure them they are not alone, to hold a hand, to offer a smile, or to just listen. It is not easy work, but the personal rewards are enormous. The strength and courage of patients provide a constant source of inspiration, and volunteers usually feel they gain more than they have been able to give.

Our hospice is growing as more and more persons seek our help. For this reason, we have a constant need for new volunteers. If you would like to learn more about hospice volunteering, I invite you to call 301-334-5151.

In the meantime, we should all be grateful to the volunteers of Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., for the wealth of time and compassion they give for the betterment of our community.

Beverly Beard, President Hospice Board of Directors

To the Editor:

As you may all know by now, the Maryland Parole Commission has refused parole for the convicted murderer of Deputy Sheriff David Livengood, Richard Tichnell. He now has no chance for parole consideration for at least another 10 years, under the law.

I would like to thank all those who answered our urgent call to write letters to the Parole Commission on this extremely important matter. I was in attendance today at Tichnell's hearing in Jessup, and I want you all to know that one of the members of the Commission informed us they had received over 200 letters demanding Tichnell not be paroled. I believe this had a very important impact on the Parole Commission's decision.

Chairman Paul Davis (who personally conducted this hearing) is to be commended for his candor and kind consideration of all who were involved.

Lastly, Editor Sincell, I thank you for your help in the editorial you provided on the case.

Thank you all.

To the Editor:

Eighty-five years ago on April 14 on her maiden voyage the then supposedly unsinkable Titanic sank in the Atlantic after a side sweeping blow of an iceberg just below the water line.

Divers making their first return to the sunken ocean liner in six years retrieved china plates and five valises. The bags are believed to have been retrieved from the safe before the ship sank in 1912, killing more than 1,500 people. The wreckage was discovered in 1985 on the North Atlantic floor.

They tried not too long ago to bring her up and almost did, when the cables snapped and the Titanic went to the bottom again.

My son made me a model of the Titanic as I was always telling him about her voyage. Mr. John Astor lost his life this day, as did many other people of prestige.

When we lived in Shallmar when I was growing up, the people in a house back of ours always played a record, "It was sad when that great ship went down," on their wind-up Victrola. She played it over and over. Maybe this was the only record she had, but I will always remember this. I wish I had the record.

Well, it was a sad day for all concerned. I hope history never has to repeat this grave event.

Always,
Charles McIntyre

In the most recent edition of The Republican there was a note at the end of the Cove news column that that was the final column Mrs. Walter Hauf would be submitting. I am writing this letter on behalf of my wife and myself to publicly acknowledge how much we have appreciated the Cove news column.

We have always been readers of the column, but especially since we moved from the Cove to our new home here in Houston, Tex. The delivery of The Republican each week has been like a letter from home for us. Since we lived in the Cove for nearly 10 years, the Cove column always gets our first attention.

Thank you for having a Cove news column and thank you, Myrtle, for keeping us up to date on what was happening at "home." Our hope is that there will be someone who will continue the Cove column.

With sincere appreciation for The Republican and all its contents,

The Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Lindner

Dear Rev. and Mrs. Lindner,

Indeed, 12-year-old Beth Long has resumed the Cove news and, to date, is doing an excellent job.

To the Editor:

This week a dark shadow again fell over the family of Garrett County Memorial Hospital with the passing of our friend and colleague, Bob Dunkin.

Over the past ten years I have heard many adjectives used by friends, colleagues and patients to describe Bob. Strong, sensitive, professional, knowledgeable, kind, gentle, caring, and loving are just a few.

If I were to try to put them into a paragraph to describe Bob, it would read like this:

Bob was strong and secure enough in his manhood and his profession to be able to show his sensitivity and vulnerability through his kind and gentle manner and his caring and compassionate love for his fellow man. Bob had a zest for life and a profound belief in the overall good of mankind.

Bob had his human frailties, as we all do, but he worked hard to be the best person he could be.

He was never judgmental of others for he knew that all men have feet of clay and that without the love and support of God, friends and family, no one would be able to walk through this life unscathed.

Bob was one of those friends you could always count on for a smile, a hug, or a word of encouragement and caring in your lowest times.

Isn't that what God wants from all of us? That despite our own weaknesses we are able to reach outward and lift up those who have slipped off the path of life?

And isn't that what our profession calls us to be? Not perfect, but human and able to feel our patients' needs and care for them in a knowledgeable and professional way with love and sensitivity to all their needs physical, emotional, and spiritual?

Bob was such a man and such a nurse.

I believe that Bob is in heaven today with all our loved ones who have gone on before. And how glad I am to know that he is touching their souls as he will touch our lives forever.

Sadly missed and fondly remembered.

Just two quick comments on the farce that took place in our justice system this

View From My Window

ERNEST HEMINGWAY

Even those who have never read and have no desire to read Hemingway will feel some of his fascination in his definition of guts, "grace under pressure." He was a man of great personal magnetic qualities who wrote a half-dozen works of genius. Somehow life which had for so long fascinated and magnetized him seemed utterly inadequate; he committed suicide in 1961. The pressure had become too much for his measure of grace.

There is now a generation who knows Margaux and Muriel from their film appearances who do not know their, known by many more than his children as "Papa," I, myself, have owned three of Hemingway's works for 21 years. I inscribed the date in the front of the volumes. I read one of them, The Sun Also Rises, about a decade ago, and I remember my response. I thought it an absolutely gorgeously written book, but I wondered, "What was the point?" So I read no more Hemingway until about a month ago.

Perhaps the pump of my mind had been primed by hearing the syndicated columnist Art Buchwald on the radio talking about the book he had written, a memoir of his days as a young writer in Paris. There he had met Hemingway, who greeted him with the question, "Have you ever wrestled a bear?" Buchwald was relieved that he was able to avert a grapple with "the bear" as Hemingway saw himself.

There are many such anecdotes of Hemingway, not all of them printable in a family newspaper. Hemingway's conversation was as vivid as his writing. Some of his most quoted statements (like guts as "grace under pressure" or calling Paris "a movable feast") were throw-offs of conversation which someone else recorded for posterity.

I took For Whom the Bell Tolls out of a book closet last month and set upon it. The title is itself a quotation from a meditation on death by the English preacher and poet, John Donne, which begins, "No man is an Island," and ends, "any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in Mankind; and therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; It tolls for thee."

The novel's setting is the Spanish Civil War (1936-1939), which anyone interested in World War II should study. It was, in the broader European context, the warm-up for World War II. The Russians and French supplied the communist Republicans while Germany and Italy backed the fascist Nationalists. There were also Americans who fought there, most famously the Lincoln Brigade, who were part of the Republican army, which is about as ironic a living pun as there could be.

Hemingway wrote his novel not about those Americans who fought in the mainstream Republican army, rather about a solitary American working as a saboteur among guerrilla bands in the mountains. The reader sees Spain and its Civil War through the eyes of Hemingway's hero, a school teacher on sabbatical, who never returns home. As the title suggests, the reader is led to see humankind in all its glory and shame.

Then I re-read The Sun Also Rises. Whether because I had lived a great deal in the decade since I last read it or because I read it through the immediate memory of Hemingway's greatest novel or for some other reason, I found The Sun Also Rises a rousing good tale on second reading. It's only 247 pages and fast reading. Anyone who likes a good story, and would like to travel to Paris and Pamplona (famous for bullfights) of the early 1920s, would enjoy this book.

Hemingway's writing, like his life, is vivid and powerful. It is also highly suggestive in the best sense of the word. The reader feels he is seeing more than the author has actually described. His writing, in a word, has guts.

while, during Clinton's term, he actually proposes large increases in social welfare spending. This budget must have been based on the economic model developed by Jim and Susan McDougal. If it were a dance (which, of course, it is), it would be called the Arkansas shuffle.

Clinton did the same thing when he first came to office. He pushed through the biggest tax increase in U.S. history with the excuse he would reduce the deficit. But the cuts were postponed until after his term. Some minor deficit reduction was achieved (not a brass farthing on the national debt) but all of it came from defunding the military or the increased taxes due partly to a slowly expanding (2.5 percent per year) economy. (Shuu, don't let micro-manager Greenspan hear this. He'll raise interest rates again.) Growth has been anemic compared with what it should have been had government kept its hands out of at least one or two of our pockets. But it's okay, because the Chinese are going to buy up all our unused military bases and ports and we'll get big bucks (you know the kind I mean).

position as an export specialist for the state, is performing his job well. "We're very happy with him," Hinebaugh said. "He has contacted many area businesses and has made himself accessible. He is very knowledgeable in the export area."

While the local officials listened to the state's pitch for exportation, they remained firm in their primary quest, which is to bring companies into the county. They were told the task is difficult but not impossible, and that it will take some time.

"We know that, of course," Hinebaugh said. "I'm feeling optimistic."

Hinebaugh Reviews Intent Of Economic Survey Distributed To Area Businesses

James Hinebaugh, director of the Garrett County Department of Economic Development, this week issued a press release regarding a survey/questionnaire that has been distributed to local employers. He provided the following report and brief background of the survey's development:

meeting was that a strategic plan for the economic development of the county is needed. The Economic Summit began the strategic planning process by identifying strengths/challenges, core values, a vision statement, and nine major goals and supporting objectives. The group also assigned responsibilities for each of the major goals.

As a result of Bausch and Lomb's January 1996 announcement of the closing of its Oakland plant, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners called together a group of people to review the county's position and to make recommendations as to how to deal with the closure. One of the findings of this group was that, while there are several different organizations and agencies with roles in planning and promoting economic development within the county, there is an absence of coordination and cooperation.

The Chamber of Commerce and Department of Economic Development co-hosted an "Economic Summit" in November 1996 to bring together representatives of the private and public sectors to address this issue. The consensus of this

Liberty Street To Close For Repair Work

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland have noted a temporary closing of Liberty Street for work on sewer lines, weather permitting.

The street will be closed in the vicinity of Leighton Drive, from Fingerboard Road to Fairway Drive, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., April 21 through April 25.

While the road is closed, drivers will need to use Fingerboard Road and Route 39, or Oakland-Sang Run Road and Bradley Lane.

Seaford, Delaware, live in Federalburg. They have two daughters: Laura Patrick, a registered nurse in the Caroline County Health Department in Denton and a part-time volunteer coordinator for the Caroline County Hospice, and Linda, a doctoral candidate at George Washington University and assistant professor of English at Chesapeake Community College.

One of the goals identified during this process was to develop a marketing strategy, an implementation plan, and improved marketing materials. Experience has shown that a lack of current, quantifiable, objective data has been a distinct disadvantage in recruiting and dealing with business prospects. What little information is available is dated and frequently incomplete. In today's competitive, global economy, good marketing information is absolutely essential.

The Department of Economic Development took the lead on this initiative and was successful in obtaining $100,000 to fund the effort. The Economic Development Administration provided a grant in the amount of $75,000; the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development provided $12,500 and Garrett County gave $12,500. The county contribution may be through in-kind services, including staff salaries, county-provided services, and other assistance.

As part of the overall marketing effort, the Department of Economic Development has contracted Dr. Peggy Dalton of the Center for Regional Progress in the school of business at Frostburg State University to conduct an economic base study. The purpose of Dr. Dalton's study is to provide objective, quantifiable data and information on Garrett County, which can be used for marketing and for responding to inquiries from potential business prospects.

The economic base study will include three basic components: 1) an economic inventory of the area, including Garrett County and contiguous counties in West Virginia and Pennsylvania; 2) an economic analysis of Garrett County, including a shift share analysis and an industrial trend analysis; and 3) an evaluation of the quality of the labor force in Garrett County and the surrounding counties.

DEDICATION of the expanded Accident branch of the Ruth Enlow Library will take place at 11 a.m. Saturday, with music, singing, refreshments, and benediction. County and state dignitaries will participate in the festivities. An invocation will be offered by Pastor William Carlson and a benediction by Pastor Roland Nairn. The Accident Band, under the direction of Pastor Wilfred Karsten, will play selections and children will be led in song by Rob Smith. Maurice Travillian, assistant state superintendent for libraries, will address the group and comments will be made by county commissioners. Emily Ferren, director of the Ruth Enlow Libraries, will dedicate plaques honoring former Accident residents Mary Strauss and Marjorie Fratz. Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library will provide refreshments. Janet Otto, manager of the Accident library branch, prepares for the celebration.

One of the instruments Dr. Dalton will use to quantify the local labor force is a survey which is being sent to local businesses. Prompt completion and return of the questionnaire is very important to the successful completion of this task.

The EDA grant will also be used to develop updated and improved marketing materials, such as brochures, displays, videos, home pages, and others. Additional activities to be supported with grant proceeds include participation in trade shows, advertising in trade journals and other publications, direct mailings, feasibility studies, and site visits.

The EDA grant provides an opportunity to significantly improve the county's marketing effort and comes at a critical time. Competition for new business and economic growth is very keen and the county cannot compete effectively without a good plan and superior marketing materials. This federal and state money gives the county an opportunity to do things that otherwise would be unaffordable.

Governor Glendening Issues Report: His Reactions To General Assembly

Maryland Governor Parris Glendening has reported that he is pleased with the results of the 1997 legislative session, which came to an end at nearly midnight last Monday. He commended the house and senate leadership for "courage."

"What we have done together will make a positive difference in people's lives," Glendening stated in a release last week. "Marylanders will find it easier to send their children to college, direct growth through common sense development that will preserve precious natural resources, identify gifted and talented students earlier in their academic careers, and enjoy safer streets and communities."

In the operating budget, the state increased the amount of funds for education by eight percent in a total budget that increased by less than three percent, the governor reported. The funding for school construction is the largest it has been in 20 years, for a combined total of $408 million over the first three budgets.

"We have made a historic commitment to education in this budget," Glendening stated.

Among the first bills signed by the governor was Senate Bill 237, which authorized the 10 percent personal income tax cut over the next five years, beginning in January 1998. To achieve the cut, the legislation includes both a rate reduction (from 5% to 4.75%) and increase in personal exemptions.

"Over the past five months, we have been emphasizing the need for a 10 percent personal income tax cut because economists and business executives agreed that such action would send out another positive message about Maryland being a business-friendly state," Glendening said.

Also signed last week was the Baltimore City Schools agreement, which will provide that troubled school system with $252 million over the next five years and will create a new city-state management structure. District 1-A Delegate George Edwards said in an interview last week that he supported the agreement only after the promise was made to restructure the entire system.

"I don't believe in just throwing money at a school system and expecting that to fix all the problems," Edwards said. "But we Alma Doris Cover, 77, a former long time resident of Maryland, died Tuesday, April 8, 1997, at the Integrated Health Services of New Hampshire at Claremont.

She was born Dec. 17, 1919, in Scranton, Pa., the daughter of the late Louis Tobias and Winifred (Thomas) Oberholzer. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Cleveland C. Cover, on July 28, 1971, her previous husband, James U. McClammer, in 1981; and one daughter, Glenys A. Thornton.

Ms. Umstot In Africa With Peace Corps

Susan R. Umstot, daughter of Jay and Judy Umstot, Oakland, has arrived in Malawi, Africa, to begin her work as a Peace Corps volunteer. She will be in the country to work as an HIV/AIDS educator.

Ms. Umstot received a bachelor's degree in biology from the University of Maryland at Baltimore County. While at UMBC, she worked as a peer health educator. She is a 1992 graduate of Southern High School.

Judy Umstot stated in an interview yesterday that Susan was to have arrived in Malawi on Monday, although she had not heard anything from her yet.

"They said it could be 10 days or more before we get a call," she said. Mrs. Umstot said Susan had called from her hotel in New York last week before boarding the plane to Africa.

"I asked her one last time if she wanted me to come get her, and she said no," Mrs. Umstot said.

Talking about joining the Peace Corps is one thing, but the reality of leaving your home and going to a foreign place can be a little overwhelming. We think she'll be fine, though."

The young woman will receive orientation training for a few weeks, during which she is to learn the language of Malawi - "Chichewa." She will then move into a family home to learn about the everyday existence of the poverty stricken people. Her education duties will begin in about six weeks.

The HIV/AIDS scourge is devastating the entire nation, with one in every three persons infected. Umstot will be attempting to teach the residents how the disease is spread and what preventive measures they can use to avoid infection.

"The Peace Corps doesn't sugarcoat anything," Judy Umstot said. "They tell the volunteers from the beginning that the task is huge and they will not be able to do everything they set out to do. I appreciate that. It helps them have a better picture of what they are getting into."

Susan does have the option of leaving at the end of the orientation program. If she chooses to stay, she will take an oath similar to the one pledged by those entering the military. She will then begin her two-year stay in Malawi.

LOCAL LIBRARIANS HAVING BUSY WEEK - National Library Week is underway and is being celebrated in Garrett County in a variety of ways. All library directors of the state are this week meeting at Will O' the Wisp for the yearly convention, which for the local system will culminate in the official opening of the renovated Accident branch on Saturday. A dedication ceremony is to take place at the Accident library beginning at about 11 a.m. The public is invited to attend, according to local director Emily Ferren, who advised that entertainment for children is planned. The commissioners have been invited to the event and were asked by Ferren this week to add their signatures to a special gift poster to be presented to the Accident staff at the ceremony. Ferren also presented the library system's budget request, which is actually less than last year's request. This is because the capital improvement project at Accident was in the fiscal year 1997 allotment and there are no major capital projects slated for this coming year. Ferren did note that extensive repairs have been made to the Bookmobile, which is a 1982 vehicle, and that next year's request will probably include a new vehicle proposal. The budget request, which the director described as "bare bones," is for a total of $369,582. The director said that most of the money will be spent on buying books, the cost of which is on the increase. She also requested funding for certain repairs, such as bullet holes that have been in the Oakland branch windows for several years. The commissioners noted their appreciation to Ferren and her staff for maintaining a successful library system in the county. She is pictured above with the commissioners, who are, left to right, Chairman Roger Giotfelty, Wayne Wilt, and John Braskey.

as well as proposed personnel practices has been completed by state officials and, according to the commissioners' release, "potential discrepancies within the department" are "being corrected" by the local department. State and local health officials are planning to meet with employees and collective bargaining groups in conjunction with any final management decisions. The commissioners are to review the draft proposal and expect to finalize plans within the next two weeks.

COMMISSIONERS PROCLAIM CRIME VICTIMS' RIGHTS WEEK - In an effort to promote greater public awareness of crime victims and the dilemmas they face, the nation is this week observing National Crime Victims' Rights Week. The week is being observed locally as well, as the Garrett County Commissioners proclaimed April 13-19 as Garrett County Crime Victims' Week. Victim organizations nationwide are "helping to ensure that the voice of the victim is not overshadowed or forgotten," said Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney and victims' rights advocate. The theme of the week's observance is "Let Victims' Rights Ring Across America." See story. Pictured left to right are Carolyn Hegeman, victim/witness assistance unit coordinator; Lisa Thayer Welch; and commissioners Roger Glotfelty, Wayne Wilt, and John Braskley.

National Crime Victims' Rights Week Observed

This week, April 13-19, is National Crime Victims' Rights Week, during which organizations that assist victims of crime have joined together to promote greater public awareness about crime victims. The Garrett County Commissioners signed a proclamation on Tuesday proclaiming this week also as Garrett County Crime Victims' Week.

Supporters of the rights of crime victims are wearing red, white, and blue ribbons this week supplied by State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch through her office's Victim Witness Assistance Unit.

"Victim organizations nationwide are helping to ensure that the voice of the victim is not overshadowed or forgotten," Welch said. "The theme of this year's week is Let Victims' Rights Ring Across America."

A constitutional amendment was introduced this year to guarantee victims the right to be "informed, present, and heard" in proceedings involving the defendant, according to Welch. She also reported that all states and the District of Columbia have enacted statutory provisions for crime victims, and that 47 states, including Maryland, have victims' bills of rights on the books.

Victims, advocates, and other supporters joined forces last year to support the passage of the Crime Victims' Rights Federal Constitutional Amendment, which gives crime victims basic constitutional protections, including the right to be involved in all aspects of court proceedings, the right to an order of restitution, the right to a final conclusion free from reasonable delay, and the right to reasonable protections from the offender.

"The nation's leading victim policy advocates are thrilled with the progress of the proposed federal amendment to protect the rights of victims," Welch said.

While crime victims today may be treated with more dignity, compassion, and respect, they still do not receive the same level of protection as violent criminals, Welch said. "Violent crime affects victims and their families physically, financially, and emotionally. While offenders receive -- at taxpayers' expense -- shelter, food, clothing, and medical attention, victims of crime are frequently left to fend for themselves regarding the costs of rebuilding their lives," she said. "Legal fees, medical expenses, and time lost from work frequently come out of the victims' pockets."

"Crime victims should be treated with sensitivity and compassion," she continued.

"We need to make services available to assist victims throughout the recovery process and during the criminal court case. Be a responsible citizen and productive member of society -- support a victim organization or the domestic violence shelter. Don't wait until you or a loved one have become a victim of crime."

FIREFIGHTERS ARE REPUTED TO BE GREAT COOKS, and the Eastern Garrett Volunteer Fire Department lives up to the bill each and every month. A few sights from April's all-you-can-eat spaghetti dinner at the Finzel fire hall last Saturday include everything but the delicious aroma of slow-cooked spaghetti sauce. Above left are some of the members of the morning cooking crew, L-R, Dale Opel, Vince Dishong, head chef Greg Dishong, Anna Dishong, assistant head chef Pat Cooper, and Randy Budock. They are among the volunteers who start cooking at 5 a.m., and over the past 18 years the Eastern Garrett VFD has cooked the equivalent of 50 large round hay bales of pasta. Above center, hungry patron Melissa Moore has a glint in her eye as, L-R, Jessica Nixon, Becky Bowser, Melanie Beltzel, and Shane Jones man the salad bar. These servers are part of the large corps of community service student volunteers who participate in Eastern Garrett VFD activities, and many past student volunteers have gone on to join the department as firefighters. Above right, unofficial head chef Greg Dishong and assistant cook Mark McKenzie stir the famous Finzel spaghetti sauce, made from a secret recipe Dishong and his father created. Dishong has cooked at each and every monthly dinner for the past 18 years, including the March dinner two years ago when he showed up to cook five days after undergoing triple bypass heart surgery. The three large steel kettles used to cook the sauce were just installed this past February; prior to that the cooking crew had to begin cooking the sauce on the stovetop at midnight on Friday and cook straight through the night and all the following day. Lower left, two patrons purchase tickets to the all-you-can-eat event from mistress of tickets Joan Raley. Seated at her right is her son, Eastern VFD Chief Jim Raley, taking a short but well-earned break from kitchen duty during the meal. The Raleys are just one of many multi-generational families that make up a large portion of the Eastern VFD firefighter corps and dinner crews. Lower right is the Eastern VFD emblem designed by department members, the motto "Our Reward Is To Serve" strangely appropriate both for the firefighting services they provide to their community and the dinners they prepare and host that bring people from far and wide for good food and good times. At bottom is just a small portion of the crowd that packs the Eastern VFD hall every month, drawn by word-of-mouth, newspaper advertisements, and radio spots running on stations as far away as Hagerstown, Md., and Johnstown, Pa. Over 1,300 people are served at each dinner, and the long line for food is always filled with good-natured banter. Some diners can recall standing outside in the snow waiting to get in, but by all reports "it's worth it!"

Southern Girls Drop Games To Beall And BW

The varsity girls' softball team at Southern High School was whipped Tuesday afternoon at home by Beall, 21-8, as the Rams watched their season mark dip to 4-5. The Southern junior varsity team was defeated Monday by the Bishop Walsh varsity, 17-3, in Cumberland and also lost Tuesday to the visiting Beall jayvees, 16-6.

The Rams varsity rebounded yesterday to record a win over county rival Northern (see separate story).

The varsity Rams defense aided the Beall Mountaineers by committing seven errors, while the Southern offense managed just three hits off Beall's Amy Wiland.

The Mountaineers, who scored a dozen runs in the second inning, were led offensively by Krissy Jackson, who homered, Heather Raley and Beth Ballases, who each doubled and singled, and Erin Tumino, who singled twice in a 10-hit effort.

In the Southern junior varsity loss to Bishop Walsh on Monday, the Spartans finished with 12 hits, including a solo home run, a triple, and a single by Tiffany Wagner, which accounted for three RBI. Eliza Rollins added a two-run homer, Erin McCormick doubled and singled, and Missy Geatz and winning pitcher Katie Adams each singled twice.

The Rams were held to just three singles by Adams, who won the game after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

GETTING A HIT for the Southern High School girls' softball team in a game against Beall on Tuesday was Southern's Missy Simmons, pictured above, while Ram pitcher Laura Friend eyes her opponent and prepares to deliver. The Rams lost the game, but rebounded yesterday to record an 18-10 victory over Northern.

Both Southern teams are slated to play this afternoon at home against Westmar. The varsity will then entertain Fort Hill next Tuesday and host Flintstone next Thursday.

Southern Girls Defeat Huskies; Jayvees Tied

An impressive day at the plate by Southern High School's Erica Johnson led the Rams to an 18-10 victory over cross-county rival Northern yesterday in Oakland. Johnson finished the afternoon with a triple, a double, and two singles to lead Southern's 14-hit effort.

Meanwhile, Brandy Stoner recorded her third win in four starts on the mound, as she limited the Huskies to four hits, two of which were singles by Kristin Heslop.

The Rams took a 2-0 lead in the first inning before the Huskies scored three in the second and another in the third to assume a 4-2 advantage. The Rams scored three in the bottom of the third, eight in the fourth, and five more in the sixth to seal the win.

Erin Shaffer hit a triple and a single for the Rams and Ary Bosley finished with a double and a single.

The junior varsity game followed, but had to be called after seven innings because of darkness. The score was left tied at 11-11.

The Rams, now 5-5 overall and 3-4 in the WMIL, are scheduled to host Westmar today and entertain Fort Hill next Tuesday. The Huskies (4-7, 1-3) are slated to host Allegany today, meet Salisbury at home Monday, and host Mt. Savage Tuesday.

Northern Girls Top Aggies, But Then Drop Pair

The Northern High varsity girls' softball team defeated visiting Flintstone last Thursday by an 18-8 margin, but then the Huskies watched their overall record dip to 4-6 by losing to host Beall on Friday, 15-9, and then falling to Westmar on Tuesday, 17-12, in Accident.

The Aggies of Flintstone had an embarrassing day in the field, as they recorded 15 errors to help the Huskies win the game. Northern also had 10 hits, with Erin Butner leading that effort with a double and a single for one RBI. Kista Knox and Brooke Brennenman also finished with two hits apiece.

Heather Nugent and Arissa Kenner allowed a total of 15 runs to the visitors. Flintstone 101 42-8 5 15 tal of only five Aggie hits, with Mandi Gallion and Jennifer Wharton recording two each.

The loss dropped Flintstone to 1-5.

Krissy Jackson was a one-woman wrecking crew for Beall against the Huskies in Friday's game, as she blasted a grand slam, a triple, and a single to lead the Mountaineers' 15-hit effort.

Meanwhile, on the mound, Beall's Amy Wiland went the distance, allowed five hits, only two earned runs, and struck out five.

Amber Ballases also had a good day at the plate for the Mountaineers (1-5) as she drove in three runs with a triple and three singles. Erin Tumino recorded a triple and two singles and Beth Ballases chipped in with a solo homer.

Kristin Heslop tripled and singled for the Huskies and Erin Butner had two singles.

The Huskies were ahead of the Westmar Wildcats, 10-8, going into the sixth inning of Tuesday's game, but the visitors scored six times in that frame and added three more in the seventh to secure their win.

Jill McGowan led the Wildcats offensively with three singles, while teammates Erica Kelly and M. Morene each recorded two singles.

Andrea Gatians was the winner on the mound for Westmar (3-6), as she allowed seven hits in going the distance. Heslop and Mimi Harvey each had two singles for Northern.

The loss left the Huskies with a 1-2 mark in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League.

Northern also dropped an 18-10 contest yesterday to Southern in Oakland (see separate story). The Huskies are scheduled to host Allegany today; however, weather conditions will most likely postpone that game.

Pen-Mar Will Meet Sunday

The Pen-Mar Baseball League will hold a meeting this Sunday, April 20, at 2 p.m. at the Cumberland American Legion. The purpose of the meeting will be to finalize the teams that will be participating in the league for the 1997 season.

Among teams returning from last season are Romney, the 1996 playoff champion of the league, and the Oakland Oaks, the regular season champions from last year. The other returning teams are First Federal of Cumberland, Hyndman, Fairmont, and Bridgeport.

New teams in discussion with the league for playing this season are new entries from Morgantown, Cumberland, LaVale, Elkins, and Meyersdale. The league will finalize all new entries for the 1997 season, so representation at Sunday's meeting from all of the interested teams is critical. Also, the schedule will be set based on information discussed at this meeting. Any additional teams interested in playing in the league this

Ram Netters Up Record To 4-1 With 5-2 Win

The boys' tennis team of Southern High School upped its record to 4-1 Friday by defeating visiting Petersburg, 5-2.

Brandon Ferguson, Melvin Rexrode, and Justin Stephens all won their singles matches for the Rams, while Pat McBride and Alonso Indacochea were singles winners for the Vikings.

The Southern doubles teams of Ferguson and Rexrode, and Todd Tasker and Bo Johnson were also victorious.

The Rams were slated to host Bishop Walsh yesterday; however, no information about that contest was

Rams Halt Fort Hill In Five-Game Streak

Emerging as one of the area's top high school baseball teams, despite losing nearly every starter from last season, is the Southern High School squad, which opened its campaign with a pair of losses, but has since won five straight, in convincing fashion. This past week Coach Jim Bosley's Rams defeated host Allegany last Thursday, 11-1, whipped previously unbeaten Fort Hill Monday in Oakland 7-2, and then blanked a good Westminster team last night, 8-0, in Lonaconing.

Joel Uphold allowed only six hits in the WMIL win over the Allegany Campers last Thursday and aided his own cause with a double and a single in the Rams' 15-hit effort.

The Rams took a 1-0 lead in the second inning and then scored all the runs they would need (three) in the third. Chad Warnick doubled twice to pace the Southern offense. Aaron Newcomb matched Uphold's contribution with a double and a single. Jason Weaver had three singles. Mike Welsh provided a pair of singles, and Jordan Uphold added a triple.

The Camper defense assisted the Rams by committing five errors and allowing six unearned runs. Flaunting with two singles apiece for Alco were Steve Cline and Jimmy Staples. Allegany's only run of the day was scored on a single by Ron Carr in the bottom of the third inning. The loss dropped Allegany to 6-3 overall and 3-2 in the WMIL.

Uphold also went the distance and played an outstanding game for the Rams in their big win over previously unbeaten Fort Hill on Monday. The senior right-hander allowed six hits, gave up three walks, and struck out 11.

He was just as impressive on offense, as he hammered a two-run homer and singled for another RBI. His two-run shot came in the second inning and scored Derek Everd, who had reached on an infield error.

A solo homer by Fort Hill pitcher Darron Jones in the top of the second cut the Rams' lead in half and the Sentinels knotted the score at 2-2 in the top of the third.

The fifth when Jeremy Boyer hit a two-out single and then came home on a triple by Tommy Welsh. A line drive grab by Everd at his shortstop position ended the inning and prevented the Sentinels from taking the lead.

The Rams responded with five runs in the bottom of the fifth, as Boyd Bagwell led off with a single. After a pop-up out on a bunt attempt, Jordan Uphold singled to right and Everd followed with a single to bring Bagwell home and break the tie.

Weaver then reached on an infield error to load the bases and Uphold singled home another run to make it 4-2. Southern then added the final three runs on a passed ball and a pair of wild pitches.

Jones finished with 10 strike-outs and was relieved by Angelo Bascelli, who added three more strike-outs in the sixth. It was the first loss in 11 starts for the Sentinels, who are now 7-1 in the WMIL.

Chad Warnick led the Rams to their 8-0 WMIL win yesterday at Westminster, as he allowed only three hits in going the distance and recording a shutout. He fanned nine batters and received errorless play from his defense.

After two scoreless innings, the Rams took a 3-0 advantage in the top of the third, as Mike Bittinger led off with a single, Derek Everd singled, and Jason Weaver drew a walk to load the bases. After a pop-up out, Mike Welsh smacked a double down the rightfield line to bring home three runs.

Southern added four more runs in the fourth frame behind a double by Everd and singles by Aaron Newcomb and Boyd Bagwell.

The Huskies were knocking on the door late in Thursday's game with Fort Hill (8-0, 6-0 WMIL), but pitcher Angelo Bascelli worked his way out of a pair of jams in the final two innings to hang on to his complete-game win. Bascelli allowed only three hits, struck out seven, and walked three.

Northern's Matt Fritz also stayed on the mound all seven innings for the Huskies and gave up just six hits, struck out 10, and walked four.

The Huskies took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning when Herman Arndt smacked a solo homer.

The Sentinels tied the score with a run in the third when Jeremy Boyer hit a double that brought home Mike Schell, who had singled and gone to third on a double error.

Fort Hill made it 3-1 in the top of the fifth when Boyer rapped a solo homer and Tommy Welsh scored on an unusual play. Welsh reached base on a walk following Boyer's homer. He advanced to second on an error in the Northern outfield and moved to third on a ground ball. A throw to third from the second baseman hit Welsh in the head and the ball bounced out of play, which allowed Welsh to come home.

The Huskies rallied for a run in the bottom of the same inning when Chris Herman reached on a fielder's choice, courtesy runner Joey Wilhelm advanced to second on a wild pitch, and later scored on a single by Arndt.

Northern kept the pressure on in the sixth inning when Zach Leverenz walked and moved to second on a sacrifice. An infield error put runners on second and third with just one out, but Bascelli struck out the next batter and forced the next hitter to hit back to him for the third out.

Scott Sisler earned a tough win on the mound for the Huskies Monday after-

Competition will begin Saturday morning with mountain biking at New Germany State Park. That afternoon teams will compete in river rafting on the north fork of the Potomac River. The final event will be on the climbing wall in the GCC gym Sunday morning. Following the competition an awards banquet will be held at the college.

Teams from other colleges will camp at New Germany State Park for the weekend.

Local sponsors of the Triathlon are: The Trading Post, The Winds-Fox's Pizza Den, Bill's Marine, Tips Up, Arnold Brothers Equipment Corp., Slope Side City, Vi-tech Corp., and Bjorn to Screen. Sponsors' name will be printed on the T-shirts given to competitors.

Teams from Ohio University, Frostburg State University, Garrett Community College, and probably from several other colleges are expected to compete in the Triathlon.

TRIATHLON PLANNING UNDERWAY - The second annual Adventuresports Institute Triathlon, which will feature the sports of mountain biking, river rafting, and wall climbing, has been scheduled for April 26-27. Newcomb and Jordan Uphold. A pair of errors by the Wildcat defense also contributed to the scoring.

Everd finished with a double and two singles to pace the Rams' seven-hit game. Ross Metz and T.J. Morgan each singled for the Wildcats, who fell to 8-3 overall and 3-2 in the WMIL.

The Rams (5-2, 3-1) are scheduled to play at Northern this Friday, host Keyser Monday, and entertain Allegany next Wednesday.

Huskies Edged By Sentinels, Then Defeat Mountaineers

Despite splitting two games this past week, the Northern High School varsity baseball team had a pair of impressive outings, as the Huskies nearly defeated visiting Fort Hill last Thursday and then stopped Beall on Monday, 3-1, also at the Cove. The Huskies were edged by the unbeaten Sentinels, 3-2.

The split left the Huskies with a 5-6 overall mark and a 2-4 record in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League standings.

The Huskies were knocking on the door late in Thursday's game with Fort Hill (8-0, 6-0 WMIL), but pitcher Angelo Bascelli worked his way out of a pair of jams in the final two innings to hang on to his complete-game win. Bascelli allowed only three hits, struck out seven, and walked three.

Northern's Matt Fritz also stayed on the mound all seven innings for the Huskies and gave up just six hits, struck out 10, and walked four.

The Huskies took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning when Herman Arndt smacked a solo homer.

The Sentinels tied the score with a run in the third when Jeremy Boyer hit a double that brought home Mike Schell, who had singled and gone to third on a double error.

Fort Hill made it 3-1 in the top of the fifth when Boyer rapped a solo homer and Tommy Welsh scored on an unusual play. Welsh reached base on a walk following Boyer's homer. He advanced to second on an error in the Northern outfield and moved to third on a ground ball. A throw to third from the second baseman hit Welsh in the head and the ball bounced out of play, which allowed Welsh to come home.

The Huskies rallied for a run in the bottom of the same inning when Chris Herman reached on a fielder's choice, courtesy runner Joey Wilhelm advanced to second on a wild pitch, and later scored on a single by Arndt.

Northern kept the pressure on in the sixth inning when Zach Leverenz walked and moved to second on a sacrifice. An infield error put runners on second and third with just one out, but Bascelli struck out the next batter and forced the next hitter to hit back to him for the third out.

The Huskies threatened again in the seventh when, after a strike-out, Arndt reached second base on a two-out error. But Bascelli ended the game when Fritz grounded out.

Scott Sisler earned a tough win on the mound for the Huskies Monday after-

Happy Retirement to Gertie Rexroad

The staff and employees of Cuppett Weeks Nursing Home and Cuppett Management Group would like to express appreciation to Gertie upon her retirement after thirty-six years of employment with our organization. Our friend and co-worker will be greatly missed.

Gertie began her employment at the Oak Rest Nursing Home under the guidance of Robert Weeks in May of 1960. After a company merger with Cuppett Weeks in 1969 she transferred to the present location on Seventh Street in Oakland and was a dedicated employee until her retirement.

She was born in Deer Park, Maryland and is the mother of six children and has thirteen grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. She is an active member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. Gertie plans to spend her retirement hours catching up on her reading and keeping busy with her family.

The entire staff of Cuppett Weeks Nursing Home extend their best wishes to Gertie and wish her many happy years of retirement. The love and care Gertie gave to all the residents will not be forgotten by the families who depended on this dedication.

Best of Luck, Gertie!

You will be missed by all who have had the pleasure to work with you and the many residents who were under your watchful care. Thank you.

Rams First, Second In Preston Meet; Win Four-Team Event

The boys' and girls' track and field teams of Southern High School competed twice this past week, as the Rams participated in a three-team meet at Preston County High School last Thursday and then hosted a four-team meet Tuesday.

The Southern boys edged Preston County by amassing 63.5 team points, while Preston finished in second with 60.5 and University High of Morgantown placed third with 42 points.

The Preston girls were victorious with 72 points, Southern finished in second with 58, and University was third with 29.

In Tuesday's home meet, the Rams won first in both the boys' and girls' competition, with the Southern boys finishing with 86 team points. Allegany was a close second with 82 points, University was third with 50, and Northern was fourth with 38.

The Southern girls won easily with 100 points, Allegany placed second with 75, University was third with 43.5, and the Northern Huskies finished fourth with 36.5 points.

Jared Beckman was a double winner for the Southern boys with first places in the high jump (5'8") and the long jump (18'3.5"), while Eric Rexrode won the 800 run in 2:16.6 and Beau Gibson won the 300 hurdles with a time of 49.2 seconds.

Rexrode was also on the winning 1,600 relay team with Nathan Rickman, Ted Wolf, and Brian Park and on the winning 3,200 relay team with Rickman, Park, and Casey McElce.

Second places were recorded by Rexrode in the 1,600 run, McBee in the 3,200 run, Mark Ludwig in the 300 hurdles, Rickman in the 400 dash, Chad Lovett in the 200 dash, and Corey Friend and John Franca (tie) in the high jump.

Toni Sullivan had two individual first places for the Southern girls, as she won the 100 high hurdles in 17.6 and the long jump with a leap of 14'2.75". Amy Snyder won the 400 run (1:05.3), Kerri Cannon won the shot put (30'1.75"), Erin Hoalcraft won the 3,200 run (13:37), and Christy Hoalcraft won the 300 hurdles (55.8).

Southern's shuttle hurdle and 1,600 relay teams were also victorious.

Second places for Southern were won by Christy Hoalcraft in the 100 hurdles, Alison Rudy in the high jump, Lauren Newcomb in the 1,600 run, and the 3,200 relay team.

Beckman again paced the Southern boys in Tuesday's four-team meet as he placed first in the long jump, high jump, and triple jump, while Rickman won the 400 dash, Adam Chorpennin won the 300 hurdles, and the Rams' 1,600 relay team of Rickman, Ted Wolf, Eric Rexrode, and Brian Park put Southern ahead of Allegany in the last event by winning first place with a time of 3:48.84, about four seconds ahead of Allegany.

Second places were won by Matt Sincell in the 110 high hurdles, Rexrode in the 1,600 run, and Corey Friend and John Franca tying in high jump.

Top finishers for the Northern Huskies were Jeremy McKenzie, who won the 110 high hurdles and placed second in the 300 hurdles, Nate Kauffman, who was second in the 200 dash, and Randolph Baumgartel, who placed second in the triple jump.

The Southern girls were paced by double winners Christy Hoalcraft and Lauren Newcomb, as Hoalcraft won the 300 hurdles and 100 high hurdles and Newcomb won the 1,600 run and triple jump. Both were also members of the winning 1,600 relay team with Amy Snyder and Kaitlyn McBee.

Toni Sullivan won the long jump for the Rams and Angie Sincell placed first in the 3,200 run.

Second places were captured by Southern's Annie Neville in the high jump, Liz Paesani in the long jump, Snyder in the 400 dash, Erin Hoalcraft in the 3,200 run, Kerri Cannon in the shot put, Sullivan in the triple jump, and McBee in the 800 run.

Pacing the Northern girls was Margaurite Murray, who won the 100-meter dash in 13.55 seconds. Winning second places was April Enlow in the 100 hurdles and the 300 hurdles.

Northern's Rachel Leverenz was well ahead of the rest of the field in the 3,200 (two-mile) run, but had to drop out of the race after about five (of eight) laps because of illness.

The Huskies also competed in a four-team meet last Thursday against Clear Spring, Musselman, and Hancock (see separate story).

Northern is scheduled to host Beall and Frankfort on Friday. The Rams and Huskies will face each other again in the Garrett County Championships at Northern next Tuesday.

Lakers Win Three More; Streak Now At Eight

After an up and down start on the baseball diamond, the Garrett Community College Lakers have come on strong in the past 10 days and have recorded eight straight victories to up their record to 14-6. The latest victims of the Lakers and Coach Ed Wildesen include Butler Community College, which GCC defeated on Friday by a 13-2 margin at McHenry; visiting Charles CC on Sunday, whom the Lakers blanked by a 12-0 score; and host Montgomery-Rockville, which GCC topped on Tuesday afternoon, 10-5.

Dennis Rulli led a 15-hit performance by the Lakers against Butler, as he smacked two home runs and a double. J.D. Hawkins and Ben Jones also had homers, and Jones added two singles.

Rulli also pitched the sixth inning after relieving starter Matt Bell, who recorded the win. Bell struck out 11 batters, Rulli struck out three in the sixth inning alone, and Rocky Harless tossed the seventh inning, when he struck out two to give the Laker pitchers a total of 16 strike-outs.

Rulli repeated his batting effort on Sunday against Charles, as he again rapped two round-trippers and a double to bring home seven of the Lakers' 12 runs. His homers included a two-run blast in the first inning and a three-run shot in the fifth.

Eric Harper had a three-run home run in the third inning, while Ryan Flanagan added a double for the Lakers.

J.D. Hawkins earned the win on the mound, going the distance, striking out eight, walking one, and allowing seven hits. Walt Ward had two hits for Charles.

The match-up was supposed to be a doubleheader, but cold weather conditions rendered a decision to make it one nine-inning game. The 10-run rule shortened the contest to seven innings.

A three-run homer by Brian Hays in the first inning gave the Lakers the lead for good over Montgomery-Rockville on Tuesday, as they took a 5-0 advantage in that frame. The home team narrowed the gap to 8-5 with two runs in the sixth, but Garrett added insurance runs in the seventh and ninth to record their eighth straight victory.

Bell pitched five innings before Hawkins took the mound in the sixth. Bell fanned five batters to earn the win, as he and Hawkins allowed a total of seven hits.

Hays also finished with a pair of singles, while Brian Tingen doubled and singled, and Rulli and Jeremy Fitzwater each recorded two singles in GCC's 13-hit performance.

The Lakers will attempt to keep their streak going this Friday afternoon when they travel to Hagerstown Junior College for a 2:30 doubleheader. They will then play a twinbill at Harford CC Saturday and travel to Keyser, W.Va., next Wednesday for a single game with Potomac State College.

Southern JVs Stop Tornado, Sweep Huskies

The junior varsity baseball team of Southern High School kept its record perfect this week and upped it to 7-0 by recording a 5-1 win over visiting Keyser on Friday and then sweeping a doubleheader from county rival Northern Tuesday, 9-3 and 5-4, also in Oakland.

Josh Bosley earned the win on the mound against Keyser, as he scattered five hits in six innings, while Chris Ewing had a pair of singles and scored twice to pace the Rams offense. Jason Hinebaugh also scored a pair of runs for Southern, while Boyd Robinson accounted for Keyser's only run of the afternoon with his solo homer.

In Tuesday's first game against the Huskies, Hinebaugh finished with a pair of singles, two RBI, and again scored twice to lead the Rams at the plate. Mike Shahan added a two-run double.

Picking up the win on the mound was Christian Warfield, who went the distance and allowed only three hits, two of which were singles by Matt Settle.

The second game was tied at 1-1 until the bottom of the fifth when the Rams put four runs on the board. Keith Parks finished with two singles, two RBI, and scored twice to lead the Southern jayvees.

Bosley went the distance to earn the win, as he allowed four hits and struck out six. Tim Umbel had a double for the Huskies.

The Rams and Huskies will meet again this Saturday at Northern.

LOCAL SKATERS WIN PLAYOFFS - Yes, Garrett County does have a hockey team, and it's a team that was talented enough to win the recent Somerset Adult Hockey League Division B playoffs. Yoder's Prime Veal topped Daughton's Devils in a 3-2 shoot-out to win the title. Yoder's whipped the Pepsi Caps, 6-0, and PT Group, 6-1, to earn a spot in the league finals. Pictured from left above, kneeling, are: Mark Tucci and Dean Daniels, both of McHenry; Mike Brehm, Meyersdale; Anthony Beachy, Salisbury; and Larry Yoder, also of Meyersdale. Standing, same order, are: Lyndon Yoder, Grantsville; Bob Miller, Meyersdale; Brad Yoder and Craig Cumberworth, Grantsville; Kevin Yoder, Springs; and Brian Yoder, Grantsville. Not present for the photo were team members Melvin Cable and Bob Sprangler, both of the Somerset area, and Jerry Opel and Ryan Yoder, Grantsville.

Northern Girls Win Meet While Boys Finish Third

The Northern High School track and field teams competed in a four-team meet last Thursday and came home with a first and a third place finish, as the Northern girls defeated Clear Spring, Musselman, and Hancock, while the Husky boys finished third among the same four teams.

The Northern girls amassed 98 team points and were followed by Clear Spring with 66, Musselman with 35, and Hancock with 28. The Northern boys finished with 61 points, while Clear Spring won with 96, Musselman was second with 78, and Hancock placed fourth with 31.

Finishing with first places for the Northern girls were April Enlow, who won the 100 hurdles, Margaurie Murray, who won the 100 dash, Jill Speicher in the 400 run, Rachel Leverenz in the 3,200 run, Jane Williamson in the high jump, and Laurel Wolf in the long jump.

The Northern 1,600 and 3,200 relay teams were also victorious.

Capturing first places for the Northern boys were Nate Kauffman in the 200 dash, Eric Neubert in the 3,200 run, Jeremy McKenzie in the 300 hurdles, and Randolph Baumgartel in the triple jump.

The Huskies also competed in a four-team meet at Southern High School on Tuesday (see separate story). They are scheduled to host Beall and Frankfort this Friday and entertain Southern next Tuesday in the Garrett County Championships.

Area Native New Coach At Florida School

A Friendsville native has been named head volleyball coach at a Florida high school.

Shayne Couch, a member of the 1985 Northern High School Maryland state champion volleyball team, has been teaching physical education at Bear Lakes High, West Palm Beach, Fla., for the past three years.

A 1987 Northern graduate, Couch studied at Garrett Community College, and went on to graduate magna cum laude from Fairmont State College with degrees in Physical Education, Special Education, and Health. She is currently working on a master's degree in Sports Fitness Management through the United States Sports Academy.

Couch is the daughter of Sherry Friend and Floyd Clayton Couch, and the granddaughter of Bernadine and Bud Friend, and Eldora and the late Floyd Couch.

Northern Boys Lose Two, Girls Defeat Allegany

The boys' tennis team of Northern High School dropped a pair of matches this past week, while the Northern girls won one. The Huskies were edged by visiting Preston County in Accident, 4-3, and then fell to Allegany on Monday, 6-1, also at the Cove. The Northern girls defeated the Campers, 5-2.

Steve Hinebaugh and Joe Weimer both won their singles matches for the Huskies against Preston, and accounted for their team's third point by teaming up and winning a doubles match.

Preston's singles winners were Brian Livengood and Aaron Judy, who also won in doubles.

The only point for the Northern boys in Monday's match with Allegany was recorded by the doubles team of Weimer and David Butler. Winning in singles for the undefeated Campers (5-0) were John Failing, Brett Siefers, Jeremy Ewing, Chinmay Hegde, and Drew Lavine. The team of Mark Cutter and Kevin Drew won in doubles.

In the girls' match, Northern's Jamie Jo Vent, Anika Weth, and Lori Arnold all won in singles, and then picked up doubles win by the team of Danielle Polk and Abby Bruch. They were awarded their fifth team point because of a forfeit in doubles by Allegany.

Ann Duffus and Natalie Hodges were singles winners for the Campers, who were handed their first loss in five starts.

The Huskies were scheduled to play Southern today; however, weather conditions will most likely postpone that match.

Ask the Right Questions:

Hospital stays are becoming shorter and patients are being discharged faster. But some patients, especially the elderly, are not well enough to go home. They require continued care or therapy. Placement after a hospital stay becomes a very critical concern for families trying to do the right thing. They must pick the right place to get the right care!

Unfortunately, many families don't know what to look for and don't ask the right questions. They mistakenly believe that an Assisted-Living or Residential Care Facility can provide the necessary skilled nursing services. The fact is they can't. They don't have the experience, expertise or staff. They are not licensed by the state to provide that level of care. So if you have a loved one that will be discharged from a hospital, ask the right questions. One - Is the facility Medicare certified? If it is, then it can provide the skilled nursing care your loved one requires. Two - What does the license say? If the facility is licensed only to provide supportive care, it is not the right place!

Pick the Right Place:

Cuppitt Management Company owns and operates two outstanding Medicare certified nursing homes in Oakland. Both facilities are able to provide skilled nursing care on a daily basis. Both facilities offer extensive rehabilitation programs. At either location your loved one will receive not only high quality medical and nursing care but superior service as well.

Resident and family satisfaction have always been important to us. Friendly, attentive service is not an "extra-job," it's simply what we do. Family involvement is welcomed and encouraged at our regularly scheduled care planning conferences.

So if someone you love requires skilled nursing care, make sure you pick the right place. That would be either Cuppett and Weeks skilled Nursing and Rehabilitation Center or Dennett Road Manor in Oakland. They have the experience and expertise to give the right kind of care!

MSA Schedules Registration For Soccer Season

The Mountaintop Soccer Association (MSA) will conduct registration for the 1997 fall soccer season. All youths between the ages of 4 and 14 are invited to register at Dennett Road Elementary School or Northern High School on Saturday, May 3, between 9 and 11 a.m. Sign-up sheets will be made available for anyone interested in coaching or assisting MSA during the 1997 season.

Youths may also register for the Major League Soccer (MLS) Camp, which will be held the week of July 28. This MLS camp has been very successful over the years, which has provided additional skills training for all youths.

Registration forms for the fall season and the MLS camps will be made available at all Garrett County schools and the Ruth Enlow Library. The deadline for mail-in registration is May 31. Anyone with questions may contact Ron Petrella, MSA president, at 301-334-1174.

Cross-Country Cycle Racing To Be Held Locally

Mountain Top Racing, an organization based in Masontown, W.Va., that coordinates cross-country motorcycle and four-wheeler racing, has added a Garrett County course to its 1997 series. Racing will be held on the Snowy Creek course at Sand Flat on April 27, June 22, and August 24, according to Paul Koontz, a spokesman for Mountain Top Racing.

"We have always held our races in West Virginia, but we are excited about adding a Garrett County course to our 15-race series," Koontz said. "The level of interest in Garrett County has been unbelievable."

Racing is held in seven different divisions for motorbikes and seven for four-wheelers. Competitors of all ages (14 and up) are invited to register the day of the races. Points are earned throughout the season and cash prizes and trophies are awarded to the top finishers at the end of the season. The August 24 race at Snowy Creek will be the final race of the 1997 season.

Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. on race day. Competition begins at 11 a.m. for four-wheelers and 2 p.m. for bikes. Koontz said that an average of 100 racers participate in each race, "but I won't be surprised if there are twice that many at the Garrett County events."

Among the area sponsors of the racing are Snowy Creek Power Equipment, Oakland, and Alpine Lake Resort, Terra Alta, W.Va.

Spring Wild Turkey Season Begins Friday

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin reminds hunters that Maryland's 1997 spring gobble turkey hunting season begins this Friday, April 18, and concludes on Friday, May 16.

The outlook for the spring turkey season is excellent across the state, Griffin said, adding that populations are close to all-time highs throughout Maryland. Harvests are expected to be down somewhat in Western Maryland because of poor reproduction in 1996, but harvests should be as good as 1996 for the rest of the state. It is anticipated that 1996's record harvest of 2,541 turkeys will at least be equaled in 1997. Excellent weather during the hunting season could well lead to another record kill, Griffin added.

Hunters are reminded to follow basic turkey hunting safety procedures while pursuing this all-American bird. The Maryland Natural Resources Police and the National Wild Turkey Federation ask hunters to:

- Positively identify your target. Be absolutely certain that what you are shooting at is a legal turkey, and that you have seen the beard on the turkey before shooting.

- Make your position known to other hunters by speaking loudly to them. Do not wave a handkerchief or your hand at them. Let them know of your presence.

- Never shoot at a noise that you think is a turkey. It may be another hunter calling a turkey.

- Eliminate red, white, and blue from your clothing. These colors are found naturally on wild turkey gobblers.

- Obey and support all wildlife laws and report any violations that you may encounter. You will always be able to hunt another day, so sacrifice hunting time to report any violations and help keep your sport honorable.

Wild turkeys are found in all counties of Maryland. Hunting opportunities can be found on private and public hunting lands. Hunters are reminded that written permission is required prior to hunting on private land. Hunters and landowners with questions should consult DNR's publication "Hunting and Trapping in Maryland 1996-97" or contact the Western Region Outreach Office (Cumberland), 301-777-2136.

The Wildlife and Heritage Division's wild turkey management program is entirely funded by licenses purchased by hunters, Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration funds derived from taxes on hunting equipment, and private support.

AHEC Seeking Providers For Resource Manual

The Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC) wants to hear from any organization in Allegany and Garrett counties which provides services to older adults who would like to be included in the Geriatric Health Education Resource Manual currently being developed.

The geriatric resource manual is part of the Western Maryland AHEC's Geriatric Resources Project, which is approaching completion. Bev Green, the AHEC's AmeriCorps member coordinating the manual, said "A needs assessment survey was sent in the fall to 105 agencies in the two westernmost counties of Maryland to determine the focus areas for the manual. Of the 23 topics listed by respondents, the top three identified resource needs are medical and health services, geriatric illnesses and problems, and housing services." Other identified topics of interest are: home health care, medical equipment, nursing homes, and counseling services.

In June 1997, 25 manuals will be distributed to community accessible sites in Allegany and Garrett counties. The project is coordinated by the Western Maryland AHEC with support from the AmeriCorps program, A Star! in Western Maryland, coordinated by Frostburg State University, and the Geriatric and Gerontology Education and Research Program of the University of Maryland at Baltimore.

Organizations are requested to send information on their services by May 1, 1997 to: Bev Green, Community Health Resource Assistant; Western Maryland AHEC; 11 Columbia Street; Cumberland, MD 21502. For more information, persons may call 301-777-9150, ext. 120.

GCC To Offer "Advertising On A Shoestring"

Garrett Community College's Small Business Development Center will be offering a course in advertising strategies.

The class, taught by Mark Hucek, manager of the Wisp Hotel, will focus on making advertising dollars work effectively by communicating the benefit of a product or service. Methods of getting and keeping customers will also be examined.

The classes are scheduled on the McHenry Campus of GCC on April 21, 28, and May 5 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.

Space is limited. Anyone who wishes to register or get more information on the class may call Julie Yoder, Dawn Beitzel, or Alyce McDowell at 387-3080.

COVER STORY

at Country Music Awards

By Dan Ladd

©TVData Features Syndicate

Hey, country music fans, grab your hats and boots and tune in to Tinseltown. That's right, the 32nd Academy of Country Music Awards telecast airs from Hollywood's Universal Amphitheatre Wednesday, April 23, on NBC.

This year's show features hosts George Strait, Jeff Foxworthy and Crystal Bernard leading a pack of more than two dozen performers.

No stranger to awards shows, Strait has taken home the ACM's entertainer of the year and top male vocalist awards in the past. He is nominated in both categories again this year as well as three others.

Foxworthy is returning for his second consecutive hosting appearance. Last year, he was recognized by the ACM with a special achievement award.

Bernard's career recently has broadened to include country music with the release of her album The Girl Next Door — a far cry from her cello-playing phenomenon, who recently won several Grammy Awards, has been on fire since last summer's release of her debut album, Blue.

Rimes is nominated in five categories, including top female vocalist and top new female vocalist (it's rare to be nominated for both).

Rimes' recent album, Unchained Melody/The Early Years, was recorded when she was only 11 years old and already has topped the Billboard country charts. She also has been enjoying some success on the pop charts, making her yet another country music crossover.

While Rimes hopes to duplicate her Grammy success, viewers will be sure to find other treats at this year's show.

LeAnn Rimes

Highlights of the major awards are:

ENTERTAINER OF THE YEAR: This is a tough one to call, with Strait, Garth Brooks, Brooks & Dunn, Alan Jackson and Tim McGraw nominated. All are coming off big years, but look for Jackson, country music's poster cowboy, to take the prize.

VOCAL DUET: Brooks & Dunn have won for the past five years. Make it six.

TOP NEW MALE, FEMALE VOCALIST: These artists go around the Amphitheatre during the show singing short versions of their songs. Trace Adkins should win the male award over James Bonamy and Kevin Sharp. Rimes should win the female award, but has stiff competition from Mindy McCready and Deana Carter.

TOP FEMALE VOCALIST: Rimes could take this also, but Patty Loveless has been one of country music's greatest in recent years. Shania Twain, Trisha Yearwood and veteran Reba McEntire also are contenders.

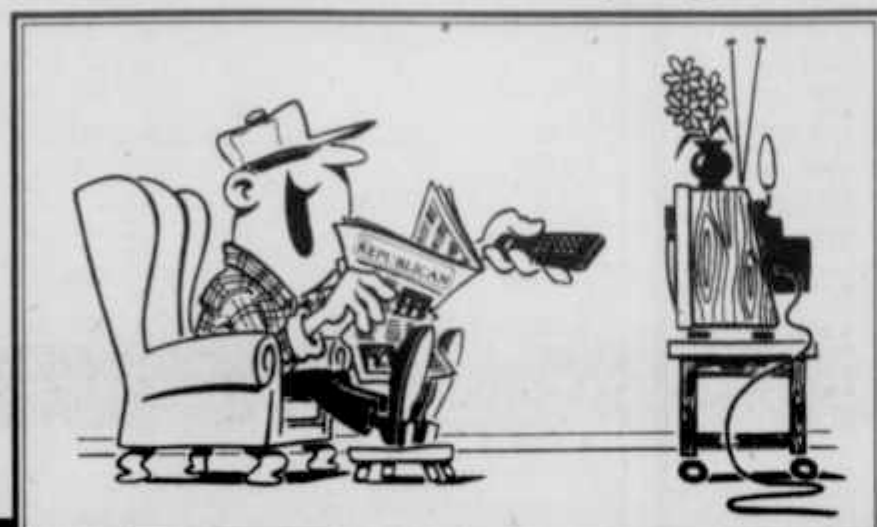

TOP MALE VOCALIST: The nominees are Vince Gill, Alan Jackson, Collin Raye, Strait and Bryan White. Jackson is the front-runner, however. White and Strait also were hot in '96.

In addition to the awards, expect performances by Clint Black, Gill and the Mavericks to make the Academy of Country Music Awards a solid evening of entertainment.

Soap Talk

Rogers switches star from Scorpio to Hunter

By Candace Havens
©TVData Features Syndicate

The popular Tristan Rogers is back on daytime, but not on General Hospital. The actor has joined the cast of The Bold and the Beautiful.

Many fans believed Rogers would return to his role as Robert Scorpio on GH, but he's playing Detective Hunter Jones on B&B.

Dear Candace: There was a soap awards show recently and I missed the whole thing. I was curious who won what.

My favorite show is Days of Our Lives, but I wouldn't be surprised if it didn't win anything this year. The show has gotten so bad lately... Just Cuti...

Dear Reader: The last awards show for soaps was the Soap Opera Awards Feb. 28 on NBC.

Here's a rundown of what you missed:

- Favorite show: GH
- Outstanding lead actor: Eric Braeden (Victor, The Young and the Restless)
- Outstanding lead actress: Genie Francis (Laura, GH)
- Outstanding supporting actor: Doug Davidson (Paul, Y&R)
- Outstanding supporting actress: Marcy Walker (Liza, All My Children)
- Hottest male star: Ingo Rademacher (Jax, GH)
- Hottest female star: Vanessa Marcil (Brenda, GH)
- Hottest romance: Austin Peck and Christie Clark (Austin and Carrie, Days)
- Outstanding villain: Joseph Mascolo (Stefano, Days)
- Outstanding villainess: [Name obscured]

Tristan Rogers

Michelle Stafford (Phyllis, Y&R)

Outstanding younger lead actor: Steve Burton (Jason, GH)

Outstanding younger lead actress: Heather Tom (ex-Victoria, Y&R)

Outstanding male newscaster: Tyler Baker (Nikolas, GH)

Outstanding male show stopper: Tom Eplin (Jake, Another World)

Outstanding female show stopper: Louise Sorel (Vivian, Days)

Editor's award: Aaron Spelling
